Wolverhampton & Black Country What’s On

inside:

the list
Your 16-page week by week listings guide

AMBER RUN
Nottingham four-piece play
The Slade Rooms

FUNNY THINGS
festival set to make Wolverhampton laugh

SPOOK-TASTIC!
Halloween nights at the Black Country Living Museum
Friday 6th & Saturday 7th October at 7.30pm

Thursday 19th October at 7.30pm

Saturday 28th October at 7.30pm

Drama

BURNING BOOKS BY JESS GREEN

Tickets: £12 / £10 Conc.

QUARTER LIFE CRISIS

Tickets: £12 / £10 Conc.

14/48 FOR LAUGHS

Tickets: £7 / £5 Conc.
Disney On Ice - grab your passport for one big adventure at Genting Arena - more on page 45

Carrie Hope Fletcher talks about being part of The Addams Family... feature page 8

Matt Lucas talks about life, from Little Britain to Little Me interview page 19

Awful Auntie David Walliams’ much-loved story arrives on stage page 30

the list Your 16-page week-by-week listings guide page 53

inside:

October 2017

Managing Director: Davina Evans davina@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281708
Sales & Marketing: Lei Woodhouse lei@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281703 Chris Horton chris@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281704
Yvonne Kentfield yvonne@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281706 Editorial: Lauren Foster lauren@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281707
Brian O’Faolain brian@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281701 Sue Jones sue@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281705
Abi Whitehouse abi@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281716 Ryan Humphreys ryan@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281722
Adrian Parker adrian.parker@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281714
Contributors: Graham Bostock, James Cameron-Wilson, Heather Kincaid, Katherine Ewing, Lauren Cox, Lauren Cole, Jack Rolfe, Elle Yates-Roberts
Publisher and CEO: Martin Monahan Accounts Administrator: Julia Perry julia@whatsonlive.co.uk 01743 281717

This publication is printed on paper from a sustainable source and is produced without the use of elemental chlorine. We endorse the recycling of our magazine and would encourage you to pass it on to others to read when you have finished with it.

All works appearing in this publication are copyright. It is to be assumed that the copyright for material rests with the magazine unless otherwise stated. No part of this publication may be reproduced, or stored in an electronic system, transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopied, recording or otherwise, without the prior knowledge and consent of the publishers.
Entertainment news from around the region

A taste of Munich as new beer festival takes a bow

Munich is coming to the Shropshire town of Shrewsbury this month. Well, sort of. Legendary Munich beer festival Oktoberfest is the inspiration behind a brand new event from Shropshire Festivals. Also using the Oktoberfest name, the event debuts in the town’s Quarry Park from Friday 6 to Sunday 8 October. As well as showcasing more than 150 ales with which to wet your whistle, the event also features process parlours, a gin den and mixology classes to shake things up. There’s music to enjoy too, ranging from oompah bands to the very best local talent, as well as a comedy zone to get you laughing. Lederhosen is optional...

Telly show to premiere at classic motor event

A UK premiere screening of the first episode in the 14th season of hit TV show Wheeler Dealers will take place at next month’s Lancaster Insurance Classic Motor Show at Birmingham’s NEC. Classic motoring enthusiasts are being given the chance to win two tickets to view the screening. If they book their show tickets before Thursday 26 October, they will automatically be entered into a prize draw. The Lancaster Insurance Classic Motor Show returns to Birmingham’s NEC from Friday 10 to Sunday 12 November. For more information, visit necclassicmotorshow.com

Wellbeing in the Midlands

The Wellbeing Festival is returning to Birmingham’s NEC next month (3 - 5 November), with the organisation behind the show, Mind Body Spirit, this year celebrating its 40th anniversary. The three-day event offers ‘spiritual seekers’ a safe place in which to commune and share their ideas, beliefs and philosophies. Attractions at this month’s show include a workshop programme presenting new ideas on relationships, awakening, inspired living, NLP, yoga, meditation, science & angels. New for this year is the Ceremony Space, an area in which visitors can focus on intimate ceremony-based experiences. For more information, visit mindbodyspirit.co.uk

Heartthrob Nigel back at the helm for Shrek tour

Former EastEnders heartthrob Nigel Harman will be taking the director’s chair for Shrek The Musical when it visits the Midlands on its nationwide tour. Nigel made his directorial debut on the first ever tour of the hit show, having previously originated the role of Lord Farquaad in the West End, a performance for which he won a coveted Olivier Award. Shrek The Musical stops off at the New Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham, from Wednesday 14 to Sunday 25 February. It then returns to the region three months later for a run at the Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent (Wednesday 2 to Sunday 13 May). Tickets can be purchased by calling 0844 871 7649 or visiting atgtickets.com

Work now underway on new Lichfield library

Work has begun to create a brand new library in Lichfield. The new facility, which is to be modelled on Stafford Library, will include 3D printing facilities, wifi, touchscreen tables and computer tablets. It will be located on the ground floor at the city’s St Mary’s Church.

4 whatsonlive.co.uk
Cathedral opener for Lichfield fest

The Lichfield Festival Of Folk is this month taking place for a fifth year. A friendly event which has developed a devoted following of discerning music fans, L2F, as it’s otherwise known, is kickstarted by a Lichfield Cathedral performance from Jon Boden of Bellowhead fame. As well as an impressive programme of music across the weekend, the event also features processions, dance, workshops and exhibitions. L2F takes place at various venues from Friday 13 to Sunday 15 October.

Strictly tour to kick off in the Midlands

Strictly Come Dancing’s 2018 live tour will kick off at Arena Birmingham on 19 January (until the 21st).
The stage version of the hit TV show will be hosted by reigning champion Ore Oduba (pictured), with Craig Revel Horwood (who directs for the eighth year) and Bruno Tonioli once again on the judging panel.
Commenting on the upcoming tour, Ore said: “Winning Strictly was the most unforgettable experience and a dream come true. This show and its fans will always hold a special place in my heart. I can’t wait to travel the UK again and meet the fantastic audiences that make Strictly the phenomenon we know and love.”

Joe Pasquale to star as Frank Spencer in Wolverhampton

Panto favourite and one-time I’m A Celebrity winner Joe Pasquale makes a welcome return to the region next spring, to star as the accident-prone Frank Spencer in a stage version of classic 1970s sitcom Some Mothers Do ’Ave ’Em. The show stops off at the Wolverhampton Grand Theatre from 15 to 19 May. The character of Frank Spencer was made famous by Michael Crawford in the popular TV series, which ran from 1973 to ’78. Sarah Earnshaw portrays Frank’s long-suffering wife, Betty, in the new show. For more info, visit grandtheatre.co.uk

Midlands writer set for Hollywood

A Midlands author’s latest novel is being tipped for big movie success.
Liam Brown’s Broadcast has been snapped up by a major Hollywood studio. It tells the story of YouTube sensation David Callow, a man who agrees to take part in a revolutionary new online show called MindCast.
“I can picture Tom Hiddleston as the lead,” says Liam, 34, who lives in Birmingham with wife Simone and their two children.

Big town plan to transform Shrewsbury

Shrewsbury Business Improvement District (BID), Shropshire Council and Shrewsbury Town Council have unveiled a plan that would see the majority of Shrewsbury town centre pedestrianised.
The Big Town Plan also features a redevelopment of the riverside, increased cycleways and more green areas.
A special pop-up space, located in the town centre at 80 Wyle Cop, provides the public with the chance to view large-scale artist impressions of how Shrewsbury could be transformed.
People can also visit shrewsburyybigtownplan.org to read the outline plan and suggest their own ideas to develop the project further.
All-star line-up for A Weekend Of Words in South Shropshire

A Weekend Of Words, Ludlow Assembly Rooms’ very own literature festival, makes a welcome return this month (Friday 20 - Sunday 22 October). The 2017 edition of the event features contributions from Shappi Khorsandi (pictured), Andy Hamilton, Peter Snow & Ann MacMillan and Tony Robinson. As well as featuring numerous ticketed events, the festival also offers plenty of free entertainment to enjoy. Highlights include the screening of films from Rural Media’s Random Acts project, and children’s storytelling sessions with Karen Argent. Tickets can be purchased via 01584 878141 or online at ludlowassemblyrooms.co.uk

‘Victims of terror’ memorial set for Arboretum

The National Memorial Arboretum in Staffordshire is to house a new memorial to British victims of terrorism overseas. The new work, entitled Still Water, will be created by artist Alison Wilding and sculptor Adam Kershaw. Commenting on the announcement, Sarah Montgomery, Managing Director of the National Memorial Arboretum, said: “This new memorial will play a valuable role in acknowledging the deaths of innocent British travellers at the hands of terrorists.”

Folk stars to play Shrewsbury’s sacred space

British folk ambassadors Show Of Hands are this month performing at St Mary’s Church in Shrewsbury. The award-winning duo, who blend sharp songwriting with unrivalled musicianship, will perform at the venue on Thursday 26 October. They’re joined for the gig by Miranda Sykes.

Wolverhampton aims to show it’s a fun place to be

Wolverhampton is this month hosting a comedy festival in response to reports from the Office of National Statistics which suggest that the city is one of the ‘unhappiest places in the UK’. The Funny Things Festival runs at various venues from 23 October to 5 November. Contributors to the 14-day laugh-in include Jimmy Carr, Milton Jones, John Bishop, Tom Stade and Henning Wehn. For more information about the event, visit funnythings.co.uk

Paines Plough’s pop-up plug-and-play theatre to stop off in Stoke-on-Trent

The world’s first ‘pop-up, plug-and-play theatre’ is coming to Stoke-on-Trent. The venue, which is called Roundabout, is visiting the city for a third time. It will host a season of new shows presented by nationally touring company Paines Plough, as well as comedy from Hardeep Singh Kohli. The flatpack theatre pops up outside the newly built No 1 Smithfield in Hanley from 19 to 22 October.

Helping to Revive an Ayckbourn classic...

Highly rated amateur ensemble Shropshire Drama Company (SDC) is next month staging a new version of classic Alan Ayckbourn comedy Bedroom Farce - with a little help from Shropshire recycling and resale organisation Revive. SDC will perform the play in the Walker Theatre at Shrewsbury’s Theatre Severn (Wednesday 8 to Saturday 11 November). The production makes use of three beds - all of which are being supplied by Revive. “The action requires three contrasting bedrooms in three separate houses to be simultaneously accommodated on the stage,” explains the show’s director, Jonathan Cross. “With the invaluable help and support of Revive, we hope to achieve a visually interesting set which will provide just the right background for SDC’s presentation of this hilarious play.” For more information, visit theatresevern.co.uk
Pink Sari Revolution is the world première of the true story of Sampat Pal and her fight for freedom in India. Based on the book by journalist Amana Fontanella-Khan, Curve Associate Director Suba Das is bringing Sampat’s story to the stage following an extensive period of research and development both in the UK and India.

Tell us about your production of Pink Sari Revolution.

Pink Sari Revolution is a drama about an incredible woman, Sampat Pal, who has created one of the world’s greatest feminist movements. She leads an army of 400,000 women in rural India who wear neon pink saris and say ‘enough is enough’.

The play is based on a documentary account of her ‘Gulabi Gang’ written by journalist Amana Fontanella-Khan. The story is about these women who have real strength and are standing up for their rights but also about the cost of saying no to the system.

The book focuses on the Gulabi Gang’s 2010 campaign to free falsely imprisoned teenager Sheelu Nishad after she was raped by a prominent local politician. How are you tackling the difficult issues brought up by this?

As a director, there’s something very interesting about the idea of how you present violence, and certainly sexual violence, on the stage. I don’t believe that theatre is there to be gratuitous; I think theatre is there to plant images and ideas. The greatest thing you can do when making theatre is encourage the audience to use their imagination. That’s where something affects you totally and touches you the most.

In terms of what we’re presenting, we are not shying away from the reality that the piece is motored by the very specific case that Sampat Pal became obsessed with. However, it’s not going to be a production in which an audience will see sexual violence enacted on stage. I’m not interested in confronting audiences with that or asking actors to delve into that in a rehearsal room – I don’t think we need to show the issue. It’s a very serious, real experience.

Why is this story so important to you?

Sampat Pal is an incredibly inspirational woman; an iconic woman who has created one of the world’s greatest and most vibrant feminist movements. She was married off at the age of 12, taught herself how to read, write and sew so that she could be economically independent. From those impoverished origins in one of the most lawless parts of India, she has achieved extraordinary things and even became one of The Guardian’s ‘100 most important women in the world’.

I read Fontanella-Khan’s book several years ago and when I heard about the Arts Council’s Reimagine India funding to encourage cultural work between British and Indian organisations, I immediately felt like there was an opportunity to take this story that I’ve been so excited about and find a way to make a show. We’ve also received support for this production from the British Council’s UK/IN 2017 programme and English Touring Theatre. This funding enabled us to go out and spend time with Sampat Pal both in her home and out on the campaign trail. I’m slightly in love with her! She’s a force of nature; the most charismatic, extraordinary, fire-cracker of a human being you could ever imagine.

It’s a real responsibility, when you meet somebody, you’re telling a story about a real human being. The complexity as a theatre maker is then digging into that and knowing that we will create a show that does raise questions about whether she has always done the right thing.

Pink Sari Revolution is more than just a show about terrible things that happen far away; we know that these things take place all around the world and that’s why this story is so important and urgent to tell.

With two years in development, what has the process been to create the production so far?

One of the starting points for this play was our research and development process in India way back in December 2015. It felt like the only way to conceive of making this show would be to travel to India. Living with Sampat Pal and meeting with extraordinary Indian artists gave us a real sense of what this story means to the people in India.

All we had were ideas; we didn’t know what the take up would be for the show. Artistically, reaching out to communities here in the UK felt so important because it is a daunting thing to be a young man wanting to tell this story about South Asian women. I met with book clubs and local Indian women community groups to discuss the story and what it means from their perspectives.

Part of our process is turning all the facts and all the information we have into a story about a world that probably feels very alien and remote to so many of us, and turning that into a really human, exciting, theatrical drama.

Who have you met so far and who are you bringing along on this production?

A really important element of developing the show has been working with the Indian playwright Purva Naresh, an extraordinary feminist political voice from India. It felt so important for this piece to be written by a woman who is living through these realities and who is so passionate and angry and with so much social work in her own day-to-day life. Her family are from the biggest city near to Sampat Pal, she grew up hearing about her and the ‘Gulabi Gang’.

We are also working with Tim Lutkin who is an Olivier award-winning lighting designer, Designer Isla Shaw, and Aakash Odedra (who recently won the Amnesty International Freedom of Expression award) as our Movement Director. It’s a world-class, international team telling a global story.

This is a very powerful story, what do you hope audiences in the UK will take from it?

Pink Sari Revolution is a very specific story about this place and this moment in time in India, but it’s also universal. The issues that sit at the heart of this are ‘what does it mean to be a woman?’, ‘what does it mean to be a protestor?’, ‘what does it mean to say “no”?’, and ‘what does it mean to say ‘this is enough?’’. Female rights, protests, resistance – they’re themes that obsess everyone right now. We are all living in the shadow of not quite knowing whether our society works for us – that’s not just in India, that’s right here too. It’s everywhere. What I hope is that this story of an amazing woman in India will unlock a wider conversation here in the UK. Sampat was leading thousands of women and men marching in pink a decade before the Women's Marches in Washington and across the world this year. Our hope is this tale of truth and resistance might in some way empower audiences in the UK and beyond.

Pink Sari Revolution runs at the Belgrade Theatre Coventry from Wednesday 11 to Saturday 21 October.
HALF-TERM RALLY ACTION!

KIDS GO FREE AT CHOLMONDELEY CASTLE FUN DAY
SATURDAY 28TH OCTOBER

WALIESRALLYGB.COM
Crazier than You

Carrie Hope Fletcher stars as Wednesday in The Addams Family UK tour

With her upbeat, playful and down-to-earth persona, and the warmth, wit and wisdom she imparts to her scores of young fans, multi-talented singer, actor, writer and internet sensation Carrie Hope Fletcher has been described as everyone’s favourite big sister. Lately, however, she’s been appearing as a big sister of a rather different ilk, starring as the borderline-psychotic Wednesday Addams in the UK tour of Andrew Lippa’s Addams Family musical.

Straight black pigtails and scathing, deadpan looks make quite a change from the bright, curly-haired Carrie that we’re used to seeing. But is this really the first time she’s been in touch with her dark side? With the show soon to arrive in Wolverhampton, we asked her whether she’d ever ‘gone goth’ before.

“‘I did!’ she laughs. “I had a real emo phase when I was about 14. I wore lots of Hellbunny clothing, black lace, skulls and crossbones and stripy purple and black hoodies with cat ears on the hood. I was really into My Chemical Romance. In fact, just today, when I was peeking out of the Addams Family letterbox before the beginning of Act Two, I spotted a girl on the front row wearing a My Chemical Romance hoodie. It made me really happy!”

With her angsty teenage years now behind her, Wednesday Addams is pretty far removed from parts that Carrie’s accustomed to today. Happily, the Carrie fanbase seems to have accepted Wednesday in all her wonderful weirdness.

“They’ve taken to her much more than I expected - everyone seems to really love her! I think it’s partly because she’s 18, and the majority of my online audience is between the ages of 18 and 24, so they can identify with her. She’s great because she’s such an advocate for being confident and being who you are no matter what anyone says. There’s a great line she sings in Crazier Than You which just sums her up so well: ‘I’m crazier than you, so get on board or simply move along.’”

The version of Wednesday Carrie plays in the production is a bit older than previous incarnations - a fully fledged 18-year-old starting to assert her independence. Of course, she’s never been one to stand for any mollycoddling or pay much heed to rules, but there are some lines that you simply don’t cross - and one of them is falling for a boy like Lucas Beineke. Thankfully, his relative ‘ordinariness’ doesn’t seem to have rubbed off on Wednesday too much, even if she does get overly worked up about how her ‘meet the parents’ dinner will play out.

“The thing about her is that instead of getting gooey and lovey-dovey, she gets crazy. You know when you see a kitten that’s so cute you want to hurt it? That’s Wednesday to a tee. She loves Lucas so much, she wants to kill him, almost!”

“But I also think that she’s attracted to the fact that she can look after him. Lucas loves the darker side of life, but he’s still quite a vulnerable, normal boy who is very out of his depth with her. I think she likes that she gets to stand in front of him wielding her crossbow, daring anyone to call him a dork. We always joke that she would never become Wednesday Beineke, it would always be Lucas becoming an Addams. Over time, I think he’ll definitely become more like them - I don’t think he has any choice!”

Indeed, the process seems already to be underway in the song Crazier Than You, a turning point both for Wednesday and Lucas and for Lucas’ overwhelmed parents, Mal and Alice. But while the characters battle it out to claim the title on stage, behind the scenes, says Carrie, it’s Cameron Blakely, who plays her father, Gomez, who’s the craziest. “He’s basically the same person on and off stage, just minus the Spanish accent!”

Carrie got her first taste of the show’s music much earlier than her co-stars, having originally been invited to sing one of the songs, Pulled, in an Andrew Lippa concert. So enamoured was she by the idea of the show that she begged to be first in line for auditions if it ever came to the UK.

“I knew it wouldn’t be exactly the same as the Broadway version because I’d heard that there’d been a few changes, so when I read it I was just so excited to find out what our story would be. I actually got the script about three or four weeks before we started rehearsals, and I was just itching to get to work straight away - it was everything I expected and more!”

Alongside her demanding role in the show, Carrie’s also found time to promote her latest novel, All That She Can See, which was published in July. Conveniently, she’s been able to sync up her stage tour with visits to bookshops near to the venues.

“It’s been going really well. I had just over 200 people turn up to my signing in Manchester - and that’s really nice because it’s a lot of people who came had either been to see The Addams Family or were coming to see it, so it’s lovely to be able to talk to them about that.”

As if that wasn’t enough, she’s already writing something new, though won’t reveal details yet...

“You’ll just have to wait and see!” she exclaims.

Carrie Hope Fletcher stars in The Addams Family at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre from Tuesday 17 to Saturday 21 October.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Event</th>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Website</th>
<th>Phone Number</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>DANCE LIKE YOU’VE NEVER DANCED BEFORE</td>
<td>MON 25 - SAT 30 SEP</td>
<td>Tap Factory</td>
<td>0844 871 7649</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FLASHDANCE</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JOIN ELSA AND FRIENDS FOR SING-A-LONG-A FROZEN</td>
<td>SUN 1 OCT</td>
<td>Frankly Sinatra</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SING-A-LONG-A FROZEN</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE ULTIMATE TRIBUTE</td>
<td>MON 2 OCT</td>
<td>The ELO Experience</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>THE ELO EXPERIENCE</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>FRIGHTS, FIGHTS AND FRIENDSHIP</td>
<td>WED 4 - SAT 7 OCT</td>
<td>Awful Auntie</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AWFUL AUNTIE</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TOUCHING NEW MUSICAL</td>
<td>TUE 10 - SAT 14 OCT</td>
<td>Son of a Preacher Man</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SON OF A PREACHER MAN</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>GEE MADHU LIVE IN CONCERT</td>
<td>SUN 1 OCT</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JOE LONGTHORNE</td>
<td>TUE 3 OCT</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>AN EVENING OF DIRTY DANCING</td>
<td>SAT 7 OCT</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>MILTON JONES</td>
<td>SAT 14 OCT</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>KING OF POP - THE LEGEND CONTINUES</td>
<td>MON 16 OCT</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>JOHN MAYALL IN CONCERT</td>
<td>THU 19 OCT</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>SUPERSLAM WRESTLING</td>
<td>FRI 20 OCT</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>ABBA MANIA</td>
<td>SAT 21 OCT</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

*Booking fees apply. Calls cost 7p per minute plus your phone company’s access charge.
Tom Kerridge headlines Lichfield dining experience

A new fine dining experience takes place in Staffordshire next month. The main focus of the event - which includes live music and a Champagne reception - is a six-course menu designed and delivered by half-a-dozen Michelin-starred chefs and their teams, including the two-Michelin-starred Tom Kerridge, Richard Turner of Turners at 60 and Luke Tipping of Simpsons in Birmingham.

The event is being hosted by Sauce Supper Club and takes place at Grand Pavilion - part of the refurbished Alrewas Hayes - on 20 November. Tickets cost £150 and are expected to sell out quickly. Sauce Supper Club founder Beth Tookey commented: “The evening we have planned at Alrewas Hayes is incredibly special. I don’t actually know of anything similar, where such an amazing offering has been brought together for a single occasion. We wanted to do something really big for our end-of-year event, so we’re really excited to be bringing together such a selection of talented chefs for this amazing gourmet experience.”

REVIEW: Fairlawns Restaurant 178
Walsall venue offers exemplary service, tasty food and relaxed atmosphere

Family-owned Walsall hotel The Fairlawns has been in operation for 30 years. It comprises a four-star hotel & spa, wedding and private party facilities, an adult health club & gymnasium, nine acres of landscaped grounds and a restaurant that comes complete with two AA Rosettes for fine catering and a five-star rating for food hygiene.

Restaurant 178’s aim is to create a relaxed, attentive and comfortable service - and that’s certainly what they delivered the night we visited.

Having been shown to our table, we ordered two pints of lager to enjoy whilst perusing a menu that was well stacked with typical British flavours. Shortly after we’d ordered our food, an amuse-bouche arrived. Comprising a mushroom velouté with coffee syrup and mascarpone arancini, this unexpected addition was delivered to our table with the compliments of the chef. The warm and creamy mushroom velouté was a little pot of heaven, presented in an espresso-sized cup and showcasing a strong, earthy flavour. The coffee syrup added a welcome sweetness and made for a perfect flavour combination. Whoever would’ve thought that mushroom and coffee would work so well together, but boy, they most certainly do! The mascarpone arancini was nicely cooked - crispy on the outside and soft and creamy on the inside.

The evening had certainly begun well!

For my starter, I chose the pork belly served with black pudding, a cherry sauce, an apple sauce and a pistachio crumb. Beautifully presented, the pork belly was tender, full of flavour and cooked to perfection. The pistachio crumb added a contrasting texture. The cherry and apple sauces provided the dish not only with extra flavour but also a welcome splash or two of colour.

My partner opted for the duck liver parfait served with duck ham and, again, cherry sauce and pistachio crumb. Served with some warm toast, the parfait tasted divine and the presentation was fantastic. The chefs here really know their stuff.

As tempting as the chateaubriand sharing board was, for my main course I chose the lamb rump and shoulder served with aubergine, yoghurt and broad beans. The rump, served medium rare, was simply stunning - cooked to perfection and seasoned nicely. The shoulder was tasty, the other elements serving as delicious accompaniments.

My partner chose the fillet of sea trout with elements of tartar, potato and mussel sauce and samphire. The flavour combinations were a match made in heaven. The salty samphire and mussels, allied with the soft and nicely cooked piece of fish, made for yet another highly enjoyable dish.

For the finale we shared the chocolate terrine and the coffee panna cotta. Served with an orange sauce and Aero-inspired cocoa nibs, the dish was rich, flavoursome and downright delicious! The panna cotta, served with pieces of coffee cake and a clotted cream ice cream, showcased a smooth, creamy texture and texture.

If you’re a lover of tastefully presented, contemporary food made with high-quality ingredients, then Restaurant 178 is well worth a visit. Its commitment to exemplary service, tasty food and the creation of a relaxed atmosphere certainly makes for the kind of evening you’ll be happy to experience time and again.

Lauren Foster

Food: ★★★★★★ Service: ★★★★★★
Ambience: ★★★★★★
Overall value: ★★★★★★
OVERALL: ★★★★★★

Fairlawns Restaurant 178
Fairlawns Hotel and Spa
178 Little Aston Road
Walsall WS9 0NU
Tel: 01922 455122

whatsonlive.co.uk
“One of the best
Sunday Lunches in Shropshire”

Sunday Lunch
1 COURSE £10

Sunday Lunch
2 COURSES £12.50

Sunday Lunch
3 COURSES £15

We’re located opposite the historic and beautiful Shrewsbury Abbey!

Peach Tree and Momo-No-Ki, Shrewsbury: restaurant review | Jay Rayner

“makes the world a better place”

WE’RE OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK FROM 8am
18-21 Abbey Foregate, Shrewsbury. SY2 6AE. Tel: 01743 355055
www.thepeachtree.co.uk
Lavish new restaurant & cocktail bar set to open in Selfridges store

The award-winning San Carlo is this month opening its new Fumo restaurant, champagne & cocktail bar on the fourth floor of Birmingham’s Selfridges store. Affording stunning views of the iconic Bullring, the £1 million venue will feature a uniquely shaped grand marble bar. Fumo’s all-day menu will serve Italian small plate dishes to share, using only the finest ingredients from the produce markets of Milan and Sicily. The bar will specialise in cocktails and Laurent Perrier Champagne.

Popular cocktail bar expands with a £1.4m refurbishment

One of Birmingham’s most-loved cocktail bars has recently opened a second room, following a £1.4 million refurbishment. Located in Piccadilly Arcade, Be At One can now welcome up to 550 cocktail lovers through its doors. The popular venue has one of the longest lists of cocktails in the industry. Favourites include blended specialities such as the sweet & salty popcorn-topped Popster, the superfood-packed Beetroot Retox and reimagined classic the Gin Re-Fashioned. Commenting on the company, co-founder Steve Locke said: “Be At One is a cocktail institution, providing great service, an unbeatable party atmosphere and, most importantly, a pretension-free attitude.”

Top chef unveils new wine collection

Following a launch event at his Birmingham Steakhouse Bar & Grill last month, award-winning chef Marco Pierre White has created a new and exclusive wine collection. The wines have been created alongside celebrated wine-maker Jean-Luc Colombo and are exclusively available at Marco’s UK restaurants.

Fuss-free Greek menu on offer in Shrewsbury

A new family-run Shrewsbury restaurant is promising to be a real hit with customers, thanks to its menu of fuss-free authentic Greek dishes. Situated close to the town’s Abbey Church, Niko’s Greek Restaurant features traditional decor, a semi-open kitchen and a menu boasting the kind of cuisine that’s much in evidence in less-touristy parts of Greece. Diners at Niko’s can choose from a selection of appetising mezze dishes, while main courses include grilled lamb chops marinated with Greek spices, Keftedes (Greek meatballs), sharing platters and moussaka. Grilled aubergines with feta cheese, tomato sauce, extra virgin olive oil and Greek spices feature among the vegetarian options. A healthy Greek yoghurt with honey and walnuts, and Halva - a moist cake made from semolina flour and cooked in a cinnamon syrup - are available for dessert.

Wolverhampton restaurant celebrates its 35th anniversary

One of Wolverhampton’s most popular restaurants has launched a new menu in celebration of its 35th birthday. Bilash, which was opened by chef Sitab Khan in 1982, serves authentic dishes infused with a combination of traditional and modern Bangladeshi cuisine. “We are very passionate about our local roots and the fact that we have grown into Wolverhampton’s premier Asian restaurant,” said Mohammed Khan, who now runs the business with his father. “It has been a very exciting journey, from having a small place with no reputation to now boasting a Michelin rating and being featured in the AA, Waitrose and Haden’s good food guides.”

The drinks menu features wines from Romania, Lebanon and the US. These sit alongside Greek classics Retsina and Ouzo, and coffee imported from Greece. Niko’s currently opens daily from 5pm until midnight. Bookings can be made online at niks@greek-restaurant.co.uk
LIVE IN CONCERT IN SHREWSBURY!

Johnny 2 Bad
The ultimate tribute band to UB40

SAT 14 OCTOBER
FREE ADMISSION
Get here early! On stage at 9.30pm
GREAT DRINK OFFERS!

HAVANA ★ REPUBLIC
18 ABBEY FORECATE, SHREWSBURY

FRIDAY 17 NOVEMBER 2017
THE BUTTERMART, SHREWSBURY
Tickets £25 (+ booking fee). Doors 7pm
Tickets available from:
www.seetickets.com
www.thebuttermart.co.uk or 01743 281751

T'PAU
30 Years at Number One

FRIDAY 10TH NOVEMBER
THE BUTTERMART, SHREWSBURY
TICKETS AVAILABLE AT THEBUTTERMART.CO.UK

DAY OF THE DEAD

THE BUTTERMART, SHREWSBURY
18 ABBEY FORECATE, SHREWSBURY
Following a triumphant Glastonbury performance, British singer-songwriter Nick Mulvey embarks on a new tour in support of his new album Wake Up Now.

Lauren Foster recently caught up with Nick to find out more..

Your new album, Wake Up Now, is out now. Can you tell us a little bit about it?

Sure! It’s an album I wrote in parallel with my wife’s pregnancy and the birth of our first kid. We recorded it last October in Real World studios, which is Peter Gabriel’s studio out in Wiltshire. The songs look at the role of self-enquiry in our understanding of our predicament. I was ready as a writer to start having a bit more of an outward perspective. My first record was insular, and I think I was ready as a writer to look outwards. That feeling was amplified by becoming a dad and having that natural thing where you have a sense of responsibility for your small part of the world. Also, it was a product of the fact of having a bit more of an outward perspective.

Does it differ much from your debut album, First Mind?

The songs being more outward-looking is reflected a bit in the recording process as well, which is a difference between the two. I realised I needed to record in a very live way, with a group of musicians all in the same room. That way, you have sonic spillage over the microphone, so that there are symbols on the guitar mics and guitar mics on the vocal mics. It means you can’t be such a control freak because you can’t edit afterwards as much. You can’t take out that instrument or rejig that structure. You have to commit to the structure and you have to go for the take. All of that was enormously helpful for me as an artist. It gave me a lot of confidence just to be like ‘fuck it, let’s do it like this’. It was a lot of fun; it freed me up just to play music and made it a really exciting journey.

What’s the meaning behind the title?

The album is fundamentally about waking up to the mystery of life and celebrating being alive, and I don’t mean just being alive in the sense that we normally mean. I think we’ve constantly overlooked the mystery of absolutely every moment of every day has a role to play in our sense of knowing that we are already enough - and that’s a joyful thing. That sense of joy and wonder is hard to feel if you live in debt or live with chronic pain, for example. It’s hard to walk around going ‘oh every day is wonderful’. Speaking, it was kind of flamenco, although my Italian friend that I worked with on this song, Frederico Bruno, said that the sequence reminded him of Southern Italy - so it’s kind of Mediterranean, and that was important. We recognised that we couldn’t write our own words about it because what experience do we have, so we decided to do some research and do it properly. We were inspired by Peter Gabriel’s song, Biko, which is about Steve Biko and apartheid in South Africa in 1980, and which takes a more journalistic approach. We looked at online archives of refugees’ accounts of their own journeys, and the song started to flow from that. We were fictionalising these characters. For example, there’s a 10-year-old boy called Deogratius from Nigera, and when they asked him why he’d gone to Italy, he said he’d rather die once in the sea than die every day staying at home. From a 10-year-old kid that was just devastating to read, and that became the song. It was something I felt like I wanted to write. It’s not perfect - people have told me that the ‘I am your neighbour’ bit at the end is a bit wordy, but the thing is, it’s not saying a song is going to change the world. I don’t think a song could change the world. People could change the world, but that’s why songs matter, because our attitudes and actions are all shaped by the things we absorb, so I wanted to write something that mattered.

The track Myela was born out of the refugee crisis. Can you elaborate on this?

It was something I felt very strongly about, as was the cynicism of much of the British media. I was confused by that and wanted to write about it. I had this chord sequence that was brewing for many months. Loosely speaking, it was kind of flamenco, although my Italian friend that I worked with on this song, Frederico Bruno, said that the sequence reminded him of Southern Italy - so it’s kind of Mediterranean, and that was important. We recognised that we couldn’t write our own words about it because what experience do we have, so we decided to do some research and do it properly. We were inspired by Peter Gabriel’s song, Biko, which is about Steve Biko and apartheid in South Africa in 1980, and which takes a more journalistic approach. We looked at online archives of refugees’ accounts of their own journeys, and the song started to flow from that. We were fictionalising these characters. For example, there’s a 10-year-old boy called Deogratius from Nigera, and when they asked him why he’d gone to Italy, he said he’d rather die once in the sea than die every day staying at home. From a 10-year-old kid that was just devastating to read, and that became the song. It was something I felt like I wanted to write. It’s not perfect - people have told me that the ‘I am your neighbour’ bit at the end is a bit wordy, but the thing is, it’s not saying a song is going to change the world. I don’t think a song could change the world. People could change the world, but that’s why songs matter, because our attitudes and actions are all shaped by the things we absorb, so I wanted to write something that mattered.

Last year saw the birth of your son, Inka. How’s fatherhood treating you?

It’s amazing! It’s a wonder. We live in a barn where there are no stairs, but at the moment, whilst I’m releasing the album, we’ve all moved to London, and there are stairs in this house and he just can’t believe it! We just go up and down, up and down, up and down, and I’m happy because he’s going to tire himself out and have a good sleep. That was me from 6.45am until about 8.30am, just up and down the stairs - it was joyful. It’s hardcore as well. I’ve been very busy this summer and it’s really stretched me to the edge. Being a parent brings up all your shit, you know - you realise where you’re at, not where you think you’re at. It’s an amazing test, and I’m failing and having a wonderful time, if you know what I mean.

What’s your dream collaboration?
I would love to collaborate with PJ Harvey. I think she’s amazing. I love and admire the way that she dedicates her art to speaking about things that matter, I’m really inspired by that right now.

What’s your first musical memory?
There was a lot of music in the house. My dad would always crank the music up and really enjoy it. Stuff like ZZ Top in the car. When you’re five years old, that’s massive. It completely blows your mind and is a really powerful experience. A little bit later, my sister used to feed me a lot of music, the cooler stuff like Massive Attack and Portishead and hip-hop, De Le Soul and stuff like that. She fed me a lot of hip-hop and drum and bass and jungle - a lot of stuff I went on to love.

You’re well known on the festival circuit. Do you have a favourite festival?
I always love Green Man Festival. The curation, they always nail it there, and it’s a beautiful site. I love Womad - always a winner. I love Glastonbury as well.

You opened Glastonbury’s Pyramid Stage in 2014. What an achievement...
Yeah, it was awesome. It was the beginning of something, I feel. I still feel that on the second record. I feel like I have something to prove on this record and I’m excited to see where it goes.

You run a series of Meet Me There events throughout the country. Can you tell us a little bit about those?
It came from when we were releasing singles from my last album. We’d just got home, I was chatting to fans on the internet and my wife said, ‘What do you think would happen if we put a postcode and a time?’ I have a song called Meet Me There, which was the single that was on the radio at that time, so we just thought, let’s try it. We put the name of a park around the corner from our house, 7pm, Meet Me There, and about eight people turned up. It was brilliant, and our mate came down and we filmed it. We never explained it, we just put the film up the next day. A week later, we did a different location somewhere else in Central London and 30 people came. A month later, it was 100.

You’re playing Birmingham’s O2 Institute in October. What can audiences expect from your show?
It’s new level for me. This band is freer and we have a deeper connection than I’ve ever had before with musicians. I’m really, really excited about this UK tour. We’re going to make a lot of people happy and we’re happy doing it. I can’t wait for them to meet the band. To my left on stage, so to their right, is Frederico Bruno, and he is amazing. He’s a really special character and he’s having a ball. He’s very free and he’s playing a lot of different instruments. Then, on my right, stage left, is Fifi. These are really old, dear friends of mine, and I can’t believe we’re all in a band together. She’s a secret weapon - she’s amazing. People are going to enjoy it.

Nick Mulvey performs at O2 Institute, Birmingham on Monday 9th October
Amber Run
The Slade Rooms, Wolverhampton, Tues 10 October
Since releasing second album For A Moment, I Was Lost, at the start of the year, Nottingham four-piece Amber Run have played some of the biggest festivals in Europe, including Pink Pop in the Netherlands and Hurricane and Southside in Germany. With a growing reputation as makers of beautifully emotive music, the band stop off in Wolverhampton this month as part of a 12-date autumn tour.

Blair Dunlop
Henry Tudor House, Shrewsbury, Sun 29 October; Stafford Gatehouse, Mon 30 October
Blair Dunlop’s skills as a singer, guitarist and songwriter were much in evidence on his debut album, Blight And Blossom, and its well-received follow-ups, House Of Jacks (2014) and Gilded (2016). The award-winning singer, songwriter and guitarist is part of a famous musical dynasty. His father, Ashley Hutchings, is the famed co-founder of Fairport Convention.

Louis Berry
The Sugarmill, Stoke-on-Trent, Wed 25 October
Specialising in standout melodies and hard-hitting lyrics, Louis Berry delivers rock’n’roll for the 21st century. “I want to be the biggest male artist on the planet,” says Louis. “You name me one song in the charts right now that says anything about your life or my life. I can’t name one! Chart music now is just candy - it doesn’t feed your soul. An hour later you’re hungry again.” Louis brings his UK tour to the Midlands following triumphant performances at Reading & Leeds this summer.

The Young’uns
Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury, Sat 7 October; mac, Birmingham, Sat 21 October
Having won the Best Group gong at the BBC Radio Two Folk Awards in both 2015 and ’16, The Young’uns have successfully cemented their position at the forefront of the English folk scene. The talented Teesside trio return this month with an extensive UK tour and an eagerly anticipated new album, Strangers.

Placebo
Civic Hall, Wolverhampton, Sat 21 October
Comprising androgynous two-piece Brian Molko (pictured) and Stefan Olsdal, alternative rock band Placebo head to Wolverhampton this month as part of a world tour celebrating the 20th anniversary of their platinum-selling self-titled debut album. With best-known songs including Pure Morning and Every You, Every Me - and a cult fanbase that’s stood by them throughout - their career has seen them delve into the genres of glam rock, goth rock, grunge and punk rock.

Megson
The Hive, Shrewsbury, Fri 6 October
Since releasing first album On The Side in 2004, husband-and-wife team Stu and Debbie Hanna have developed an enviable reputation on the English folk music circuit. The duo have been hailed as fresh and innovative - a description that’s hardly surprising given that Debbie is classically trained and Stu’s a former punk! Specialising in self-composed melodies which bring together intimate harmony singing and multi-instrumental acoustic playing, the pair visit the Midlands this month as part of their 2017 autumn tour.
You’ve heard of Madchester, Merseybeat and the heavy metal movement forged in Birmingham, but would you know how to define the sound of Coventry?

In his latest show, Godiva Rocks, local playwright Alan Pollock sets out to do just that. In what may well be the world’s first musical based around the songs of a single city, the One Night In November scribe now turns his attention to homegrown hits through the story of a young couple searching for the essence of Coventry music.

“It’s hard to avoid acknowledging that 2-tone really nailed it,” says Pollock. “With the exception of a few late-’60s bands, that was the first time that black and white united to make music here. That hadn’t really happened at all during the ’70s, but when it came along, it just seemed like such a natural expression of who we are in this melting-pot city, which is a big theme in the play.”

Many locals do feel a sense of ownership over their ska heritage, so it was no surprise when the iconic Ghost Town topped a recent public poll to find our favourite Coventry number one. Yet from the electronic experimentation of Delia Derbyshire to launching what has become Britain’s biggest free music festival, there’s so much more to the Coventry music scene than The Specials.

“I didn’t actually have to dig very deep to come up with loads of songs from here,” continues Pollock. “I think if Liverpool and Manchester are at the top in terms of musical output, we’re certainly in the top three or four. But the thing I hear people saying a lot in rehearsals is, ‘I didn’t know that was from Coventry’. Lots of people don’t realise, for example, that Funboy Three are basically a Cov band, that The Primitives and Panjabi MC were from Coventry, as was Frank Ifield, who had four number one hits before Elvis Presley had even had one! So there’s a lot more than people think.

“There are one or two Specials songs in the show, but I felt like The Specials had already been celebrated elsewhere, so I wanted to get people to look at all the other stuff. “Nobody’s going to be disappointed - there will be something for everyone, from young people now right back to the ’60s.”

So why is it that this hotbed of musical invention has gone largely unrecognised until now? Well, one reason could be Coventrians’ own self-perception. Unlike in London, Birmingham and powerhouses of the north, in Cov, we’re quite a reticent bunch when it comes to extolling our own virtues. In fact, the biggest Coventry critics are almost always those who live here. To paraphrase Pollock at the Godiva Rocks launch, it feels as though we always wait for outside recognition before we’ll acknowledge the merits of anything made here.

Trouble is, since the decline of our once-world-famous industry, such external affirmation has become increasingly rare. Nowadays, many people outside the Midlands would be hard-pressed even to say where Coventry is, let alone tell you anything about its cultural life, so if we’re to be in with a chance of taking the City of Culture title, it’s up to us to shout about what makes it special.

“Part of the point of doing this show about Coventry is getting people to be proud of stuff we’ve done. I’ve been unofficially involved with the City of Culture bid right from the start, and we talk about this a lot - getting people to be actively positive about what we’ve achieved.”

And Pollock has certainly been doing his bit to celebrate Coventry for some years: neither this nor his controversial Coventry Blitz play One Night In November are his first time putting the city centre-stage.

“I’ve always found it fascinating. I grew up here, and even though I moved away for a while and lived all over the world, I found myself drawn back to the spirit of the place. Its history is so rich, and it’s like a kind of symbol of the country as a whole, with its industrial background and its ups and downs. When my parents arrived in the early ’60s, it had the highest average wage of any town in the country. Then it suffered badly in the ’80s, but now we’re starting to come back from that. So I’ve always seen it as a kind of place of resilience. Some of that is expressed in the music, and it’s part of what I’m trying to extract and distil in this show.

“I’m extremely confident that we can win (City of Culture). I think if politics doesn’t get in the way, ours is the strongest bid by a mile.”

Godiva Rocks plays at the Belgrade Theatre, Coventry, from Saturday 7 to Saturday 21 October.
LAS VEGAS, NEW YORK AND NOW BIRMINGHAM.
The only show as colourful as life.

Blue Man Group

Presented by THSH

28 Dec 2017 - 6 Jan 2018

World tour: UK exclusive

Book now at www.thsh.co.uk/bluemangroup
0121 780 3333
Ex Cathedra
Symphony Hall, Birmingham, Sat 14 October
Ex Cathedra have long enjoyed an international reputation as one of the UK’s leading choral and Early Music ensembles. They return to Symphony Hall to present a performance of Johann Sebastian Bach’s Magnificat - a composition widely recognised as a Baroque-era great. Ex Cathedra founder and conductor Jeffrey Skidmore is the man at the helm for a concert that also features the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra. The programme is completed by two of Bach’s famous cantatas and his resplendent Orchestral Suite No3.

The City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra
Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent, Fri 13 October
A trio of well-loved Beethoven compositions, performed alongside one of the masterpieces of British music, is the mouthwatering prospect awaiting classical music lovers attending this season-opening concert.
The City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra is in town to perform Beethoven’s Emperor and Overture to Fidelio, while the world-renowned Simon Trpčeski (pictured) makes a welcome return to the venue to tackle the composer’s 5th Piano Concerto.
The programme is completed by Elgar’s magnificent Enigma Variations.
Comprising 14 variations on an original theme, the piece features musical sketches of some of the composer’s closest acquaintances, as well as of himself and his wife.
“The sketches are not ‘portraits’, explained Elgar in a concert programme note, “but each variation contains a distinct idea founded on some particular personality or perhaps on some incident known only to two people. This is the basis of the composition, but the work may be listened to as a ‘piece of music’ apart from any extraneous consideration.”
The concert is conducted by Vassily Sinaisky, a man schooled in the tradition of Musin and Kondrashin and a former music director of Moscow’s Bolshoi Theatre.

Armonico Consort
The Place, Oakengates Theatre, Telford, Shropshire, Tues 10 October
Founded by organist and conductor Christopher Monks in 2001, Armonico are one of the largest organisations of their kind in the UK. Using authentic period instruments, the baroque consort regularly perform with some of the best solo musicians in the world. This Oakengates concert sees them putting to music the saga of Beowulf, as recounted in the oldest-surviving poem in Old English. The new piece boasts strong folk-pop influences, a fact that should make it an engaging experience for the whole family to enjoy. Armonico are joined by harpist Catrin Finch.

Basel Symphony Orchestra
Birmingham Town Hall, Tues 10 October
Celebrated cellist Sol Gabetta here joins forces with the Basel Symphony Orchestra (BSO) to present a programme culminating in Beethoven’s hugely intoxicating Seventh.
British maestro Ivor Bolton is the man with the baton, having become the orchestra’s conductor in 2016, the year during which the BSO celebrated its 140th anniversary. The concert also features performances of Ferruccio Busoni’s Lustspiel Overture and Saint-Saëns’ Cello Concerto.

London Mozart Players
Holy Trinity Church, Oswestry, Sat 28 October
A fresh new talent teams up with a well-established orchestra for this Shropshire Music Trust concert.
South Korean violinist Joo Yeon Sir (pictured), a fast-rising star whose stunning talent has seen her bag a dazzling array of awards, here performs alongside Britain’s longest-established chamber orchestra, the London Mozart Players.
The evening’s programme features Grieg’s Holberg Suite Op40, Mendelssohn’s Violin Concerto No1 in D minor, Rossini’s Sonata No1 in G and Dvorak’s Serenade for Strings Op22.
HORSE OF THE YEAR SHOW

4TH - 8TH OCTOBER 2017

“The World’s Most Famous Horse Show”

www.hoys.co.uk

BARRACKS PASSAGE
SHREWSBURY
SY1 9XA
01743 361666

FOR MORE DETAILS OF ALL LIVE EVENTS GO TO WWW.HENRYTUDORHOUSE.COM

WEDNESDAY 4TH OCTOBER

FENNE LILY,
PAUL THOMAS
SAUNDERS, SIVU &
SIV JAKOBSEN

MONDAY 16TH OCTOBER

BETH ROWLEY

SUNDAY 29TH OCTOBER

BLAIR DUNLOP
+ BROOKE SHARKEY

MONDAY 30TH OCTOBER

AILBHE REDDY

THE AWARD WINNING
MUSIC & COMEDY
VENUE
IN SHROPSHIRE
Little Me is your first autobiography. What made you decide to write it, and what inspired the A-Z format?
Well, I decided it was time to upload some things out of my head and free up some space! I didn't want to write a conventional autobiography because I knew I wanted to steer clear of some things and obsess over others. This format allowed me to do that.

You talk very honestly and openly about going bald at the tender age of six, and about the lack of bald men in the public eye when you were growing up. Who were your role models as a child and how important were they to you?
Duncan Goodhew, because he was hairless and a winner. And Kojak, because he could always get hold of a lollipop.

You talk about your time at Haberdashers’ Aske’s Boys School in the book. How important were your schooldays in encouraging your love of theatre, and what’s your happiest memory from school?
The school plays were my escape - and also in school holidays my mum and grandma would take me to the West End to see shows. There was nothing more thrilling than when the lights went down and the overture began.

Who are your comedy heroes?
Laurel & Hardy and Reeves & Mortimer. Perfect chemistry. Like brothers. Destined to be together.

We love your ‘clangs’ every time a famous person you’ve met and worked with is mentioned. Is there anyone you’ve never had the chance to work with but would love to?
Mike Leigh and Shane Meadows spring to mind. Chris Morris. And I think I would love to appear onstage with Nathan Lane and Patti Lupone.

You did your time on the comedy circuit before success with Shooting Stars and Little Britain. Do you have any advice for young comedians starting out?
Yes, record every gig on your phone and listen to it on the way home. It’s never as bad (or as good) as you thought.

Little Britain was such a defining moment in British comedy. Are there any characters you regret, or ones you’d love to recreate and work on again?
There are some I like more than others, certainly some I wouldn’t do now, but few I regret. It was a show of its time. I would love to play Marjorie again, but I think things are different now, and it would be considered fat-shaming. You have to move with the times.

You’ve created and played so many legendary characters. Do you have a favourite?
Probably Marjorie, Andy Pipkin, maybe Taaj from Come Fly With Me. I used to enjoy playing Gary Barlow. My favourite is Pompidou.

You’ve found success on stage, screen, and in the movies with roles in Les Mis, Bridesmaids, Alice In Wonderland and more. Do you have a favourite medium?
Actually my favourite thing to do is write, more than perform. And write music at that.

You’re much loved by Doctor Who fans. What do you like about Nardole, and does he love the new female Doctor Who?
I liked playing Nardole because, let’s face it, how often do you get to play a hybrid of alien, robot and human? He’s a one-off. And I’ve loved all the Doctors. I doubt Nardole has any interest in the concept of love. There are worlds to save.

What’s next...?
Cuppa tea.

What’s the best thing that ever happened to you in Birmingham?
Once got a room at the Crowne Plaza for £25 a night. Tiny it was, mind.

Little Me: My Life From A-Z by Matt Lucas is published on 3 October by Canongate and priced at £20 hardback.
Matt talks about the book at Birmingham Town Hall on Saturday 14 October, at 2pm. For tickets, visit thsh.co.uk

Birmingham Comedy Festival is a 10-day extravaganza, with more than 60 events taking place at various locations from 6 to 15 October.
For more info, visit bhamcomfest.co.uk
Henning Wehn
Royal Spa Centre, Leamington, 8 October; Birmingham Town Hall, 13 & 14 October; Wulfrun Hall, Wolverhampton, 27 October; Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury, 12 November

The self-appointed German comedy ambassador’s style of humour has been described as Teutonic jolliness at its best. We reckon that’s such a good way of putting it, we have nothing further to add - except, that is, for the following Henning gags: “With standup in Britain, what you have to do is bloody swearing. In Germany, we don’t have to swear. Reason being, things work,” and “World War Two was a painful time for my family. My grandfather died in a concentration camp. He got drunk one night and fell out of his guard tower...”

Jenny Eclair
Royal Shakespeare Theatre, Stratford-upon-Avon, 8 October

As Jenny Eclair has matured, she’s developed an appreciation of her womanhood which has cleverly informed her comedy routine. “I think women get dirtier as they get older,” she says. “The more your body lets you down, the more you have to find it funny. It produces more emissions, farts and little noises, and bibbly-bob-bly bits that appear and disappear. And then there’s giving birth. As soon as you do that, you have to lose all respect for your body. Maybe it’s a cheap device, but it does make me laugh. I just think bumholes and fannies are hilarious. The first joke my father told me was a fart joke, and I still find it funny.” Jenny visits Stratford with her show, How To Be A Middle-Aged Woman (Without Going Insane).

Impractical Jokers Arena Birmingham, Thurs 12 October

High school buddies Joseph Gatto, James Murray, Brian Quinn and Salvatore Vulcano stepped into the world of comedy at the end of the 20th century, forming live-improv troupe The Tenderloins. Over a decade later, the boys became the stars of TV’s Impractical Jokers, a reality series in which they coerce one another into doing public pranks while being filmed by hidden cameras.

With six series of the show having aired since 2015 and a seventh on the way, the fellas have plenty of material around which to develop a successful live offering. But don’t expect anything too sophisticated from the quartet. Pulling pranks on stage in the confines of a venue really isn’t an option, so instead they play clips, tell jokes and revel in a friendship which has seen them grow a loyal and devoted cult following.

Jo D’Arcy
mac, Birmingham, Thurs 12 October

A one-time teacher who knew that she faced a whole career being called ‘the D’Arcehole’ by her students, Jo D’Arcy decided to opt for a different kind of potential embarrassment and became a standup comedian. In a show that got full marks at the Edinburgh Festival, Jo uses a ‘basic’ powerpoint presentation to recall her days in a Stoke-on-Trent classroom, delivering the kind of lesson that would definitely have seen her sacked in her old job... Expect inappropriate jokes, a good amount of swearing, some Rik Mayall-style craziness and maybe even the odd technical glitch.

Jenny Eclair
Royal Shakespeare Theatre, Stratford-upon-Avon, 8 October

As Jenny Eclair has matured, she’s developed an appreciation of her womanhood which has cleverly informed her comedy routine. “I think women get dirtier as they get older,” she says. “The more your body lets you down, the more you have to find it funny. It produces more emissions, farts and little noises, and bibbly-bob-bly bits that appear and disappear. And then there’s giving birth. As soon as you do that, you have to lose all respect for your body. Maybe it’s a cheap device, but it does make me laugh. I just think bumholes and fannies are hilarious. The first joke my father told me was a fart joke, and I still find it funny.” Jenny visits Stratford with her show, How To Be A Middle-Aged Woman (Without Going Insane).
Sofie Hagen

Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry, Sat 14 October

“My gigs are anxiety-safe,” says Danish feminist comedian and one-time self-harming Westlife fan Sofie Hagen. “If you have anxiety over attending the show, you can email me at tour@sofiehagen.com and let me know what I can do to help. Maybe you want to reserve a specific seat? Maybe you want to ask a question? Either way, let’s talk.”

As well as wanting to ensure that her gigs are safe spaces for anxiety sufferers, Sofie also insists that all venues in which she performs have gender-neutral and disabled toilets. Her current show is Dead Baby Frog. This month being presented in the Midlands as part of Sofie’s post-Edinburgh tour, the show is a contemplation on the subject of anger - and the funeral of her psychopathic grandfather, who’s not even dead yet...

Examples of Sofie’s humour include the following: “I have the confidence to text a man first. And second. And third. And fourth. And fifth. And sixth. And seventh. Basically, until he answers,” and, “The question you always have to ask yourself is: ‘Is my depression back or am I just hungry?’”

---

Ed Gamble

Henry Tudor House, Shrewsbury, Thurs 26 October

“I’m essentially a great guy delivering humour through your classic microphone/speaker combo,” says a tongue-in-cheek Ed Gamble in describing himself. “As well as being a standup comedian, I’m an actor and a writer - although to be honest, I very rarely act, and ‘writing’ is a very lofty term for the absolute filth I’ve committed to paper in the past.”

Best known for his work with Ray Peacock on The Peacock And Gamble Podcast, Ed here presents Mammoth - a gig which the London-born comedian describes as “a brand new, lumbering beast of a comedy show”.

---

Andrew Lawrence

The Slade Rooms, Wolverhampton, 22 October

He’s not a particularly well known or much-lauded comedian, but it’s fair to say Andrew Lawrence’s profile has been raised a bit by his involvement in various social media controversies.

On Facebook a while back, he accused television panel shows of indulging in “liberal back-slapping”, claiming they featured “ageing, balding, fat men, ethnic comedians and women posing as comedians” who spent their time making jokes at the expense of UKIP and Nigel Farage.

He’s also hit the headlines for posting a tweet about feminists and suicide that protesters claimed incited others to take their own lives.

“Currently being dogpiled by feminazis,” Lawrence tweeted in response. “I think I like it…”

Jokes include: “Most of us have a skeleton in the cupboard. David Beckham takes his out in public.”

---

Robin Ince

Comedy Junction, The Station Pub, Sutton Coldfield, Fri 13 October

Co-presenter of irreverent BBC Radio Four science show The Infinite Monkey Cage, Robin Ince is here making a return to the world of standup after taking a long break to spend more time with his family.

When quitting the circuit back in 2015, he was also honest enough to admit that professional paranoia had played a significant role in his decision. “I saw the work of [fellow comedians] Daniel Kitson or Bridget Christie or John Kearns and faced my limitations. I walked off satisfactory gigs with disappointment in my airways because I kept imagining I might have been capable of something that, in truth, I was not.”

“I think I was starting to go mad. I didn’t have some Hancockian black dog hovering above me, more a facetious little grey dog yapping.”

Robin’s new show, Pragmatic Insanity, is described as ‘90 minutes fizzing with ideas about creativity in science and art, as well as asking why we believe we see what we see and why we believe what we believe’.
SIMON DAY
in character and on tour...
Comedian, writer and actor Simon Day cut his teeth on the alternative comedy circuit of the early 90s. Under the guise of Music Hall raconteur Tommy Cockles, he teamed up with fellow travellers Vic and Bob before hitting the mainstream with seminal sketch series The Fast Show, and a raft of new characters, such as Competitive Dad and Dave Angel.

He’s since appeared in a variety of TV shows, including Channel 4’s recent comic drama Loaded, the BBC’s one-off revival of ‘Till Death Do Us Part, Paul Whitehouse’s Nurse, Bellamy’s People, and The Life Of Rock With Brian Pern.

Heading out on tour, Simon Day: In Character sees him revisiting four of his most popular creations – reformed criminal Tony Beckton, struggling Yorkshire poet Geoffrey Allerton, the Fast Show’s well-meaning but utterly annoying pub bore Billy Bleach, and prog’ rockin’ Thotch frontman, Brian Pern. “The theme of the show is loosely how the characters are coping with life now,” he says.

How was it starting out? How did audiences take to your Tommy Cockles character?

With Tommy I used to die quite a bit, then Vic and Bob took me on tour, and we did a tour in 1990. I’d some out and the audience would boo, or talk over everything. I never had a plan-B with him, if he was being attacked I’d just say ‘that’s not nice ... I shall go off if this continues ...’. But when he went down well, he went down really well. I remember playing The Glee Club on a Saturday night, and it was straight down the line, full of go-fags-a-night people ... that was hard. But usually he went down fine. There was only me and John Shuttleworth then, doing that quite gentle, quiet character comedy.

Was there much of a circuit back then?

There were plenty of gigs – pubs, comedy clubs, there was enough of it to keep you busy, places like Malcolm Hardee’s up The Creek, in Greenwich.

Did you consider what you were doing to be ‘alternative comedy’?

I did, although I didn’t come from that left-wing, smash-down-the-walls-of-Bernard-Manning-and-kick-him-to-the-ground thing that some acts came from. I read Stewart Lee’s autobiography – How I Escaped My Certain Fate... - and I can see where he was coming from. But me, Jim (Vic Reeves) and Bob (Mortimer), we just wanted to have a laugh – we weren’t overly political.

When your autobiography Comedy and Error: They Really Were Marvellous Times, came out back in 2011/2012, you discussed the possibility of turning it into a TV project ...

We did write it! But we were told no-one was interested in the 1980s ... and then lots of shows about the 1980s come on. Ha-ha! It’s very hard to go from comedy to drama, but shows about the 1980s come on. Ha-ha! It’s interested in the 1980s ... and then lots of us did write it! But we were told no-one was interested in it - and that’s why we did write it! But we were told no-one was interested in it, so we decided to do it as it was – and this isn’t what the people wanted.

You also said that you missed out a lot of stories - any plans for a Part 2?

People say there’s no money in books, so I went off and did Brian Pern instead as I might as well write and perform than just write. And it was a bit grim, writing the book. But so many people have said that it’s one of the best ... for what it is, it’s one of the best. You can still get it on Amazon, and if you look at the reviews, it’s got 40 five-star reviews – people get it! I think the publisher thought they’d got another Russell Brand book, but by comparison, it was a flop. No one reviewed it at the time, and it’s very hard to move between the two (writing and TV/ comedy) ... ‘he’s not a writer!’ It needed someone like Will Self to review it. It’s read a lot of those books and some of them are so abysmal, so untrue, and there are so many of them – there’s a cricketer once a week, a couple of boxers the next, several war journalists, another footballer ... the celebrity book market is so crowded. But I’m proud of it, I’m proud I did it.

You know, Graham Linehan (Father Ted, The IT Crowd, Count Arthur Strong) phoned me up the other day and said ‘your book is brilliant!’ Great! Let’s make it into a series! ‘No!’ That’s showbiz for you. (laughs)

The Fast Show is one of those few programmes that helped define a generation and changed comedy. You were rock star comedians, playing arenas! How do you feel about those days now?

The Fast Show was so long ago now. It was a big show and I’m recognised as much now for that as anything I’ve ever done. We only did three series and it’s locked in that time now, when there were only four channels. It’s there. You can’t touch it. It didn’t go stale. People grew up with it, were watching it at university, and Oversees I get a lot about it – lots of expats, especially miserable expats in South Africa, Australia, they remember it. Well they would wouldn’t they? Being miserable (laughs). In many ways it was the perfect show. When I look back I see that it was good. Should I have done a Dave Angel sitcom? Maybe I should have, but at the time I was just enjoying it / not enjoying it.

The Brian Pern series’ for BBC Four and BBC Two featured some great cameos - Sir Tim Rice, Monty Don, Christopher Eccleston, even Peter Gabriel. How did you get them? Did you approach them? Or did they approach you?

It was a mix. (Co-writer/ director) Rhys (Thomas) was very charming. He does like prog rock and Genesis and a lot of those people just don’t get asked to do much. Some were reluctant, but then they saw the show on BBC Two and they got back to us – their agent’s probably had a word with them. The Zombies asked to be in it, and they were turned down because they were not recognisable enough – (I said) ‘you’re turning down The Zombies? You can’t do that!’ Rod Stewart? He said ‘no, I’ll leave it to the actors,’ and he was quite right, but we got Roy Wood and he was really good. The thing was that we didn’t take the mickey, we were affectionate, we didn’t push them out of their comfort zones.

Can we expect to see any more of Brian and Thotch on TV in the future?

There are no plans for more Brian Pern at the moment. The BBC said ‘we’re fine now for the moment, thanks.’ (laughs)

How was it doing Alf Garnett / Till Death Do Us Part for the BBC’s Lost Sitcoms series?

I didn’t want to do it to be really honest, but I couldn’t afford not to. They found one episode that wasn’t racist and wasn’t sexist. I thought that if I was going to do it, I wanted to do it as it was – and this isn’t what the show was about. He was just a bit rude in it. But it was so good to be in.

Did you watch it back in the day?

I saw bits of it (growing up), but it was an odd one. I was more into watching Porridge, Monty Python, Dad’s Army.

Simon Day: In Character is at The Glee Club, Birmingham, on Sunday 15 October 2017, as part of Birmingham Comedy Festival.
Shall we dance?

Strictly winners Caroline Flack & Tom Chambers star in Crazy For You

What’s a would-be Broadway hoofer to do when his dreams of dancing with the Follies are dashed by a bungled audition?

In multi-award-winning Gershwin Brothers musical Crazy For You, starry-eyed Bobby Child is burdened with thwarted ambitions, as well as a boring day job in his family’s banking business and the attentions of a girlfriend he doesn’t love.

Sent by his mother on a mission to close the failing Gaiety Theatre out in Nevada, Bobby seizes the opportunity to get away from home, but soon ends up taking on more than he bargained for when he falls for the proprietor’s daughter, Polly. Before long, he’s decided to save their theatre by putting on a show of his own...

Joining the cast as Bobby and his frustrated fiancée, Irene, Tom Chambers and Caroline Flack both know a thing or two themselves about big dreams and how life often gets in the way of them. A few years back, almost at his wits’ end with unsuccessful agents and auditions, Chambers was just about ready to give up on acting when he finally got the call from Holby City, off the back of a Fred Astaire routine that he’d recreated and sent out on spec.

“It was only when my agent fired me for not doing Bob The Builder: The Arena Tour that I decided to try this one last thing before I jacked it all in,” says Chambers. “So I left London and went back to live with my parents, where I spent seven months watching this old VHS and trying to recreate it frame by frame. I sent out 1,000 copies, from which I got two replies. I’d actually gone into a fire station and got my papers to sign up to be a fireman when the phone rang to say I’d got an audition for Holby City. The funny thing was that they were actually looking for an American actor, and they’d obviously decided that because Fred Astaire was American, I must be too!”

Meanwhile, theatre-trained Caroline Flack makes her professional stage debut in Crazy For You, following a 15-year career as a TV presenter.

“When I was a kid I sometimes performed at the local village hall, and we also used to go and see shows in Norwich and in the West End,” says Flack. “When I was about 10, I can remember asking my mum if people really did that as a job, and deciding that was what I wanted to do. So it’s been in me since a really young age. I was really driven - I enrolled in loads of different classes and got myself a scholarship, but then when I left college I got snapped up by a TV agent.”

Now an experienced stage performer, Chambers has built up something of a reputation as a go-to lead for Golden Age shows, thanks to sensational stints in the likes of Top Hat and Private Lives. Yet although the class and glamour of the era clearly comes naturally to him, he’s happy to own that, without his winning run on Strictly Come Dancing, it’s unlikely he’d have got to where he is now. For fellow Strictly winner Flack, the show also marked a major turning point.

“It wasn’t until I did Strictly that my training all came back to me, and Pasha, my partner, said to me, ‘This is what you should be doing - this is what you love. It opened a new door to me because suddenly all these theatres and shows were like, ‘Come and work for us!'”

Joining an experienced team as a newcomer can be daunting, but Flack has been warmly received both by audiences across the UK and by her fellow cast members.

“Caroline is an absolute gem. She’s like a little dynamo!” gushes Tom. “She’s got a great energy about her - a bit sassy and cheeky, which is perfect for the part. Of course, we know that her dancing is flawless, but I can also say that her acting and character work are sublime.”

Part of this success is no doubt due to the care she took in choosing her debut part. The “Initially they did ask me to read for Polly, but when I looked at the script, I just thought, ‘That’s not me. I haven’t got that classic musical voice - my singing style’s a bit more jazzy and soulful, which is perfect for Irene. Getting the right first part was really crucial for me, because it’s all such a learning curve.”

For Chambers, meanwhile, playing Bobby is pretty much a dream come true.

“Crazy For You is probably my favourite musical of all time. It’s one of the first ones I ever saw, when I was about 15 or 16. Although its still Golden Era, the part is more classic than Fred Astaire. Where Top Hat was very dapper and sophisticated and clipped, this is a bit more relaxed. And the script is just so funny! It’s got all the key ingredients for me.”

“The other thing about this production is that it’s being done in a way in which the show has never been done before. Instead of having the orchestra in the pit, we’ve got music being played by the cast live on stage. So instead of a triple threat, it’s like a quadruple threat - singing, acting dancing and playing instruments.

“When I first stepped into rehearsals, some of the cast had already been there a week, practising the music. I was just blown away when I heard them. I can’t stress to you how talented they are. I’ve never met a group of people like it!”

Crazy For You shows at Birmingham Hippodrome from Tuesday 24 to Saturday 28 October.

whatsonlive.co.uk 23
Hairspray The Musical

Birmingham Hippodrome, Mon 9 - Sat 14 October & Wolverhampton Grand Theatre, Mon 26 February - Sat 3 March 2018

‘Bigger, brighter and beautiful!’ is how Hairspray star Brenda Edwards describes this latest incarnation of the hit musical. “Audiences can expect energy, a lot of laughs and some fantastic songs played by a phenomenal band.”

Set in 1962, the Tony Award-winning show boasts a jukebox-worth of ‘60s-style dance music and ‘downtown’ rhythm & blues. At its heart is the story of chubby teenager Tracy Turnblad, who enjoys an overnight rise to stardom when she earns the chance to appear on a local TV dance show.

One-time X Factor contestant Brenda takes the role of Motormouth Maybelle... “I think Motormouth’s record shop is the central hub, where all the kids in the neighbourhood can come and hang out,” says Brenda. “And the songs she sings are just fabulous! She has a big personality, just like me, so I think it’s a perfect role.”

Notorious

The REP, Birmingham, Fri 20 - Sat 21 October

An evening in the company of The Famous Lauren Barri Holstein has the potential to be a bit of a challenge for the faint-hearted. Her previous performance work has seen her engage in activities such as inserting a knife handle into her vagina and urinating on stage (although not at the same time, we hasten to add - that would be just plain wrong!).

The Famous, as she’s known, describes this latest show as a search for her real self - “for the pure me, behind this soiled shroud of promiscuity”.

Pink Sari Revolution

Belgrade Theatre, Coventry, Wed 11 - Sat 21 October

This stage adaptation of a true story is based on the book by internationally renowned journalist Amana Fontanella-Khan. It’s being presented as part of UK/India 2017, a year-long celebration marking India’s 70 years of independence and showcasing British and Indian creativity.

Fusing together drama, music and movement, the production focuses on the pink-sari-wearing Gulabi Gang, a movement of over 400,000 women fighting for their rights in the ‘Badlands’ of Uttar Pradesh, where violence against females can be traced back into Indian mythology.

The show has been produced by the Belgrade in collaboration with Curve Theatre Leicester and West Yorkshire Playhouse.

Joseph And The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat

Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent, Tues 24 - Sat 28 October

Joseph was Tim Rice and Andrew Lloyd Webber’s first foray into the world of musical theatre, paving the way for later offerings Jesus Christ Superstar and Evita. Fabulously fun and frothy, the show offers great entertainment for anybody who fancies the kind of night out that lets you leave your brain at home... X Factor winner Joe McElderry stars as Joseph.
Unforgettable performances, powered by you

0844 338 5000  birminghamhippodrome.com
Calls cost 4.5p per min plus access charge. Where applicable, a 5% transaction charge may apply excluding cash sales in person.

---

Aladdin
Tue 3 - Sat 7 Oct
From £16

Perspectives
Sun 15 Oct
£40

Aditi Mangaldas Dance Company: Inter_rupted
Mon 23 Oct
£15

---

The West End & Broadway Hit Musical Hairspray Comes to Birmingham!
Mon 9 - Sat 14 Oct
From £19.50

Instructions for Border Crossing
Written and performed by Daniel Bye
Fri 13 Oct
£10

---

Tales of Birbal
Timeless fables from the Indian sub-continent
Sun 15 Oct
£10

Wed 18 - Sat 21 Oct
From £12

---

The Broadway and West End Smash Hit Musical
Tue 31 Oct - Sat 4 Nov
From £11

Beautiful: The Carole King Musical
Tue 7 - Sat 11 Nov
From £18

---

Khovanshchina
Musorgsky
Tue 31 Oct - Sat 4 Nov
From £11

Die Fledermaus
Johann Strauss II
Tue 7 - Sat 11 Nov
From £18

---

Jinkx Monsoon and Major Scales: The Vaudevillians
Wed 18 - Sat 21 Oct
From £12

---

Bouncing Cats and Boom Boom Pups
Fri 27 & Sat 28 Oct
£10

---

Jinkx Monsoon
and Major Scales:
The Vaudevillians
Cilla The Musical

New Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham, Tues 10 - Sat 14 October; Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent, Tues 14 - Sat 18 November

From Swinging '60s pop star to 21st century national treasure, Cilla Black enjoyed more than 50 glorious years in the showbiz limelight. This brand new celebratory musical takes a look back at the life and times of the Liverpool lass who was christened Priscilla White, and whose career was kickstarted by John Lennon's decision to introduce her to music mogul Brian Epstein. Featuring all of Cilla's best-known hits, including Anyone Who Had A Heart, Alfie, Something Tells Me and Step Inside Love, the show stars newcomer Kara Lily Hayworth in the title role. “When I was 11, I was shopping with my mum, bumped into Cilla and asked for her autograph,” recalls Kara. “I told her I wanted to be an actress - she laughed and said, ‘It’s a tough industry, but if you really work hard and go for it, you’ll be just fine.’ “She was a huge inspiration to me as a child; I grew up watching her on Blind Date every Saturday night with my nan. To be chosen to play her is such an honour, and I’m so excited to be taking on the role.”

Duet For One

The REP, Birmingham, until Sat 7 October
Belinda Lang - a late replacement for Jemma Redgrave - and Oliver Cotton star in this new version of Tom Kempinski's critically acclaimed two-hander. Premiered in 1980 and adapted for the cinema six years later, the play is based on the story of Jacqueline du Pré, the legendary cellist whose life and career were tragically cut short by multiple sclerosis.

About A Bird

mac, Birmingham, Sat 28 October

“Our works are accompanied by a commitment to consistent improvisation,” explain Reset Theatre, the West Midlands company behind this one-act farce. “After all, improv is perpetually relevant and immediate, as well as a little bit of fun.” Reset’s autumn offering is based on the lives of Romantic poets Samuel Taylor Coleridge and William Wordsworth, and on the story of how their groundbreaking composition, Lyrical Ballads, came into being. “About A Bird breathes a manic new life into history,” say Reset. “It tells a story about a temperamental partnership and the nature of creativity. Our works are sometimes inspired by history and classics but are always tailored to the world around us.”

Rita, Sue And Bob Too

Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry, Tues 17 - Sat 21 October

By the time Andrea Dunbar was 20, she had written two critically acclaimed plays - The Arbor, at the age of 15, and the wickedly funny Rita, Sue And Bob Too, four years later. Hailed a genius straight from the slums, Dunbar spent time in a Women's Aid refuge, had three children by three different fathers, developed a serious addiction to alcohol and died of a brain haemorrhage at the age of 29. Both of her plays, but particularly Rita, are shining examples of an extraordinary talent that burned brightly for all too short a time... When best friends Rita and Sue are given a lift home by married Bob after they’ve spent the evening babysitting his kids, they find themselves embarking on a sexual adventure that swiftly spirals out of control... The play’s original director, Max Stafford-Clark, co-helms this major new production.

Coriolanus

Royal Shakespeare Theatre, Stratford-upon-Avon, until Sat 14 October

By comparison with many of his works, Shakespeare’s searing tragedy of political manipulation and revenge is rarely performed - although Ralph Fiennes’ 2011 film version did help the play raise its head above the parapet a little. Telling the story of the eponymous hero-soldier and his fractious and bloody relationship with the people of Rome, Coriolanus is here presented in a future world, and is the final entry in the RSC’s Rome season. Sope Dirisu (pictured) takes the title role.
GREAT SHOWS COMING UP AT WOLVERHAMPTON GRAND THEATRE

TUE 31 OCTOBER
TALON – THE BEST OF EAGLES

WED 1 NOVEMBER
THE SPIRIT OF ALOHA IN CONCERT

FRI 3 NOVEMBER
VAMPIRES ROCK

THU 16 NOVEMBER
FIZZOG PRESENT FREEZIN

SAT 4 NOVEMBER
AN EVENING WITH PAM AYRES

WED 15 NOVEMBER
SOMEONE LIKE YOU THE ADELE SONGBOOK

TUE 21 – SAT 25 NOVEMBER
BILSTON OPERATIC COMPANY PRESENT A CHRISTMAS CAROL

SAT 9 DEC 2017 – SUN 14 JAN 2018
JACK AND THE BEANSTALK

TUE 6 – SAT 24 FEBRUARY
MAMMA MIA!

BOOK ONLINE grandtheatre.co.uk • BOX OFFICE 01902 42 92 12
Austentatious
Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury, Sat 28 October; Bridge House Theatre, Warwick, Fri 17 November

Austentatious returns to the Midlands having garnered plenty of praise on its previous visits to the region. Lighthearted and delightfully throwaway, it sees the performers using audience suggestions to develop a play that not only pays homage to Jane Austen but also generates plenty of laughter along the way.

The company’s previous ‘lost’ Austen masterpieces have included Sixth Sense & Sensibility, Double O Darcy and Mansfield Shark, with no two performances ever the same.

“We’re thrilled to be travelling the length and breadth of the country, rediscovering the lost classics Austen wrote and promptly forgot about,” say Austentatious’s cast of quick-witted comic performers. “We love and admire Jane’s works, and the public deserve an intimate acquaintance with them, particularly the very prescient ones about Donald Trump!”

Wait Until Dark
Lichfield Garrick, Tues 10 - Sat 14 October; Malvern Theatre, Tues 24 - Sat 28 October

With the arrival in her life of conmen searching for a heroin-packed doll, blind housewife Susy Hendrix finds herself fighting to survive... Written by Dial M For Murder playwright Frederick Knott and set in socially turbulent 1960s’ London, Wait Until Dark is best known from its 1967 movie incarnation starring Audrey Hepburn. This latest stage revival stars Prime Suspect’s Jack Ellis and Coronation Street favourite Oliver Mellor.

Cabaret
Malvern Theatre, Tues 10 - Sat 14 October

When a show visits the region which, between its stage and screen versions, boasts multiple Oscars, BAFTAs and Tony Awards, it makes sense to get along and check it out... Written by Dial M For Murder playwright Frederick Knott and set in socially turbulent 1960s’ London, Wait Until Dark is best known from its 1967 movie incarnation starring Audrey Hepburn. This latest stage revival stars Prime Suspect’s Jack Ellis and Coronation Street favourite Oliver Mellor.

Obama And Me
Old joint Stock Theatre, Birmingham, Wed 18 October

Black Brit Sylvia Arthur’s one-woman show contemplates the political landscape of 2017, exploring the meaning of identity, politics, power and belonging ‘in the post-post-racial 21st century’.

Now living and working in Brussels, Sylvia champions the benefits of a borderless EU. But just as America’s first Black president, Barack Obama, faced resistance to his agenda, so too has Sylvia found her own dream crumbling beneath a European tidal wave of nativism, authoritarianism, misogyny and racism.

“I belong wherever I decide to belong,” explains Sylvia in an interview with The Fem, “but whether or not I’m accepted there, or feel welcome, has a definite impact on one’s sense of belonging.

“It’s this space between belonging and acceptance, between the internal and the external, that I try to explore and excavate in my writing.”

The Masks Of Aphra Behn
Stafford Gatehouse Theatre, Fri 20 October

In the late 1660s, in the midst of the Second Anglo-Dutch War, a young woman returned home to England from a stint as a spy in Antwerp, only to be denied payment for her work by King Charles II... The details of Aphra Behn’s colourful life are sketchy, but it was around this time, crippled by debt and seeking a new source of income, that she began to write plays. Behn would go on to become the country’s first professional female playwright, achieving commercial success in the 1670s with her carnival comedy, The Rover. The play was last year revived to great critical acclaim by the Royal Shakespeare Company. Claire Louise Amias stars as Aphra in this well-reviewed one-woman show.
Theatre previews for younger audiences from around the region

Awful Auntie
Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent, Wed 4 - Sat 7 October; Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury, Wed 18 - Sat 21 October; New Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham, Wed 22 - Sun 26 November

Frights, fights and friendships are the order of the day in this world premiere of David Walliams’ much-loved story. At the centre of the tale is a young girl named Stella. The sole heir to Saxby Hall, she finds herself in danger of losing both her inheritance and her life when she comes up against her thoroughly unpleasant Aunt Alberta. Produced by the team behind the hugely successful stage adaptation of Walliams’ Gangsta Granny, the show comes complete with a very old car, a very large owl, a very small ghost and plenty of opportunity to enjoy a jolly good chuckle.

The New Adventures Of Puss In Boots
Wolverhampton Grand Theatre, Mon 23 October

If your kids are ‘feline’ in the mood for a singalong show boasting plenty of audience participation and no shortage of music, magic and mayhem, then this brand new offering should leave them purring like the cat that got the cream.

Telling the terrific tale of a marvellous moggy who helps make his master the top, er, dog, the show stars Grand Theatre pantomime dame Ian Adams and Cats star Julie Paton.

64 Zoo Lane
Old Rep Theatre, Birmingham, Wed 25 - Sun 29 October

Branding itself as ‘a perfect introduction to theatre’ for children aged three and older, this brand new family-friendly musical is based on the award-winning British-French children’s television series of the same name. Coming complete with catchy songs, puppets and ‘loads of fun’, the show features all the telly programme’s favourite characters, including Georgina the Giraffe, Nelson the Elephant, Molly the Hippopotamus, Giggles & Tickle and, of course, the star of the show, seven-year-old Lucy.

The Girl And The Giraffe
mac, Birmingham, Tues 24 - Thurs 26 October

This thought-provoking Half Moon Theatre/Floods Of Ink production finds a girl making friends with a giraffe who really isn’t very well. And not even bandages, a cup of tea and a magnificent cake make him feel any better. The giraffe’s problems go deeper, and it’s an altogether different kind of help that he needs...

Told from a child’s perspective, The Girl And The Giraffe combines ‘charming’ puppetry, an ‘enchanting’ soundscape and ‘beautiful’ storytelling to carefully and sensitively explore themes around the subject of depression. The production is suitable for children aged between three and six.

Monstersaurus
The Roses, Tewkesbury, Wed 25 October; The Core, Solihull, Fri 27 October

Having created a whole world of whacky inventions and incredible monsters, young inventor Monty doesn’t know what to do with them all...

The creators of Aliens Love Underpants make a return with this ‘monster-ously good show’, which comes complete with original music and plenty of audience participation.

Doris The Dragon
Stourbridge Town Hall, Tues 24 October

Doris’s new home for down-and-out dragons - a dingy old castle whose owners have moved away - is proving to be a big hit with the dragon population. But when the members of her brand new fire-breathing family take turns looking after an unhatched baby dragon egg, it isn’t long before all manner of mischief ensues... Boasting ‘giddy games, panto-style slapstick and lots of audience interaction’, this 100-minute show - suitable for children aged 10 and younger - has been written by Jonathan Blazer, a former producer of Sooty and Rainbow theatre tours.
The UK & Ireland's biggest modern pop culture events

MCM Birmingham Comic Con

18-19 Nov 2017 nec

#mcmBHM17

@MCMComicCon

Meet the voice of Ash Ketchum!

Kids go free

Tickets on sale now
mcmcomiccon.com

*Kids Go Free. Children 10 and under go free if accompanied by a paying adult. Max 2 free children per adult, applies to General Entry tickets from 11am each day.
Sir Peter Wright’s

The Nutcracker

★★★★★
BIRMINGHAM POST

★★★★★
SUNDAY TELEGRAPH

★★★★★
THE STAGE

the perfect festive treat

BOOK NOW

BIRMINGHAM ROYAL BALLET

24 November –
13 December

H BIRMINGHAM HIPPODROME
0844 338 5000
birminghamhippodrome.com

Calls cost 4.5p per minute plus your phone company’s access charge
Motionhouse’s new production will be aiming to spark our interest as it explores the power of electricity in our lives, loves and logic.

Charge explores the energy in our bodies and its relationship to the world around us in a dynamic combination of dance-circus and digital technology.

Forming the third part of a trilogy inspired by the earth and created by Motionhouse founder and artistic director Kevin Finnan, Charge follows the phenomenal success of Scattered and Broken.

“I wanted to make a show about energy and I wanted to tell it through the human body,” Kevin says. “I became really interested in the idea of the human body as an electrical system and its relationship to the world we live in. It’s all a flow and exchange of energy. “We tend to think of energy as something external to us rather than something we are part of. But as soon as you start to look at it there’s a sense of wonder at how the body operates as energy.

“The idea of making a show about energy has been in my mind for a very, very long time but its actual form and the commitment to making it started about three years ago. That’s when I started a general period of research and it started coming together.”

Kevin’s research saw him working with professors at the University of Oxford as he sought to understand more of the mechanics of energy and of how humanity has discovered and comprehended electricity in human beings and in the world around us. “I was looking for a poetic narrative that would tell the story of our relationship to energy,” he says. “And what I discovered was that it all comes down to a simple thing – ultimately thought is an electrical process. If your brain wasn’t able to pass electrical signals around then there would be no love, there would be no memory, there would be no empathy. And that is so fundamental. When you turn on a light bulb you don’t think ‘without energy I couldn’t love someone’ but it’s true.

“So I began to delve into a story where energy is the movement of our lives. A city is a hive of energy and moves things around by energy and we are familiar with that but we also have an internal energy hive in which energy moves from cell to cell. And so I began to overlap things. If you look at a map of a city at night or the planet from outer space and you see it all lighting up, well you have the same process with the human brain. When the brain is imaged, it’s a massive fluctuation of light.

“It’s also fascinating that with various mental conditions, things like Alzheimer’s, when they scan people’s brains it’s like a city with certain areas blocked out. What happens is that areas of the brain just go dark and the messages that should pass through just don’t go and gradually you’re not making short term memory and you forget the ones you love. It’s incredibly sad.”

Kevin then looked at how to tell these stories in a dance piece.

“From all of this research I could feel the strands of the show coming together. It’s about how the body is a cauldron of energy living in a cauldron of energy, which is our society, and then how all the subtlety of our lives is all electrical signals in our minds. So I began to make the poem that can be told in movement - and dance-circus is the perfect form for that because the body is energetic.”

And added into this cauldron are elements of humanity’s relationship with scientific discoveries around electricity.

“The first animation of tissue with an electrical charge was a massive conceptual shift in a society which understood, when it saw frogs’ legs twitching, that we were electrical beings,” says Kevin. “This was a massive revelation and there was an outbreak of wonder.

“And in Mary Shelley’s book Frankenstein, it’s not about mad scientists; it’s this idea that electrical energy is within us. With the information they had at the time the idea that if biological elements were arranged and given energy it could create a life force was an interesting concept.

“This whole opening up of humanity in the beginning to grasp that we are electrical is fascinating. There’s a moment of comprehension of us being electrified beings and then something more once consciousness is present. That had to be part of the story – how we understand we are electric beings but then how we kind of forget that.”

Founded in 1988 and based in Leamington Spa in Warwickshire, Motionhouse has built up a reputation for strongly physical and dynamic work, which blends dance, spectacle, circus and often digital projection. Kevin was keen for Charge to include these elements.

“I’m very interested in working with film as a digital element both on the environment and on the body. How you interact with the film is really important,” he says. “Film can take you to places you’re not making short term memory and you really love film in theatre but it is two-dimensional, so for us it’s all about ‘how do we stretch that into a three-dimensional sense of space?’ It’s about how we interact with the imagery and the realities that we are able to create.

“For a show like Charge where one minute we are in a spinning urban environment and then for the next part of the scene we are inside the human heart and then in someone’s house and then within someone’s brain, that kind of mercurial transmission between places is really only possible with a real interaction with digital.”

Having performed at venues and festivals both nationally and internationally, Motionhouse has become one of the leading independent dance companies in the UK. Founded by Kevin with his partner Louise Richards, former performer and now executive director of the company, Kevin says the priority has always been producing top quality and innovative work. This has seen them performing alongside diggers and JCBs, using giant sandcastles and taking to the air.

“With the hubris of the young you think ‘I want people to see my work’ but you don’t really see beyond that when you first start up,” recalls Kevin. “You really don’t see beyond the next show – you are just struggling to build your reputation so you can get the money for the next show and then the next show. But you have a passion to make your work. And for us, it was always a passion to express ourselves through our work.

“Largely due to Louise guiding and developing the company, we are now in a position where the company is nearly 30 years old and what is really exciting for both of us is that, as we approach 30 years, we are more successful than we have ever been. We are more followed and more people come to our shows than ever happened in the past.

“It’s a massively significant milestone for the company to be achieving 30 years and to be touring and growing and developing is incredible really. A lot of this is down to the hard work of everyone in the company.

“We seem to have expanded on three fronts – we’ve just been in Denmark working on a massive aerial piece working with aeroplanes and skydivers - so something really huge scale, then we’re making Charge and we’ve already got two tours booked and our previous works are still touring and then our outdoor work has gone from strength to strength.”

Motionhouse is supported using public funding by the National Lottery through Arts Council England. Charge is supported by Warwick Arts Centre, The Rothschild Foundation, the Ernest Cook Trust and TippingPoint Stories of Charge with the Official Energy Partner of Charge being First Utility.

And the company’s success has been supported by Arts Council England which has granted Motionhouse a 38 per cent uplift in funding for 2018-22. Kevin says this is a testament to the company’s success.

“We have ever-expanding audience figures which is tremendous and the kind of physicality that we are exploring in our work really chimes with people,” says Kevin. “We want to challenge our audiences, we want to engage them, we want to thrill them, we want to delight them and we want to share with them.

“We are a very audience-centric company and I think that is a large part of why we were awarded the uplift. The testament is the wide range of audience who come to our work. We know a lot of people who see our shows haven’t seen a dance show before and when we do our outside work we touch huge numbers of people who may never have been in a theatre.”

Motionhouse’s Charge will be showing at Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry from Wed 4 - Sat 7 October; The Roses, Tewkesbury on Tues 31 October and Birmingham Hippodrome, Tues 13 March, 2018.
Dance previews from around the region

Birmingham Royal Ballet: Aladdin
Birmingham Hippodrome, Tues 3 - Sat 7 October

As great introductions to ballet go, David Bintley’s Aladdin is right up there with the best of them. Recipient of widespread critical acclaim when first mounted a handful of years ago, the show is a fantastic way to get your kids in the mood for the soon-to-be-upon-them magic of Christmas.

Bintley’s choreography, the dancers’ exceptional performances, the stunning set designs of Dick Bird and a magnificent score by the Bafta Award-winning Carl Davis are beautifully combined to create a truly breathtaking production. Indeed, it’s hard to imagine how the show could be any more magical even if the genie of the lamp himself had conjured it up.

Motionhouse: Charge
Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry, Wed 4 - Sat 7 October; The Roses, Tewkesbury, Tues 31 October; Birmingham Hippodrome, Tues 13 March, 2018

Leamington-based Motionhouse’s new multimedia show about energy is the third element of Kevin Finnan’s ‘Earth Trilogy’. It develops on the theme of ‘man’s relationship with water and the earth’, as previously explored in Scattered (2009) and Broken (2013).

Making use of digital projections to create an on-stage world in which dancers and images interact seamlessly, the show features six performers using dance and acrobatics to explore the human body, ‘tracing the incredible story of energy in our lives’.

“Charge is an incredible collaboration between artists and scientists,” explains Motionhouse co-founder Finnan. “I find the science behind the show fascinating, and I want to use my inspiration from this to create a presentation for audiences to enjoy - but which also makes them think about the role that energy plays in our lives.”

Autin Dance Theatre: A Positive Life
mac, Birmingham, Tue 17 October

Project-based professional company Autin Dance Theatre make a welcome return to mac with a show that ‘delivers an uplifting and engaging message on self-love, sexual health and sex education.’ An immersive theatre experience, inspired by the individual journeys of five characters around the issues of sex, love and relationships, the show brings together dance, physical theatre and spoken word...

Birmingham-based Autin Dance have been performing across the Midlands and beyond since 2013. “We draw on contemporary social issues and events to make work which is beautifully crafted, accessible and relevant,” says founder Johnny Autin.

“The company is gaining a reputation for creating powerful performances, catapulting audiences into intense dance-worlds which we hope will resonate with them long after they leave the auditorium.”

Acosta Danza
Birmingham Hippodrome, Wed 18 - Sat 21 October

Ballet star Carlos Acosta’s Havana-based company stops off in Birmingham as part of its first ever UK tour.

Comprising performers trained in ballet and contemporary dance styles, the ensemble is building its reputation by presenting programmes of work which feature both new and existing pieces by Cuban choreographers.

The UK show, which sees Acosta himself making a guest appearance, includes works by Cuban choreographer Marianela Boán and Sadler’s Wells’ Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui.
Birmingham Repertory Theatre is getting into the Christmas spirit this month by staging the world premiere of Nativity! The Musical. Based on the popular UK film franchise, the show is written and directed by Debbie Isitt, who also created the movies...
In the world of Birmingham-born, Coventry-based writer and director Debbie Isitt, the past 10 years have been a bit like the White Witch’s Narnia in reverse: it’s always Christmas and only occasionally winter. But with three Nativity films now behind her, a fourth one in the works and a hotly anticipated stage musical version premiering at the Birmingham REP this month, is the Queen of Britain’s festive-film scene starting to tire of Christmas every day? Not likely.

“I just love it!” she exclaims. “I really genuinely love Christmas and I always have, so doing it all the time is brilliant!”

And really, you’d have to love it. If you’re the sort of person who wants to tear your own ears off the second shops start playing carols in November, best not to even imagine writing Christmas songs the whole year round. On the other hand, if you’re coming to see Nativity! The Musical this autumn, you’d better be ready for a lot of them, since the stage show features all the songs from all the films plus about as many new ones.

“It really does change the dynamic. It gives you much more insight into the characters and their backstories. And the emotions are more intense, like with the love story between Mr Maddens and Jennifer - it feels even bigger now because they’re singing duets.”

“Hollywood Are Coming is the big Act One song. When Mr Poppy overhears the rumours and spreads them around town, that grows into a great big feelgood song. And there’s a really sweet song towards the end of the first act, which is the letter to Santa. So there’s a lot of variety.”

As in the films, the child cast is made up of ordinary children with no professional acting training, all of them from around the West Midlands. Of course, an all-singing, all-dancing live show is a more demanding ask of primary school-aged kids than a film that can be cut, re-shot and edited - particularly given Isitt’s signature improvisational style.

Is it all starting to feel as crazy as one of the nativities in her stories?

“A little bit! And it can only get crazier. A lot of the things we did in the film are more difficult to get working on stage - like the flying. But that’s what makes it fun. It’s so boring just to find your mark and say your line. In this case, everyone knows the story, so they can steal lines from the film, but they can also change them and add new ones. It’s been a bit of trial and error in rehearsals, but they’ll no doubt keep coming out with things that surprise me every night.”

“We’ve got 27 children in total, split up into three teams of nine: there’s an Oakmoor nine, a St Bernadette’s nine and an understudy nine, and they rotate. So there’s an awful lot for them to learn, and it’s a big challenge to make sure all the teams are getting enough attention and aren’t forgetting which school they’re in. But they’ll all be virtuoso performers by the time they’re finished with us!”

As if that weren’t enough to keep the crew on their toes, there are also plans involving live animals.

“Obviously if it was left up to me, I’d be saying, ‘Yes, bring camels and walk them through the auditorium!’ Unfortunately, in theatre, there are lots of health-and-safety rules, which is probably a good thing for the animals. But there will be something - I won’t say what!”

It’ll be alright on the night, as they say. And even if it’s not, in a story like this, it’s all part of the charm, adding to the comedy that’s made the films such a resounding commercial success.

“It was a big surprise to me that the first one became as well-loved as it did. I think part of that is the fact that the children get an opportunity to see themselves reflected on the big screen, which is so rare! The great thing about adapting something they already know is that they’re so excited to be part of it. They all come in talking about how much they love the films, and you get the feeling that they’re living their dream, which just lifts the whole rehearsal. It’s fantastic!”

Isitt’s unusual way of working is partly a product of her own acting training. As a directionless 16-year-old, she was “sent to Coventry - literally!” to do an acting course, based on her mum’s suggestion that she was “quite dramatic”. Though she soon turned to writing and directing with her own company, Snarling Beasities, that grounding is still manifest in the respect she has for actors, and in her lack of preciousness about her scripts - for her, it’s more about the subtext anyway.

Yet for all her success since, she’s never felt the lure of London. On the contrary: from local schools to Coventry Cathedral, she’s proud to be showing the nation what the Midlands has to offer.

“It’s a brilliant region because it has everything I need. In terms of locations, we have the most diverse landscape, from big cities to beautiful countryside. We also have really diverse communities, and I like to work with a lot of non-actors - adults as well as children.

“At the moment we still don’t really have the financial support to keep a lot of our skilled people here. But the great thing about touring this show is that you get to go around the country talking about the Midlands. I think that’s really important. Now, every time I start a new project, people are keen for me to keep working here because they know it’s vital that everyone has a voice and that we don’t just keep repeating the same kind of messages with the same people.”

Nativity! The Musical is at Birmingham REP from Friday 20 October to Sunday 12 November. Debbie Isitt’s adaptation of 101 Dalmatians also shows at the REP, from Thursday 30 November to Saturday 13 January.
AN ARENA SPECTACULAR

PETER PAN

CHRISTMAS IN NEVERLAND

BRADLEY WALSH  MARTIN KEMP

{Image of characters: Peter Pan and Captain Hook}

Arena
BIRMINGHAM

20 - 24 DECEMBER 2017

theticketfactory.com  0844 33 88 222

Presented by arrangement with Great Ormond Street Hospital Children’s Charity and Samuel French Limited
Festive shows across the Midlands...

TREASURE ISLAND Classic tale of buccaneers and buried gold, featuring live music, humour & puppetry, Sat 18 Nov - Sat 27 Jan, New Vic Theatre, Newcastle-under-Lyme

ALICE IN WONDERLAND Embark on a magical adventure through the rabbit hole in Lewis Carroll’s classic tale, Tues 20 - Sat 30 Dec, The Old Rep, Birmingham

CINDERELLA Featuring Ian Lauchlan as director and Dame, Wed 22 Nov - Sat 13 Jan, Belgrade Theatre, Coventry

A CHRISTMAS CAROL Phil Davies, Kara Tointon and Adrian Edmondson star in Rachel Kavanagh’s version of Dickens’ famous festive tale of redemption and compassion, Mon 27 Nov - Sun 31 December, The NEC (16 - 19 November). With more than 350 stalls bursting with unique and unusual gifts, it’s a one-stop shop to help you get your Christmas shopping wrapped up in plenty of time.

SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS Featuring Brad Pitt and Eric Smith, Thurs 30 Nov - Sat 6 Jan, Lichfield Garrick

ALADDIN Starring Jonathan Wilkes and Christian Patterson, Fri 15 Dec - Thurs 21 Dec, Bridge House Theatre, Warwick

THE SNOW DRAGON Tall Stories present a seasonal show featuring toe-tapping songs and lots of laughter for everyone aged three-plus, Thurs 14 - Fri 15 Dec, Bridge House Theatre, Warwick

TREASURE ISLAND Classic tale of buccaneers and buried gold, featuring live music, humour & puppetry, Sat 18 Nov - Sat 27 Jan, New Vic Theatre, Newcastle-under-Lyme

THE ONE HUNDRED AND ONE DALMATIANS Debbie Issitt’s staging of Dodie Smith’s delightful tale, Thurs 30 Nov - Sat 13 Jan, The REP, Birmingham

RAYMOND BRIGGS’ FATHER CHRISTMAS Featuring live music, songs and playful puppetry, Thurs 30 Nov - Sat 30 Dec, mac, mac

THE GOOD, THE BAD AND THE UGLY SISTERS A rootin’ tootin’ spaghetti western where the glass slippers have spurrs, and the bells chime for high noon, Sat 2 - Sat 30 Dec, Belgrade Theatre, Coventry

SLEEPING BEAUTY Sat 2 - Sun 31 Dec, Royal Spa Centre, Leamington Spa

SLEEPING BEAUTY Mon 4 Dec - Sun 7 Jan, Swan Theatre, Worcester

PETER PAN Swashbuckling pantomime adventure starring Bernie Clifton, Adam Kelly and Charlotte Griffiths, Wed 6 - Sun 31 Dec, The Place, Oakengates Theatre, Telford

SNOW WHITE Starring Nicole Faraday and Britain’s Got Talent winner Jai McDowall, Wed 6 - Sun 31 Dec, Palace Theatre, Redditch

SANTA’S MIXED-UP MARTIAN Featuring Santa, Ellie, Rudolph and a very friendly visitor from outer space, Thurs 7 - Sun 24 Dec, Belgrade Theatre, Coventry

WIND IN THE WILLOWS Staging of Kenneth Grahame’s much-loved riverside tale, Thurs 7 Dec - Sat 6 Jan, The Albany Theatre, Coventry

ROBIN HOOD Rock ’n’ roll version of a traditional adventure story, Fri 8 Dec - Sun 7 Jan, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre

CRIMES ON THE CHRISTMAS EXPRESS Alternative Christmas comedy for adults, Fri 8 Dec - Sat 6 Jan, Lichfield Garrick

DEAR SANTA Festive tale for younger audiences from the author of well-loved children’s book Dear Zoo, Sun 17 - Sun 24 Dec, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre

CINDERELLA Starring soul diva Beverley Knight, Strictly star Danny Mac, Suzanne Shaw, comedy duo The Grumbleweeds, Hippodrome favourite Matt Slack, and Ceri Dupree and Phil Randall as the Ugly Sisters, Tues 19 Dec - Sun 28 Jan, Birmingham Hippodrome

PETER PAN: CHRISTMAS IN NEVERLAND Starring Bradley Walsh as Mr Smee, Martin Kemp as Captain Hook & Matt Knight as Peter Pan, Thurs 20 - Sun 24 Dec, Arena Birmingham

SKELLIG David Almond’s haunting story of mystery, imagination and childhood... Thurs 20 - Sun 30 Dec, Old Joint Stock Theatre, Birmingham

THE SNOW DRAGON Tall Stories present a seasonal show featuring toe-tapping songs and lots of laughter for everyone aged three-plus, Thurs 21 Dec - Sun 7 Jan, The Patrick Centre, Birmingham Hippodrome

SNOW WHITE Fri 22 - Sat 30 Dec, Prince of Wales Centre, Cannock

SANTA’S CHRISTMAS WISH Festive musical adventure for two-to-seven-year-olds, Sun 24 Dec, Artrix, Bromsgrove

THE ADORABLE SNOWMAN Playful and inventive take on the well-known legend. Perfect for ages three-plus, Wed 27 Dec, Artrix, Bromsgrove

---

Helping you to plan ahead for the festive season...

Is that the not-too-distant jingling of Christmas bells we can hear?... Yep, that’s right, ‘the season to be jolly’ is once again on its merry old way, and will no doubt be upon us in the blink of a red-nosed reindeer’s eye! At the time of going to print, for instance, we’re just 51 short days away from the opening of the Christmas Markets in Birmingham City Centre, and 58 days away from the launch of the region’s first panto - Cinderella at Coventry’s Belgrade Theatre.

In short, it’s time to start thinking about how best to celebrate and enjoy the fabulous festive season. If you’re struggling for ideas, fear not - there are plenty of fun-filled events taking place across the region...

Looking for some Christmas gifts inspiration? Then check out next month’s Festive Gift Fair at the NEC (16 - 19 November). With more than 350 stalls bursting with unique and unusual gifts, it’s a one-stop shop to help you get your Christmas shopping wrapped up in plenty of time.

Wanting to sample a traditional Christmas? Then head to Blits Hill in Shropshire or the Black Country Living Museum in Dudley, where they’ll be celebrating the season of good will in classic Victorian style.

Let it snow! One place where the fluffy white stuff is guaranteed is SnowDome in Staffordshire. The venue’s Santa’s Winter Wonderland attraction (17 November - 31 December) is always a seasonal hit, coming complete with real snow trail, an all-new Santa Show and real reindeer.

And with pantos aplenty reporting record early ticket sales this year, now’s the time to book yourself a theatre seat. So if you’re on the look-out for some on-stage yuletide magic, check out the below list of festive shows taking place at venues across the region this Christmas...

---

whatsonlive.co.uk 35
Jack and the Beanstalk

Traditional pantomime fun for all the family.

Celebrating one final dollop of sparkling fun and silliness from Malcolm Stent

Fri 8 - Sun 31 December

BOOK ONLINE: www.thecoretheatrelesthedirect.co.uk

BOX OFFICE: 0121 704 6962

Snow White

Fantastic fun for all the family

22nd - 30th December

WRITTEN & DIRECTED BY GEORGE CRITCHLEY
MUSICAL SUPERVISION BY ANDREW MORRISON

Christmas Season

A season of events from 25 Nov - 24 Dec

West Midlands, DY1 4SQ

0121 520 8054

bclm.com/Christmas

Box Office:

01543 578 762
panto.princeofwales.live
Aladdin
David Bintley’s critically acclaimed production ventures into a fantastical world of genies, flying carpets and magic lamps...
Lachlan Monaghan and Yaoqian Shang are dancers with Birmingham Royal Ballet. Together they will be performing the lead roles of Aladdin and the Princess Badr al-Budur in Aladdin, which tours to Salford, Birmingham, Plymouth and London. After dancing with the ballet company for six and five years respectively, they are starting to break into principal roles and discover what it means to be at the top of their profession. Here, they talk about Aladdin, coping with long hours of rehearsal and what makes the perfect partnership.

To start, tell us a little about yourselves:

YS: My name is Yaoqian Shang, I am Chinese and I’m a Soloist with Birmingham Royal Ballet. I started dancing properly at Beijing Dance Academy when I was 9 years old and went to the Royal Ballet School when I was 16.

LM: I’m Lachlan Monaghan, I’m Australian and I’m a First Artist with Birmingham Royal Ballet. I started tap and jazz when I was about 11 because of my sister, and ballet when I was about 13. I went to the McDonald College in Sydney and then to the Royal Ballet School when I was 17.

Will audiences be familiar with the story of Aladdin, or is it quite different from the famous Disney film?

L: It is quite different. In the ballet our Director David Bintley goes back to the original story from the Arabian Nights rather than the Disney version. We don’t have a monkey or a talking parrot but we do have flying carpets and genies!

Y: It’s definitely important to have a good sense of humour and to have fun.

Alongside Aladdin and the Princess, do you have other roles you need to learn?

L: I’m finding it difficult with the Djinn, Aladdin and also one of his two friends. There are a lot of scenes where all of those characters are on stage at the same time. For example, there are times where Aladdin and the Djinn are in the same scene, both fighting the Mahgrib, and the moves are one count after each other. It’s certainly testing my brain, but it’s really fun.

There must be fine balance between relaxing after a long day of rehearsals, and thinking over the work you’ve done that day. How do you manage that?

L: I prefer to just switch off. I like to think about the work before I do it rather than later. There can be a lot of corrections, and if you keep thinking about them you just pile extra pressure on yourself, and I really don’t like that. The next day, before I have rehearsals, I’ll go through corrections then and see what I have to work on.

Y: Immediately after rehearsal, I like to reflect a little bit on the positive things. There’s always going to be something that’s gone wrong – I don’t think you ever walk away going ‘well, that was perfect’ – but that’s the beauty of performing a character role because every day can be different. The way we play Aladdin and the Princess in our first show will be different from the way we play it in our second show. That’s what’s exciting – the growth, and the change, and responding to each other. I like to switch off as well; watch TV, listen to music, do all those normal things. It’s good to chill out and remind yourself that, as brilliant as ballet is, there’s a big world out there.

Finally, if you weren’t a ballet dancer, what would you be doing?

L: I’m very interested in photography. I think being a dancer teaches us so many skills, and being a dancer turned photographer is rare. I also play piano and my dream is to one day choreograph my own ballet, and also write the score. That’s my ultimate goal.

---

Birmingham Royal Ballet present David Bintley’s Aladdin at Birmingham Hippodrome from Tuesday 3 to Saturday 7 October

---

What do you think makes a good partnership, both in rehearsal and on stage?

Y: It’s definitely important to have fun. We’ve had a lot of laughs.

L: There are some quite challenging lifts in Aladdin where, holding her weight, I’ll have to go down on my knee and drop to the floor. There have been some quite heavy crash landings to laugh about. I think it’s really important to have a good sense of humour and to have fun.

---

Birmingham Royal Ballet present David Bintley’s Aladdin at Birmingham Hippodrome from Tuesday 3 to Saturday 7 October

---

L: Yaoqian is brilliant; she’s just such a natural dancer. There’ve been so many rehearsals where we hadn’t even tried bits before, and decided to just do a section with the music. We’d do it and it would work, so we’d just keep going. We enjoy dancing together so much that each section just falls into place. That’s what audiences seem to remember – the rapport of a partnership, and the way you look at each other.
Blade Runner 2049  CERT tbc
Starring Ryan Gosling, Harrison Ford, Ana de Armas, Mackenzie Davis, Jared Leto, Robin Wright, Dave Bautista, Lennie James, Edward James Olmos, Barkhad Abdi, Hiam Abbass Directed by Denis Villeneuve (USA)

It’s been a long time coming. Regarded as one of the seminal sci-fi films of all time, Ridley Scott’s original Blade Runner presented a grim but credible view of the year 2019 (from the perspective of 1982). The sequel jumps 30 years on and features Ryan Gosling as a younger blade runner (or android tracker) who discovers a frightening secret that could signal the end of mankind. So he searches for his legendary predecessor Rick Deckard (Harrison Ford), who has been missing for three decades...

The new director is none other than Denis Villeneuve, who, on the evidence of Incendies, Prisoners, Sicario and especially Arrival, is a worthy successor to Ridley. We don’t know yet what role Mackenzie Davis plays, but she displays more than a passing resemblance to Daryl Hannah, who was Pris in the original. In 3D.
Released Thurs 5 October

CRITIC’S CHOICE

The Glass Castle  CERT 12a (127mins)
Starring Brie Larson, Woody Harrelson, Max Greenfield, Sarah Snook, Naomi Watts
Directed by Destin Daniel Cretton (USA)

Based on Jeannette Walls’ 2005 memoir, The Glass Castle tells of the author’s unconventional childhood. Leading a largely nomadic life, Jeannette grew up in abject poverty with her eccentric mother (Watts), alcoholic father (Harrelson) and three siblings.
Released Fri 6 October

The Mountain Between Us  CERT tbc
Starring Idris Elba, Kate Winslet, Dermot Mulroney, Beau Bridges
Directed by Hany Abu-Assad (USA)

Based on the 2011 novel by Charles Martin, this survival romance sees Idris and Kate forced to rely on each other after their plane crashes in the snowy High Uintas Wilderness of Utah.
From the director of the Oscar-nominated Palestinian films Paradise Now (2005) and Omar (2013).
Released Fri 6 October

Loving Vincent  CERT 12a (93 mins)
With the voices of Douglas Booth, Jerome Flynn, Helen McCrory, Chris O’Dowd, Saoirse Ronan, Eleanor Tomlinson Directed by Dorota Kobiela and Hugh Welchman (UK/Poland)

Van Gogh would certainly approve. This is not just a biography of the troubled, legendary painter but the first fully painted animated film.
Each of the film’s 65,000 frames is an actual oil painting on canvas, applying the same technique that Van Gogh himself used.
Released Fri 13 October

Film highlights released in October...
Film highlights released in October...

Thor: Ragnarok
CERT tbc
Starring Chris Hemsworth, Tom Hiddleston, Cate Blanchett, Idris Elba, Jeff Goldblum, Tessa Thompson, Karl Urban, Mark Ruffalo, Anthony Hopkins, Benedict Cumberbatch
Directed by Taika Waititi (USA)

The world must be in trouble again. Actually, it’s the Norse domain of Asgard that’s looking doomed, but before the mighty Thor can put things to rights - and battle the loathsome Hela (Cate Blanchett) - he must do battle with the Hulk, his former ally. It’s complicated, okay? But what a cast: Ms Blanchett as the Norse goddess of death (a nice role if you can get it), fellow Oscar-winner Anthony Hopkins as Odin and Benedict Cumberbatch as Doctor Strange. The director Taika Waititi previously brought us the highly acclaimed New Zealand film Hunt For The Wilderpeople (2016). In 3D.
Released Tues 26 October

The Lego Ninjago Movie
CERT tbc
With the voices of Dave Franco, Justin Theroux, Michael Peña, Kumail Nanjiani, Abbi Jacobson, Jackie Chan
Directed by Charlie Bean, Paul Fisher and Bob Logan (USA/Denmark)

The chunky Danish figures that were used to lampoon various superheroes in The Lego Movie (2014) and The Lego Batman Movie (2017) now take a swipe at the martial arts genre. Borrowing from the Lego Ninjago brand, this animated feature tells the story of six high school kids who struggle with their alma mater during the day but as ninja warriors kick major butt at night. In 3D.
Released Fri 13 October

The Party
CERT tbc
Starring Patricia Clarkson, Bruno Ganz, Emily Mortimer, Cillian Murphy, Kristin Scott Thomas, Timothy Spall
Directed by Sally Potter (UK)

A black comedy from the director of Orlando (1992) and The Tango Lesson (1997), The Party starts with a merry, congratulatory get-together to toast the appointment of the new health minister (Scott Thomas). But you know what parties are like... The critics loved it.
Released Fri 13 October

The Ritual
CERT 15 (94 mins)
Starring Rafe Spall, Arsher Ali Robert James-Collier, Sam Troughton
Directed by David Bruckner (UK)

If you go down to the woods... Here, we have another reunion (cf. Girls Trip, Rough Night), but this time the outcome for a quartet of old college friends is a little more supernatural and sinister...
Released Fri 13 October

The Snowman
CERT tbc
Starring Michael Fassbender, Rebecca Ferguson, Charlotte Gainsbourg, Val Kilmer, JK Simmons, Toby Jones
Directed by Tomas Alfredson (UK/USA)

Not to be confused with the Raymond Briggs cartoon, this is actually based on the chilling 2007 Norwegian novel by Jo Nesbø. Michael Fassbender plays Detective Harry Hole, who follows up the disappearance of a woman whose pink scarf is found wrapped round the neck of a snowman. Tomas Alfredson previously directed the highly acclaimed 2011 film version of Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy.
Released Fri 13 October
The Death Of Stalin
CERT 15 (107 mins)
Starring Steve Buscemi, Paddy Considine, Rupert Friend, Michael Palin, Andrea Riseborough, Jeffrey Tambor
Directed by Armando Iannucci (UK/France)
When Joseph Vissarionovich Stalin shuffled off this mortal coil, a power vacuum - and a shambles - resulted in the Kremlin’s corridors of power. Having dissected British politics in his TV satire The Thick Of It, the writer-director Armando Iannucci now turns his attention to Russia. And while he lays on the gags, he’s not afraid to confront the horror, either.
Released Fri 20 October

Happy Death Day
CERT tbc
Starring Jessica Rothe, Israel Broussard, Ruby Modine, Rachel Matthews
Directed by Christopher B Landon (USA)
Think Groundhog Day with a horrific twist: poor Tree (Rothe) is forced to re-live the day she died at the hands of a sicko in a mask and then wakes up to live her whole last day again.
What’s really sad is that it’s her birthday - and each day she is killed in a different way.
Released Fri 20 October

Marshall
CERT 15 (118 mins)
Starring Chadwick Boseman, Josh Gad, Kate Hudson, Dan Stevens, Sterling K Brown, James Cromwell
Directed by Reginald Hudlin (USA)
Thurgood Marshall (Boseman) was the first African-American justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. This is his story. Incidentally, Chadwick Boseman has previously played on film the American footballer Floyd Little, the baseball star Jackie Robinson and the singer James Brown.
Released Fri 20 October

Call Me By Your Name
CERT 15 (132 mins)
Starring Armie Hammer, Timothée Chalamet, Michael Stuhlbarg, Amira Casar, Esther Garrel
Directed by Luca Guadagnino (Italy/USA/Brazil/France)
Based on the novel by André Aciman, this coming-of-age drama is set in north Italy during the summer of 1983. There, the 17-year-old Elio Perlman (Chalamet) lives an enchanted life reading and playing classical music. Then his world is turned upside down when he meets the handsome and charming American academic Oliver (Hammer), who’s staying at his parents’ villa.
Released Fri 27 October

Jigsaw
CERT 18 (109 mins)
Starring Tobin Bell, Mandela Van Peebles, Laura Vandervoort, Brittany Allen, Callum Keith Rennie
Directed by The Spierig Brothers (USA)
It was all meant to end with Saw 3D: The Final Chapter (2010). But you know what studios are like. Jigsaw is the eighth instalment in the Saw franchise and focuses on a series of murders that match the modus operandi of the twisted John Kramer (aka Jigsaw). But hasn’t Kramer been dead for over a decade?
Released Fri 27 October

The Death Of Stalin
CERT 15 (107 mins)
Starring Steve Buscemi, Paddy Considine, Rupert Friend, Michael Palin, Andrea Riseborough, Jeffrey Tambor
Directed by Armando Iannucci (UK/France)
When Joseph Vissarionovich Stalin shuffled off this mortal coil, a power vacuum - and a shambles - resulted in the Kremlin’s corridors of power. Having dissected British politics in his TV satire The Thick Of It, the writer-director Armando Iannucci now turns his attention to Russia. And while he lays on the gags, he’s not afraid to confront the horror, either.

Happy Death Day
CERT tbc
Starring Jessica Rothe, Israel Broussard, Ruby Modine, Rachel Matthews
Directed by Christopher B Landon (USA)
Think Groundhog Day with a horrific twist: poor Tree (Rothe) is forced to re-live the day she died at the hands of a sicko in a mask and then wakes up to live her whole last day again.

Marshall
CERT 15 (118 mins)
Starring Chadwick Boseman, Josh Gad, Kate Hudson, Dan Stevens, Sterling K Brown, James Cromwell
Directed by Reginald Hudlin (USA)
Thurgood Marshall (Boseman) was the first African-American justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. This is his story. Incidentally, Chadwick Boseman has previously played on film the American footballer Floyd Little, the baseball star Jackie Robinson and the singer James Brown.

Call Me By Your Name
CERT 15 (132 mins)
Starring Armie Hammer, Timothée Chalamet, Michael Stuhlbarg, Amira Casar, Esther Garrel
Directed by Luca Guadagnino (Italy/USA/Brazil/France)
Based on the novel by André Aciman, this coming-of-age drama is set in north Italy during the summer of 1983. There, the 17-year-old Elio Perlman (Chalamet) lives an enchanted life reading and playing classical music. Then his world is turned upside down when he meets the handsome and charming American academic Oliver (Hammer), who’s staying at his parents’ villa.

Jigsaw
CERT 18 (109 mins)
Starring Tobin Bell, Mandela Van Peebles, Laura Vandervoort, Brittany Allen, Callum Keith Rennie
Directed by The Spierig Brothers (USA)
It was all meant to end with Saw 3D: The Final Chapter (2010). But you know what studios are like. Jigsaw is the eighth instalment in the Saw franchise and focuses on a series of murders that match the modus operandi of the twisted John Kramer (aka Jigsaw). But hasn’t Kramer been dead for over a decade?
Kaleidoscope
Mead Gallery, Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry, Thurs 5 October - Sat 9 December

The relationship between colour and form, rationality and irrationality, order and waywardness is the central focus of this celebration of 1960s’ British art. Featuring work by more than 20 artists, Kaleidoscope turns the spotlight on the sense of repetition, sequence and symmetry that underpinned the style of the time – a style noted for its bold, artificial colours and unpredictable shapes and forms.

The show features examples of the mind-bending surfaces so closely associated with Op Art, the flattened repetition of Pop, the mathematical order of Constructivism and the sequential placement of brightly coloured abstract units found in New Generation sculpture.
Pride And Persecution
The Barber Institute, Birmingham, Fri 27 October - Sun 21 January
The fascinating history of the Barber’s Jan Steen masterpiece, The Wrath Of Ahasuerus, is explored in this exhibition. The show also focuses on the 17th century Dutch Golden Age during which the painting was produced, the emerging Dutch nation’s links and associations with the Biblical Israelites and the connections of these paintings with contemporary Dutch theatre.
The Wrath Of Ahasuerus is one of 70-plus paintings by Steen which narrate scenes from the Bible and classical mythology and history. Despite his impressive output of artwork inspired by these subjects, Steen was better known for his exuberant, humorous and gently moralising scenes of everyday life.
Pride And Persecution is complemented by Tales From History (showing from 27 October to 18 February), an exhibition focusing on rarely shown prints and drawings by Steen’s contemporary, Rembrandt, and some of the latter’s pupils.

Wolverhampton Art Gallery, Sat 21 October - Mon 1 January
It was while working with chrome-plated and leather car parts on the Vauxhall Motors assembly line that Clive Barker found the greatest inspiration for his art.
In the high-profile career which has followed, Barker has not only applied chrome finishes to his pieces but also chosen to work primarily in polished cast metals.
Widely considered to be the most important sculptor of the British Pop Art movement, Barker has produced work covering themes as diverse as portraiture, conceptual art, classical art and war & conflict.
This new exhibition, although celebrating a 20-year period in the artist’s career, mainly focuses on work produced by Barker throughout the 1960s and into the early ’70s.

Sofia Hultén: Here’s The Answer, What’s The Question?
Ikon, Birmingham, until Sun 26 November
This selection of sculptures, installations and films - contemplating the nature of the material world and the way people navigate it - constitutes the most comprehensive exhibition to date of Sofia Hultén’s work.
Focusing on the Berlin-based artist’s interest in shuffling the chronological order of things, the show includes highly rated video work Nonsequences, in which a sequence of events is re-enacted to defy expectations of cause and effect.
One example of this features an apple, which, having been polished on jeans, is then dropped into dirt before being disposed of in a plastic bag. This is followed by a sequence in which the apple is placed in the bag before being dropped in dirt.
In Hultén’s art, common sense no longer holds sway, as the artist provides the viewer with answers to which they must then make up the corresponding questions.

Quentin Blake: Inside Stories
Compton Verney, Warwickshire, Sat 21 October - Sunday 17 December
An exhibition featuring the work of one of the world’s best-loved illustrators, Inside Stories offers a unique insight into some of Quentin Blake’s most popular creations.
The show features a huge range of the artist’s drawings, not only from the Roald Dahl books with which he’s most closely associated, but also from David Walliams’ The Boy In The Dress and Michael Rosen’s Sad Book.
The Motorhome And Caravan Show
NEC, Birmingham, Tues 17 - Sun 22 October
Attracting huge crowds and filling numerous halls of the NEC, the Motorhome And Caravan Show 2017 is promising to be ‘bigger and better than ever’.
The always-popular event features hundreds of UK exhibitors, offering visitors the chance to check out all the new 2018 caravan, motorhome, holiday home, trailer tent and folding caravan models. The show also provides free help and advice on all aspects of touring - from finance, insurance and security to the best tow cars on the market. A wide range of accessories are available at show-only prices.

The Horse Of The Year Show
NEC, Birmingham, Wed 4 - Sun 8 October
Now heading towards its 70th anniversary, the Horse Of The Year Show was launched in 1949 as a way to mark the end of the equestrian season. The event has undergone considerable change since that inaugural show with its 400 entries. Nowadays there are 1,600 horses and ponies taking part, with competitors numbering 1,500 and a staggering 65,000 spectators sampling the show’s numerous delights. Highlights this year include two never-before-seen displays from Atkinson Action Horses and The Caspian Horse Society. There’s also a full programme of International Showjumping classes, one of which includes the world famous Puissance. Other featured attractions are a dressage masterclass from former Olympic gold medallist Charlotte Dujardin and the ever popular Virbac 3D worming Pony Club Mounted Games.

The 24th Carole Nash Classic Motorcycle Mechanics Show
Staffordshire County Showground, Sat 14 - Sun 15 October
Club stands, live action, autumn sales, classic off-road machines and special guest stars from iconic eras of motorcycling are all featured in a show which regularly welcomes more than 30,000 enthusiasts through its doors. Celebrating the growing popularity of emerging and modern classics from the 1960s, ’70s and ’80s, the show features hundreds of traders and dealers, as well as numerous autojumble stands offering a wealth of parts and spares for every project.

Wedding Fair
Stoneleigh Park, Warwickshire, Sat 21 - Sun 22 October
This month’s show features wedding experts aplenty, offering advice on everything from flowers and favours to cakes and cars. Bridal boutiques, florists and catwalk shows are all present and correct too, as is the Vintage Village, celebrating the ever-evolving trend for yesteryear style weddings.
The Birmingham Literature Festival 2017
Various venues, Sat 7 - Sun 15 October
A host of top literary talent has been lined up for the 20th Birmingham Literature Festival. From humble beginnings back in 1998, the event has developed into one of the city’s most high-profile celebrations of the arts.
Highlights this year include contributions from India’s best-selling female writer, Preeti Shenoy, debut novelist Chinelo Okparanta and children’s writer Christopher Edge.
There’s also a showcase of work produced by marginalised writers across the UK, a collection of pieces by up-and-coming regional authors, performances of poetry and numerous debates. An evening with Birmingham comedian Joe Lycett and Yardley MP Jess Phillips also features.

Disney On Ice Presents Passport To Adventure
Arena Birmingham, Wed 18 - Sun 29 October
Yep, it’s that get-your-skates-on time of year again, with Disney’s ever-popular line-up of children’s favourites once more taking to the ice to astound and delight.
This time out, Midlands families are invited to explore the African Pride Lands with Simba and friends, voyage to Ariel’s underwater kingdom and fly from London to Neverland with Peter Pan. They also travel to Arendelle, for an ‘extraordinary’ adventure with sisters Anna and Elsa, mountain-man Kristoff and huggable snowman Olaf.
And for those who like their Disney characters more ‘long in the tooth’, there are appearances by Mickey Mouse, Minnie Mouse, Donald, Goofy and Daisy.
Oh, and there’s also a pre-show party featuring Zootropolis to enjoy, to help get your youngsters in the mood for all the fun to come.

Mad Science Children’s Activities
Ragley Hall, Warwickshire, Thurs 26 October
‘Education wrapped in entertainment’ is the name of the game at Mad Science’s hugely popular interactive learning events.
The science-themed shows offer children the chance to thoroughly engage in all manner of imaginative pastimes. These include creating foggy dry ice storms, finding out how a foam factory functions, building super-bouncy balls, making magic mud and altering soundwaves.
And if that little lot doesn’t wear out the kids and buy you some much-needed half-term peace and quiet, then nothing will!

Grand Designs Live
NEC, Birmingham, Wed 11 - Sun 15 October
The UK’s leading contemporary home show makes its annual visit to Birmingham this month, with design guru Kevin McCloud once again presiding over proceedings. Kevin hosts various events in the show’s Grand Theatre, where guest speakers offer tips and advice on a variety of homebuilding issues.
This year’s show also features tons of inspiring ideas, state-of-the-art bathroom products, suggestions for making the most of available kitchen space, and ‘must have’ products for gardens and outdoor spaces.

Dive 2017
NEC, Birmingham, Sat 21 - Sun 22 October
Boasting hundreds of exhibitors - including manufacturers and retailers of diving equipment, and travel agents offering dive holiday destinations - Dive 2017 also features an unrivalled programme of guest speakers.
Special features include two large in-hall presentation stages, pools, mini-theatres, TekDeck and prominent dive-travel, training and underwater photography areas.

Half-term fun at the Motor Museum
British Motor Museum, Gaydon, Warwickshire, Sat 21 - Sun 29 October
Get your motor running in the direction of this hugely popular visitor attraction this half term. Activities include numerous art-based workshops, a brand new trail for kids to enjoy in the company of costumed guides and, returning by popular demand, the Black Cat Halloween trail.

whatsonlive.co.uk 45
Spooktober!

Take part in spooky story walks, creepy arts and crafts, freaky face painting and more at Birmingham Botanical Gardens this October half term.

23 - 27 October
11am - 3pm

Discover more at birminghambotanicalgardens.org.uk

---

Under 18s Halloween Party

CIRCUIT PRESENTS

UNDER 18S HALLOWEEN PARTY

AT THE BUTTERMARKET

27th OCTOBER

HALLOWEEN THEMED - MULTIPLE DJS
MAIN ARENA - 7PM - 11PM
ADVANCED TICKETS £10 - £12 ON THE DOOR

---

Tamworth Castle

Autumn fun & activities

Haunted Castle

Mon 23rd to Fri 27th October
11.30am-4.00pm

Bring the family to enjoy the ghostly goings-on at the Castle. You'll encounter a series of spooky characters and activities as you tour the Castle. Complete the challenges set by the horrible hags, and try not to lose your body parts as you meet Master Slaughter! Have you got the courage to complete the tour?

Children's Halloween Evening

Sat 28th October 5.00pm-8.30pm

A fun evening hosted by the Friends of Tamworth Castle charity. Bring all the family, get dressed up in your spookiest costume and enjoy the ghostly goings-on around the Castle. This is a very popular event, so please book your time slot in advance.

For information regarding the Friends of Tamworth Castle charity, please visit www.tamworthcastlefame.org

---

Half-term hunting, spooky family fun, fireworks, ghost search and lanternary!

Ghost Search

Tues 31st October 7.30pm-Midnight
Join us for a night with a difference on our ghost walk around the Medieval Castle, with vigils conducted in reputedly haunted rooms. Cameras or camcorders can be used, and we advise warm clothing and rugs or cushions for use during the vigils as rooms can be chilly!

Bonfire Night

Sat 4th November 5.00pm-8.00pm
This is a chance to visit Tamworth Castle after dark before enjoying the ever-popular breath-taking firework display in the Castle grounds. Castle Grounds activities start at 6.00 pm, with Fireworks at 8.00 pm.

There is no access to Castle tower or dungeons to view the firework display. Visitors cannot enter the Castle after closing time at 8.00 pm or during the firework display.

Lanternary - The Lantern-lit story!

Sat 18th November
Join us in a brand-new storytelling concept that follows the exploits of Raine as a young thief as he attempts to acquire treasures from the Castle. The story is revealed in parts as visitor's tour through the Castle lit by lantern light.

Family slots every half hour from 5.00 pm-7.30pm
Adult themed slots every half hour from 8.00pm-9.30pm

For more information please call 01827 709 618
www.tamworthcastle.co.uk

Tamworth Castle, The Holloway, Tamworth, Staffordshire B79 7NA
Halloween Spooktacular
British Ironwork Centre, Oswestry, Shropshire, Friday 27 October
We’re reliably informed that ‘staff are readying the fake blood and scream-inducing decorations’ at the British Ironwork Centre, where youngsters who enjoy feeling the hairs on the back of their necks stand on end are set to enjoy some ghoulish fun at the end of the month. Highlights include a whole host of spooks and spectres, the venue’s classic pumpkin hunt, a ‘devilishly delicious’ doughnut challenge and both pumpkin and face-painting opportunities. Visitors who think they’re brave enough can also take on the challenge of the ‘fear boxes’, or head for the ‘scream-extracting’ terror tunnel (over-12s only). Fancy dress is of course encouraged, with prizes to be won for the ghastliest of outfits.

Halloween Nights
The Black Country Living Museum, Dudley, Wed 25 - Sat 28 October
Expect ghoul and ghost and goblin host to be dancing around the Black Country Living Museum this month, as the popular visitor attraction gets into the Halloween ‘spirit’. Treats, tricks and ‘terrifying tales of old’ abound, the venue’s gaslit streets coming alive with all manner of street entertainment. The museum’s mine has been suitably spookified for the occasion, and there’s also the chance to win a prize for best-dressed ghoul in a costume parade.

Alton Towers’ Scarefest
Alton Towers Resort, Staffordshire, Sat 7 - Sun 8, Sat 14 - Sun 15 and Fri 20 - Tues 31 October
Alton Towers’ hugely popular Scarefest attraction makes a welcome return this month. The venue has a great reputation when it comes to putting the heebie jeebies up its October-time visitors - but only in a family-friendly way, of course! Alongside the theme park’s impressive selection of usual rides, the Staffordshire visitor attraction is hosting four live shows for very young children. There’s also a House Of Monsters maze and Freak Show scarezone to sample, as well as four terrifying scare mazes for those who consider themselves the bravest of the brave.

Ghostly Gaslight
Blists Hill Victorian Town, Ironbridge, Sat 28 October
This spine-tingling but family-friendly annual event sees the amiable characters of Blists Hill Victorian Town replaced by ghosts, ghouls and creepy-crawlies. When night falls and street lamps cast their shadows across the cobbled streets, visitors are advised to keep their eyes and ears open, as weird apparitions and spooky sounds take over the town’s shops, cottages and work places. Anybody who fancies doing some ‘spooking’ of their own is more than welcome to hit the fancy-dress shop beforehand...

whatsonlive.co.uk 47
BLISTS HILL
VICTORIAN TOWN

GHOSTLY
GASLIGHT

SAT 28 OCT
6pm - 9pm
Includes family fireworks display

FIREWORKS NIGHT

SAT 4 NOV
6pm - 9pm
Includes spectacle of hot metal being poured in the foundry

Advance tickets only at IRONBRIDGE.ORG.UK

10 AWARD WINNING ATTRACTIONS
IN A WORLD HERITAGE SITE

NEIL DIAMOND

50 YEAR ANNIVERSARY WORLD TOUR

FRIDAY 13 OCTOBER 2017
ARENA BIRMINGHAM
SOLD OUT

SUNDAY 15 OCTOBER 2017
GENTSING ARENA BIRMINGHAM

EXTRA DATE ADDED DUE TO PHENOMENAL DEMAND
A LIVE NATION PRESENTATION IN ASSOCIATION WITH WME ENTERTAINMENT
Spooky previews from around the region

Spooky Science Week
Thinktank, Birmingham Science Museum, Mon 23 - Fri 27 October
There’s no shortage of spellbinding fun to be had at Thinktank during this month’s half-term school holidays. An after-hours Spooky Science Night (Sat 28, 6 - 9 pm) includes eerie experiments and a science-of-fright show, not to mention encounters with creepy crawlers in the company of Thinktank’s expert handlers. Arrive attired in fancy dress and you’ll be entered into a ‘fantastic’ prize draw on the night. More spooktacular fun can be enjoyed over at Birmingham Museum & Art Gallery on 25 October, when a Monster Party in the Waterhall Gallery includes music, dancing and plenty of ghoulish games. And the Halloween fun continues at the venue throughout the week, courtesy of some gruesome object handling sessions and a spooky portrait studio.

Spooktober
Birmingham Botanical Gardens, Mon 23 - Fri 27 October
Birmingham’s Botanical Gardens is promising visitors the chance to get up close and personal with cackling witches, petrifying pumpkins and ghastly ghouls this Halloween season. Spooky storytelling, freaky face-painting and an opportunity to make some scary arts & crafts are among the October attractions at the popular venue. There’s even a spot of pond-dipping thrown in for good measure!

More Treat Than Trick
Drayton Manor Theme Park, Sat 14 - Sat 26 October
Drayton Manor Park is inviting families to dust off their broomsticks and batwings and treat themselves to some ghoulish Halloween fun this month. Creepy capers to enjoy include the chance to see the ever-popular Thomas Land attraction transformed into the ‘spooktacular’ Island of Sodor. More-courageous youngsters can face their fear of the unknown by taking part in the ‘five mystery boxes’ challenge. The theme park’s fabulous white-knuckle rides provide the perfect opportunity to add a churning stomach to that Halloween-induced tingling spine!

Halloween Family Boat Trips
Dudley Canal Trust, Fri 27 - Tues 31 October
What better way can there be to get into the Halloween spirit than by exploring Dudley Canal Trust’s naturally spooky tunnels and caverns? The Trust is running special children’s boat trips this half-term holiday, during which youngsters will encounter some truly impressive glow-in-the-dark Halloween puppets. The boat trips are ‘spooky’ but not scary, and should be suitable for children over three years of age. And the fiendish fun doesn’t end there. On various days of half-term week, families can get creative with a selection of Halloween-themed craft activities. Children can make a witch or wizard hat, have a go at creating an animal superpower potion and add a spooktacular creation to the Trust’s gruesomely ghastly gallery.

Haunted Castle
Tamworth Castle, Staffordshire, Mon 23 - Fri 27 October
Take advantage of this long weekend of ghostly goings-on at Staffordshire’s spooktacularly haunted castle. There are Halloween activities aplenty to sample, including the chance to play ping-pong eyeballs with some not-entirely-pleasant hags. Visitors are also advised to keep their wits about them throughout their stay, to ensure they remain beyond the clutches of the eerie executioner and the ever-so-spooky St Editha...

Ghost Tour
New Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham, Fri 27 October
It’s believed that at least five ghosts haunt the nooks and crannies of the New Alexandra Theatre, and this sure-to-be-fun ghost tour offers a great opportunity to meet them! For super-brave ghost-busters, there’s even an add-on ‘lock in’ event, offering the chance to experience the auditorium in the dark and disconcerting depths of the night. Don’t forget your torch. And your big bag of courage.

Torch-Lit Pumpkin Walk
Bodenham Arboretum, Kidderminster, Worcestershire, Fri 27 - Sun 29 October
Apple bobbing, marshmallow toasting, spooky storytelling and creepy craftmaking keep the kids active and amused at this special Halloween event. The main attraction, though (as ably evidenced from the event’s title) is the torch-lit pumpkin walk, a fun undertaking that sees families making their way round the big pool in search of pumpkins with letters carved into them. Unscramble the letters to make a Halloween word - and when you’re done, grab yourself a bowl of pumpkin soup to keep the nighttime chills away! Visitors are invited to bring along their very own carved pumpkin - there’s a prize for the best one...

whatsonlive.co.uk 49
ANTICHIES
FOR EVERYONE
WINTER
ART, DECORATIVE & INTERIORS

23-26 November 2017 | Halls 17-18, NEC Birmingham

The largest vetted art, antiques and interiors fair outside of London

EXCLUSIVE TICKET OFFER - HALF PRICE DISCOUNT*

Antiques for Everyone brings together 200 specialist dealers displaying over 30,000 unique and unusual pieces from around the world. With pieces including jewellery, furniture, ceramics, paintings, sculptures and much more, the fair provides an inspirational shopping experience with something to suit all tastes and budgets.

Visit antiquesforeveryone.co.uk to redeem your offer and quote WINWO17 or call 0844 581 0827

*Offer only available in advance for a limited time. Advance box office closes at midnight on 22 November 2017. Offer applies to the standard ticket price of £16.

Images, left to right: Julian Eade, Andrew Muir, Thomas Glover and Scandinavian by Design
Blondie’s 11th album, Pollinator, was released earlier this year. Can you tell us a bit about it?
We’re all really happy with it, and I think it’s the record that Blondie fans have been waiting for. I mean, I think the chemistry of the band really comes across. The three other guys in the band, Tommy, Lee and Matt, have been with us for quite a while, along with me, Chris and Debbie. The idea was to go in and record all the basic tracks together and really have the sound of the band come across. The last couple of albums that we did, the songs were there but they were done in a different method. They were more computer-generated, and then we found when we went to do the songs in our show, we would have to rearrange them and make them band performances. We kind of felt that people were a lot more receptive to the songs when they actually heard the band playing them. We kind of have a history of doing cover songs, starting with things like Denis and Hanging On The Telephone, which was by a band called The Nerves. Tide Is High is by The Paragons and was written by John Holt. I think we have a knack of taking other people’s songs and making them sound like Blondie songs, so that’s what we decided to do with Pollinator. We’re really, really happy with the way it’s turned out, and I think it’s definitely one of our best albums. Blondie fans are all really happy with it too – we’re just trying to get other people to hear it. It was received really well and went in the charts at number four here in the UK. We’re having a good time playing a handful of songs from Pollinator, along with the expected songs, in the current Blondie show, so it’s been good. The album has given us the impetus to want to continue, so we’re going to be making another record. Everything’s great within the band, and we’re really looking forward to the UK tour.

What’s the meaning behind the album’s title - Pollinator?
Deb came up with the name, but it has to do with the fact that we’re kind of infusing other people’s music with our music - and then along came the bee crisis. A weird twist of fate - we were supposed to be doing a gig in London the day after the tragedy in Manchester, and of course everything stopped the next day. We weren’t really aware of the worker bee symbol of Manchester, so that kind of came to light too. And then I was looking at GQ and there was a guy in a Gucci suit with bees on it. Bees all of a sudden seem to be kind of trendy - unbeknown to us, as we were really in our own little bubble when we came up with that idea.

You started playing drums for Blondie in 1975. How did that come about?
We were all hanging out in New York City in a club called Club 82. It was kind of like a dance club that had glam rock bands on one night a week, whether it be New York Dolls or Teenage Lust or other bands. I had a band called Sweet Revenge and Deb and Chris had a band called The Stilettos, and we were all on that scene. It was kind of like the last hold-out of glam rock. Everything kind of moved South West a block or so. People like Bowie informed British punk rock, so the Bowie, Lou Reed thing was going on and that kind of transitioned into a more bohemian, William Borrows, Andy Warhol, Patty Smith vibe. It was all kind of coming together at that point during the mid-’70s.

Why do you think the band remain so popular?
The music is the legacy of the band and obviously Debbie’s image opened the door for the band, and she’s still a lovely, very beautiful woman. Her looks overshadowed her musical ability, her lyrics and everything. Musically, to me, she’s more like Bowie or Jim Morrison, not really like the obvious other blonde singers. Culturally in the mid-’70s there was a lot of really significant stuff going on in New York that was only really influencing the people who were there. We were the sound of New York in a way. We were being influenced by our peers, by certain artists, different areas of the city, the whole hip-hop thing. The internet is a big help now. I think we’re the first generation where our whole band life is on the internet as far as performances and photos go. For younger people, that kind of lets them connect the dots on what Blondie was all about and what was going on. You look at a photo of Debbie from 1976 and it looks very modern, but you look at a photo of somebody from Bon Jovi in the ’80s and it doesn’t look very modern. The Velvet Underground and Andy Warhol had a lot to do with influencing Blondie. They were an underground phenomenon at the time. I think Blondie’s music stands up. I think The Pollinator record is a great record, and I’m not just saying that because it’s the most recent one - it’s definitely one of our better albums.
During Blondie’s hiatus, you played drums for numerous musicians, including Bob Dylan, Iggy Pop and The Ramones. Can you tell us a little bit about that, and who did you enjoy working with the most?

The Eurythmics. I met Annie Lennox at a club in Piccadilly called Planets around 1980, when I was living in London. Lemmy was there, Michael Jackson was there. He was sitting on a chair next to me when Annie came over and started talking to me about the new band that she was starting up with Dave. So I went round to their place and had Sunday lunch, then recorded their first album with them in Germany. I had a great time with them- we became friends. With Iggy, that was a really amazing time. He was promoting this album party, I went on tour with him for six weeks and we opened for the Rolling Stones. Everything that’s come about has been as a result of Blondie, whether that be Debbie’s acting career or Chris’ photography, me working with all these other people. It’s good when people go away and do that stuff because they then bring it back into the band. Working with Dylan was unbelievable - just being in his genius presence. At the end of the day, the love of music is what really comes through. Whether it’s Bob Dylan or a kid in a garage banging on a guitar, they’re all doing it for the same reason. It starts there and goes on from there. If I was a kid today, I’m not sure if I would choose the music business as a career, but then who knows?

How does life on the road now compare to back in the ‘90s, for example?

Well, it’s easier now. Something like making a phone call back in the day was a big deal, trying to reach somebody in another country. Once again, technology has brought everyone together. The production’s a lot easier. You live and learn. I was always into taking care of myself. I did this thing, the Clem Burke Drumming Project, which I got a doctorate for a few years ago from Gloucestershire University, and it’s just about having a positive spin on what it means to be a musician. It studies all the mental and physical aspects of being on the road. That’s a big part of the study - the endurance etc. It got a bit controversial because my stats were lining up with premier footballers half my age. I think we just try to take care of ourselves more now. I don’t think I went to the gym or any of that back in the day because I was too hungover or whatever. That’s the great thing about playing an instrument - as time goes on, it just gets better and better.

What’s your first musical memory?

I started playing drums when I was quite young. For my generation, The Beatles on Ed Sullivan in the States was a turning point. I was too young for Elvis in terms of musical memories. Top 40 radio in the States, you’d have Frank Sinatra next to the Rolling Stones.

Blondie are bringing their UK tour to Birmingham this winter. What can audiences expect from your show?

We’ve been on the road in the States for the last seven weeks, touring with the band Garbage. Before that, we went to Australia, so the band is very road-worthy. We’re playing a handful of songs from Pollinator along with the expected hits and some deeper Blondie cuts. A pretty well-rounded show. We’re trying to make people aware of the Pollinator album. It’s all go. Everyone is in a great space and enjoying performing, so it’s going to be good. Along with Holland and Australia, this is where the initial success was with Blondie. The UK has always been a second home - we spend a lot of time here.

Blondie play Arena Birmingham on Monday 13th November
What’s On

Sun 1 to Sun 8 October

Stone Food & Drink Festival at Westbridge Park
Fri 6 - Sun 8 October

Mon 9 to Sun 15 October

Katherine Ryan at Dudley Town Hall
Sat 14 October

Mon 16 to Sun 22 October

Arlene Phillips at Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury
Sun 22 October

Mon 23 to Tues 31 October

West Midlands Vegan Festival at Civic Hall, Wolverhampton
Sat 28 - Sun 29 October

Music  I  Comedy  I  Theatre  I  Dance  I  Film  I  Events  I  Visual Arts  I  and more!
Visual Arts

Bilston Craft Gallery
FOSSIL FUELED Exhibition featuring objects from many of the town’s industries, including cut steel jewellery, bicycles and the world famous Bilston Enamels, until Sun 31 Dec

New Art Gallery - Walsall
NEW ADAM GRUNING Adam works with installation, photography and video to explore the relationship between authentic and inauthentic experiences and notions of value and spectacle, Tues 17 Oct - Sun 17 Dec

Potteries Museum & Art Gallery
MA SHOW Featuring a wide range of artists, artisans and craftspeople from India and the UK, the show is presented in partnership with the British Ceramics Biennial, until Sun 12 Nov

Shrewsbury Museum & Art Gallery
NEW SAMURAI WARRIORS OF JAPAN An exhibition that graphically brings to life the story of the Samurai and their fall from power, as Japan opened up
life the story of the Samurai and their 1970s, illustrating Barker’s important
on works from the 1960s and early
Exhibition which concentrates
NEW CLIVE BARKER: POP ART. 1961 –
14 Oct - Sun 3 Dec
world and independent cinema, Sat
figures in China’s contemporary art
COMETH
NEW YANG FUDONG: THE NIGHTMAN
14 - Sun 22 Oct

Wolverhampton Art Gallery
NEW UNIVERSITY OF WOLVERHAMPTON
MA SHOW Featuring a wide range of creative work covering a variety of disciplines such as painting, sculpture, glass, ceramics, installation, graphics, photography, illustration, audio-visual and multimedia, Sat
14 - Sun 22 Oct

NEW YANG FUDONG: THE NIGHTMAN
Yang is one of the leading figures in China’s contemporary art
world and independent cinema, Sat
14 Oct - Sun 3 Dec

NEW CLIVE BARKER: POP ART. 1961 –
1981. Exhibition which concentrates
on works from the 1960s and early 1970s, illustrating Barker’s important contribution to the story of Pop Art, Sat 21 Oct - Mon 1 Jan

Other VISUAL ARTS

SHROPSHIRE ART SOCIETY EXHIBITION
Showcasing the work of Angela
Jones and Wen Williamson, until Fri 6 Oct, St Mary’s Church, Shrewsbury
DANIEL YEOMANS Daniel is an acclaimed portrait artist with a traditional training at the internationally renowned Charles H Cecil studios in Florence, until Sat 4 Nov, The Willow
Gallery, Oswestry

BRITISH CERAMICS BIENNIAL Featuring work by Neil Brown, Juree Kim and Central Saint Martins College Ceramic Design students, until Sun 5 Nov, World of Wedgwood, Stoke-on-
Trent

ART OF THE COMMUNITY EXHIBITION
Exhibition forming part of a celebration to mark the Trust’s 50th anniversary, until Tues 2 Jan,Coalbrookdale
Gallery, Ironbridge

MADE IN THE MIDDLE Recurring touring exhibition showcasing some of the Midlands’ best contemporary craft and applied art, Sat 30 Sept - Sat 25 Nov, The Burrenhouse Arts Centre, Burton-upon-Trent

NEW PLAY & DISPLAY - PAPER AND CARD TOYS EXHIBITION Collection demonstrating the popularity and versatility of paper and card toys, Sun 1 - Fri 13 Oct, Museum of Cannock
Chase, Staffordshire

NEW ABSTRACT EDGE EXHIBITION -
ARTISTS ON THE EDGE OF ABSTRACTION
Showcasing the work of a group of artists who have a shared interest in painting in an abstract or semi-abstract way, Tues 3 - Sat 28 Oct, VAN Gallery, Shrewsbury

NEW SUPNAA: DREAMS OF OUR FAthers Exhibition inspired by the artist’s upbringing in Park Village,
Staffordshire, until Sun 12 Nov

NEW FUNNY THINGS: CLICKING COMEDI-ANS PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBITION Steve
Best’s many years on the comedy circus allowed him to build trust with the funniest people on earth. This exclusive access has given him an opportunity to take hundreds of intimate, deeply moving images - from backstage to front of stage, from very new comedians and seasoned professionals to the downright famous, Mon 23 Oct - Sun 5 Nov, Light House Media Centre, Wolverhampton

NEW ARAGIZI MAC – ‘NATURAL
STAFFORDSHIRE’ Aragizi Mac, aka
Neal McIntosh, has produced a breathtaking portfolio of wildlife photography, with all photos having been taken in Cannock Chase, Stafford
and Hednesford Hills, Mon 23 Oct -
Fri 15 Dec, Museum of Cannock
Chase, Staffordshire

NEW ARAGIZI MAC – ‘NATURAL
STAFFORDSHIRE’ Aragizi Mac, aka
Neal McIntosh, has produced a breathtaking portfolio of wildlife photography, with all photos having been taken in Cannock Chase, Stafford
and Hednesford Hills, Mon 23 Oct -
Fri 15 Dec, Museum of Cannock
Chase, Staffordshire

NEW ARTIFICIAL GaLLERIES Glassy
Wine bottles and jugs recast in glass
and attached to carved wooden supports, until Sat 22 Dec, The Glee Club, Birmingham

NEW BEGINNINGS Exhibition
exploring the identity of the museums service and featuring pieces and stories from the collection, Sat 28 Oct, Red House Glass
Cone, Wordsley, Stourbridge

NEW YEAR: NEW BEGINNINGS Exhibition exploring the identity of the museums service and featuring
pieces and stories from the collection, Sat 28 Oct, Red House Glass
Cone, Wordsley, Stourbridge

NEW ARTIFICIAL GaLLERIES Glassy
Wine bottles and jugs recast in glass
and attached to carved wooden supports, until Sat 22 Dec, The Glee Club, Birmingham

NEW BEGINNINGS Exhibition
exploring the identity of the museums service and featuring
pieces and stories from the collection, Sat 28 Oct, Red House Glass
Cone, Wordsley, Stourbridge

THE BEATLES UN-
PLUGGED Wed 4 Oct,
Theatre On The Step,
Bridgnorth, South
Shropshire

WILLE AND THE BANDITS
Wed 4 Oct, Hare &
Hounds, Birmingham

PRETTY Vicious Wed 4 Oct,
O2 Academy, Birmingham

JARROD DICKENSON Wed 4 Oct, Hare &
Hounds, Birmingham

MARTIN TURNER EX
WISHBONE ASH Wed 4 Oct, The Robin, Bilst-
on-Trent

THAT’LL BE THE DAY
Wed 4 - Thurs 5 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse
Theatre

IAN MOSS Thurs 5 Oct, The Robin, Bilston

INHEAVEN Thurs 5 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stoke-
on-Trent

CHANTEL MCREGOR Thurs 5 Oct, Hare &
Hounds, Birmingham

ELVIS PERCEIVES THE BILLY JOEL SONG-
BOOK Thurs 5 Oct, Theatre Severn,
Shrewsbury

PAPA ROACH Thurs 5 Oct, O2 Academy,
Birmingham

JUSTIN HAYWARD Thurs 5 Oct, Birmingham
Town Hall

TOM GRENNAN Fri 6 Oct, O2 Institute, Birm-mingham

MEGSON Fri 6 Oct, The Hive, Shrewsbury

JESS MORGAN & DAN WHITEHOUSE Fri 6 Oct, mac, m, Birmingham

THE HOOSIERS Fri 6 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stafford

U2-1 VS ALIVE & KICK-
ING UK Fri 6 Oct, O2 Academy,
Eighth, Birmingham

SHELLAC Fri 6 Oct, The Asylum, B’ham

SQUEEZE WITH SPECIAL GUESTS 9 BELOW ZERO.
Fri 6 - Sat 7 Oct, Symphony Hall, B’ham

ALLMAN BROWN & DAN
BETTRIDGE Fri 6 Oct,
O2 Academy, Birmingham

THE GLORIA GAYNOR EX-PERIENCE Fri 6 Oct, Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent

BLUES BROTHERS TRIB-UTE SHOW Fri 6 Oct,
National Brewery Centre,
Burton upon Trent

ZOE GILBY QUARTET Fri 6 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

THE ULTIMATE EAGLES
Fri 6 Oct, William Aston Hall, Wrexham

FRED ZEPPELIN Fri 6
Oct, Route 44, B’ham

WHITESNAKE UK Fri 6
Oct, Eleven, Stoke on
Trent

ARCANE ROOTS Fri 6
Oct, The Slade
Rooms, Whampoton

RHINO AND THE RANTERS Sat 7 Oct,
Hare & Hounds, Birmingham

KING NO-ONE WITH SPE-CIAL GUESTS Sat 7 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stoke-
on-Trent

THE YOUNG UNS Sat 7 Oct,
Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

AFROCABIFEST 2017 -
AFROCARIBBEAN FESTIVAL
Sat 7 Oct, Telford Arena
& Live Lounge, Telford

INGLORIOUS Sat 7 Oct,
The Robin, Bilston

TUBULAR BELLS FOR TWO FEATURING SUPPORT
FROM GYPSYFLIN-
GERS Sat 7 Oct,
Birmingham Town Hall

BOOTLEG BLONDE Sat 7 Oct,
The Roadhouse, Birmingham

REBECCA DOWNES Sat 7 Oct,
The Slade
Rooms, Whampoton

MARTINA EDOFF Sat 7 Oct,
Eleven, Stoke on
Trent

BEVERLEY KNIGHT Sun 8
Oct, Symphony Hall,
Birmingham

TAKE A CHANCE Sun 8
Oct, The Robin, Bil-
ston

SKINNY GIRL DIET Sun 8
Oct, The Sunflower
Lounge, Birmingham

OGARTE INVASION Sat 7 Oct,
The Robin, Bilston

ACOUSTIC The Robin, Bilston

MONDAY OFF Sat 7 Oct,
Eleven, Stoke on
Trent
Classical Music

MOZART'S CLARINET CONCERTO Featur- ing the City of Birmingham Sym- phony Orchestra, Mirga Grazinyt-Tyla (conductor) & Jörg Widman (clarin- ett). Programme to include works by Weber, Mozart, Jörg Widman & Brahms, Wed 4 - Thurs 5 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

CEMPRI Early Music Lecture - recitals: Early Strings with Miki Takahashi and Andrew Kirkham, Thurs 5 Oct, The Bramall, Birmingham

CBSO CENTRE STAGE: WIDMAN & WEBER Featuring the CBSO musicians & Jörg Widman (clarinet/artist in resi- dence), Fri 6 Oct, CBSO Centre, Birmingham

Comedy

THE LAUGHING SOLE COMEDY FOR KIDS Sun 1 Oct, mac, Birmingham

COMEDY OF BLACK ORIGIN (COBO) BRINGS A BLACK HISTORY MONTH SPE- CIAL Sun 1 Oct, The Glee Club, Birm- ingham

JIMMY MCGHIE, MARK SIMMONS & TREVOR COOK Fri 6 - Sat 7 Oct, Comedy Club, Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM COMEDY FESTIVAL Fri 6 - Sun 15 Oct, Various locations, throughout Birmingham

JIMMY MCGHIE, MARK SIMMONS & TREVOR COOK Sat 7 Oct, Jongleurs Comedy Club, Birmingham

JAY HANDLEY Sat 7 Oct, mac, Birmingham

ROFL! COMEDY CLUB Sat 7 Oct, The Old Post Office, Burton-upon-Trent

COMEDY IN THE MIET Sat 7 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre

THE SCUMMY MUMMIES SHOW Sat 7 Oct, Sutton Coldfield Town Hall

THEATRE

THE PITMEN PAINTERS Feelgood play based on the true story of coal min- ers who begin evening classes with a Master of Painting from Kings College Newcastle, until Sat 7 Oct, New Vic Theatre, Newcastle-under-Lyme

DUET FOR ONE Revival of Tom Kempin- ski’s award-winning play, taking a look at what happens when unex- pected events lead you to revaluate your life, until Sat 7 Oct, The REP, Birmingham

DODGER Amateur staging of Terry Pratchett’s Victorian tale, inspired by Charles Dickens’ character, the Artful Dodger, Fri 29 Sept - Sat 7 Oct, Hall Green Little Theatre, Birmingham

THE GOLDEN DRAGON Music Theatre Wales present a compelling fable of modern life, which begins with the discovery of a decayed tooth found in a bowl of soup, Tues 3 Oct, The REP, Birmingham

YOU FORGOT THE MINCE Imagine If Theatre present a story of falling in love and falling apart, Tues 3 Oct, mac, Birmingham

SPAMALOT Eric Idle’s award-winning Monty Python musical comedy, Tues 3 - Sat 7 Oct, New Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham

LETTERS TO EMMA New play based on the life of Anna Seward, Tues 3 - Sat 7 Oct, Lichfield Garrick

THE WEDDING SINGER Ray Quinn, Cassie Compton, Roxanne Pallett and Ruth Madoc star in a new pro- duction of the popular musical, based on the hit film of the same name, Tues 3 - Sat 7 Oct, Wolver- hampton Grand Theatre

Paul Zerdin: All Mouth The ac- claimed ventriloquist is joined by new characters and old favourites, Wed 4 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

SNOW WHITE AND ROMEO & JULIET Double bill of work, performed by The Nuworks Theatre Company, Wed 4 Oct, Dudley Town Hall

SLEEPING TREES: SCIFI? A journey into the deep and infinite unknown... Wed 4 Oct, Old Joint Stock Theatre, Birm- ingham

THAT’LL BE THE DAY Acclaimed touring show featuring a host of popular hits spanning the 1950s, ’60s, ’70s & ’80s, Fri 6 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

BURNING BOOKS A powerful and hu- morous look at an education system buckling under government cuts and targets - a story of protest and the teachers who chose to fight back, Fri 6 - Sat 7 Oct, Arena Theatre, B’ham

AKSHAYAMBARA Experimental play creating a contemporary narrative that raises questions about female representation and male ownership, Sun 8 Oct, mac, Birmingham

AN EVENING WITH GERVAISE PHINN The bestselling author shares his anec- dotes, Sun 8 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre

Kids shows

SING-A-LONG FROZEN Full screening of Disney’s Frozen with lyrics on screen to help you sing along during the film, Sun 1 Oct, Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent

AWFUL AUNTY New staging of David Walliams’ tale of frights, fights & friendship, Wed 4 - Sat 7 Oct, Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent

DINOSAUR DETECTIVES Clydesbuilt Pupp- pet Theatre performance, featuring rod puppets, shadow play and large- scale projections, Thurs 5 Oct, SpA/Rc Theatre, Bishops Castle, South Shropshire

DINOSAUR DETECTIVES Clydesbuilt Pupp- pet Theatre performance, featuring rod puppets, shadow play and large- scale projections, Fri 6 Oct, Ellesmere College Arts Centre, North Shropshire

MISTER MAKER & THE SHAPES Live show encourages kids to sing, dance and make some noise, Sun 8 Oct, The Place, Oakengates Theatre, Telford

DINOSAUR DETECTIVES Clydesbuilt Pupp-
A HILARIOUS EVENING OF NON STOP COMEDY
MURDER, MYSTERY, FAWLTY TOWERS

November 11th, 7.00pm
£45.00 per ticket to include
3-course meal, entertainment and a late night DJ

For tickets please email
salesteam@themount.co.uk or call 01902 752055 Ext 2

The Mount Hotel
Mount Road, Wolverhampton,
WV6 8HL
pet Theatre performance, featuring rod puppets, shadow play and large-scale projections, Sun 8 Oct, Meole Brace Peace Memorial Hall, Shrewsbury
KING ARTHUR Michael Morpurgo’s tale of magic, heroism, love and betrayal, Sun 8 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

Dance

ALADDIN Birmingham Royal Ballet perform David Bintley’s critically acclaimed adaptation of the famous story, Tues 3 - Sat 7 Oct, Birmingham Hippodrome
8 MINUTES Choreographer Alexander Whitley in collaboration with space scientists from STFC RAL Space, Tues 3 Oct, DanceExchange, The Patrick Centre, Birmingham Hippodrome
AN EVENING OF DIRTY DANCING Fully choreographed celebration of the music from the iconic movie, Sat 7 Oct, Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent

Talks

DAVID STARKEY: HENRY VIII THE FIRST BREXITEER Join David as he draws on his unique knowledge of Henry’s reign to illuminate both the Tudor age and our own, Sun 1 Oct Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury
BACK IN TIME Kath Reynolds presents a series of talks which reflect a personal interest in people and social history, Tues 3 Oct, Middleport Pottery, Burslem, Stoke-on-Trent
AN EVENING WITH AN IMMIGRANT Inua Ellams shares his personal story of immigration, from escaping fundamentalist Islam to drinking wine with the HM The Queen, Tues 3 Oct, Arena Theatre, Wolverhampton
JUST AN ORDINARY LAWYER Tunji Sowande, the first Black Head of Chambers before becoming the first (part-time) judge in Britain, muses on human rights, Thurs 5 Oct, The Studio @ The REP, Birmingham
BARBARA TAYLOR: THE LAST ASYLUM Hear about Taylor’s own experience of mental breakdown and healing, Sun 8 Oct, The Door at The REP, Birmingham

Film

DETOUR (15) Crime/History. Starring John Boyega, Anthony Mackie. Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire, Fri 6 & Thurs 12 Oct
SULLY (12a) Biography/Drama. Starring Tom Hanks, Aaron Eckhart. Edge Arts Centre, Much Wenlock, South Shropshire, Mon 2 Oct
NATURE OF THE BEAST (PG) Documentary. Starring Dennis Skinner. Stoke Film Theatre, Mon 2 Oct
LOGAN LUCKY (tbc) Comedy/Crime. Starring Channing Tatum, Adam Driver. Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire, Mon 2 - Tues 3 Oct

FINAL PORTRAIT (15) Biography/Comedy. Starring Armie Hammer, Geoffrey Rush. Stoke Film Theatre, Tues 3 Oct
I AM NOT YOUR NEGRO (12A) Documentary. Starring Samuel L. Jackson, James Baldwin. Foxlowe Arts Centre, Leek, Staffs, Tuess 3 Oct

HOW TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS WITHOUT REALLY TRYING (U) Comedy/Musical. Starring Robert Morse, Michele Lee. Mitchell Arts Centre, Stoke, Tues 3 Oct

HOW TO CHANGE THE WORLD (15) Documentary. Starring Bill Darnell, David Garrett. Foxlowe Arts Centre, Leek, Staffs, Wed 4 Oct
THE DARK TOWER (12A) Action/Adventure. Starring Idris Elba, Matthew McConaughey. Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire, Wed 4 Oct

HOTEL SALVATION (PG) Comedy/Drama. Starring Adil Hussain. Lait Beilh. Stoke Film Theatre, Thurs 5 Oct
TBORG/MCENROE (U) Biography/Drama. Starring Shia LaBeouf, Stellan Skarsgård. Old Market Hall, Shrewsbury, Fri 6 - Thurs 12

Events

BRIDAL FAYRE Showcasing everything needed for your special day, Sun 1 - Sun 8 Oct, NEC, Birmingham
HORSE OF THE YEAR SHOW Complete with spooks, frights, thrills, and remaining open until 9pm, Sat 7 - Sun 8 Oct, The Quarry Park, Shrewsbury
SCAREFEST Complete with spooks, frights, thrills, and remaining open until 9pm, Sat 7 - Sun 8 Oct, Alton Towers, Staffordshire
SOOTY’S BIRTHDAY BAKE-OFF Sat 7 - Sun 8 Oct, Cadbury World, B’ham

Fount

Fount is the fifth AirSpace Gallery exhibition to be held in partnership with the British Ceramics Biennial, a national festival of contemporary ceramics throughout the UK.
Ceramic artists Elena Gileva and Mark Malarko here present their proposals for a replacement fountain for the city’s Fountain Square. In creating their works, Elena and Mark have paid particular attention to the function, purpose and relevance of contemporary public fountains.

October in Shrewsbury

October events at Lichfield Garrick include the annual Valuation Day, when BBC Flog It! experts value your treasures. England versus Australia at the Rugby World Cup, and the Horse of the Year show.

HARVEST FESTIVAL SERVICE re-enactment of a traditional harvest festival service in the 1837 Darby Hand Chapel, Sun 1 Oct, Black Country Living Museum, Dudley

LIVE AT THE REP

TREVOR NUNN,ALEX ARENDA

OCTOBERTREK STOKE

A traditional Bavarian bash, Fri 6 - Sat 7 Oct, Bet365 Stadium, Stoke-on-Trent

Codsall beer festival

Fri 6 - Sat 7 Oct, Codsall Village Hall

Stone food & drink festival

Complete with the Festival Farmers’ Market on the Saturday, Fri 6 - Sun 8 Oct, Westbridge Park, Stone

Shropshire oktoberfest

Over 150 real ales, ciders, bubbles and more, served alongside live music, street food, a farmers’ market, comedy club and masterclasses, Fri 6 - Sun 8 Oct, The Quarry Park, Shrewsbury

NIMROD TOURS

Step on board the Nimrod and learn about its intelligence-gathering role in the Royal Air Force, Sat 7 - Sun 8 Oct, RAF Cosford, Shifnal, Shropshire
Gigs

LADY ANTEBELLUM Mon 9 Oct, Arena Birmingham

THE BIG MOON PLUS SPECIAL GUESTS Mon 9 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stoke-on-Trent

GOOD LOVELIES Mon 9 Oct, Garden Cafe, Birmingham

THE XCURTS Mon 9 Oct, The Flapper, B’ham

NICK MULVEY Mon 9 Oct, O2 Institute, Birmingham

SUPERSUCKERS Mon 9 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham

MARTINA EDOFF Mon 9 Oct, The Robin, Bilston

HEG & THE WOLF CHOIR & BANDS Mon 9 Oct, Crescent Theatre, B’ham

KARIBOW Tues 10 Oct, The Robin, Bilston

SOUTHERN EMPIRE Tues 10 Oct, The Robin, Bilston

UNEVEN STRUCTURE Tues 10 Oct, The Flapper, Birmingham

ZERVAS AND PEPPER Tues 10 Oct, Kitchen Garden Cafe, B’ham

FLYTE Tues 10 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham

SUPERFOOD Wed 11 Oct, Mama Roux’s, Birmingham

THE KITCHEN COLLECTIVE & KHALIQ Wed 11 Oct, The Robin, Bilston

THE SHEE Wed 11 Oct, mac, Birmingham

GARY NUMAN Wed 11 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham

THE CHURCHFITTERS Wed 11 Oct, Red Lion Folk Club, B’ham

DRAGONFORCE Wed 11 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham

JOE FOX Thurs 12 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham

MILES HUNT & ERICA NOCKALLS OF THE WONDER STUFF Thurs 12 Oct, Henry Tudor House, Shrewsbury

MIKE SANCHEZ BAND Thurs 12 Oct, The Jam House, Birmingham

BROTHER STRUT Thurs 12 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham

STILL REMAINS Thurs 12 Oct, The Flapper, Birmingham

DWEEZIL ZAPPAPA: 50 YEARS OF FRANK Thurs 12 Oct, Birmingham Town Hall

YAK Thurs 12 Oct, Newhampton Arts Centre, W’hampton

JEFFREY LEWIS & LOS BOLTS Thurs 12 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham

ANDY FAIRWEATHER LOW & THE LOW RIDERS Thurs 12 Oct, The Robin, Bilston

JEHST Thurs 12 Oct, O2 Academy, B’ham

DIO - A TRIBUTE TO RONNIE JAMES DIO Fri 13 Oct, Eleven, Sandford, Stoke on Trent

THE MAGIC OF MOTOWN Fri 13 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

BIG GINGER KID Fri 13 Oct The Sunflower Lounge, Birmingham

HOUSE OF JEALOUS LOVERS Fri 13 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham

LETS-HANG-ON Fri 13 Oct, The Place, Oakengates Theatre, Telford

THE MUSICAL BOX: THE BLACK SHOW Fri 13 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

BEASTMODE: FOOT STEPS Fri 13 Oct, The Bramall, Birmingham

THE ALARM Fri 13 Oct, O2 Academy, B’ham

LITTLE MIX Fri 13 Oct, Genting Arena, B’ham

LETHAL BIZZLE Fri 13 Oct, O2 Institute, Birmingham

JAKE & ELWOOD WITH THE BLACK RHINO BAND Fri 13 Oct, The Robin, Bilston

YOUNG PILGRIMS Sat 14 Oct, Arena Birmingham

A FOREIGNERS JOURNEY Sat 14 Oct, Eleven, Stoke on Trent

LULU Sat 14 Oct, The Attic Hall, Newtown, Powys

J. COLE Sat 14 Oct, Arena Birmingham

HMLTD Sat 14 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham

LEGENDS LIVE Sat 14 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham

LUA LIPA Sat 14 Oct, O2 Academy, B’ham

THE ROY ORBISON STORY Sat 14 Oct, The Place, Oakengates Theatre, Telford

JUNE IN VAIN Sat 14 Oct, The Actress & Bishop, Birmingham

ORGAN PROMS Sat 14 Oct, Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent

FLITH + RASCALTON Sat 14 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stoke-on-Trent

GEM RECITALS - FOLK Sat 14 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

PERFORMING TALENT Sat 14 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

BASEL SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA Featurings Vasily Sinatsky (conductor) & Simon Trp eski (piano). Programme comprises Busoni’s Lustepiel Overture Op 38, 36; Saint-Saëns Cello Con certo, 19 & Beethoven’s Symphony No 7, 36th, Tues 10 Oct, O2 Academy Birmingham

SHOSTAKOVICH’S TWELFTH Featuring Ivor Bolton (conductor) & Sol Gabetta (cello). Programme comprises Beethoven’s Fidelio: Overture, 6 & Piano Concerto No5 (Emperor), 38+ Shostakovich’s Symphony No 12 (The Year 1917), 39, Wed 11 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

MARINSKY ORCHESTRA - SYMPHONIC DANCES Featuring Valery Gergiev (conductor) & Denis Matsuev (piano). Programme includes works by Rimsky-Korsakov’s Suite from The Golden Cockerel, 25; Prokofiev’s Piano Concerto No.2, 31; & Rachmaninoff’s Symphonic Dances Op 45, 35, Thurs 12 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

BABEYONDE AFTER BEETHOVEN: PRESTIGE FESTIVAL TOUR Featuring Tim Horton (piano). Programme features works by Beethoven & a set of newly commissioned Bagatelles, written to celebrate the thirty-fifth anniversary of the Prestige Festival, Fri 13 Oct, The Barber Institute, Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA - FANTASTIC SYMPHONY Featuring Michael Lloyd (conductor). Sun 15 Oct, Elgar Concert Hall, Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA Featuring Michael Lloyd (conductor) & Michael Webb (clarinet). Programme includes works by Beethoven & Elgar, Fri 13 Oct, Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent

JOE BEEEYAR: BACH BY CANDLELIGHT Featuring Jeffrey Skidmore (conductor), Elizabeth Adams, Katie Trehewe & Amy Wood (sopranos), Martha McLorinan (alto), Bradley Smith (tenor) & Greg Skidmore (bass). Sat 14 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

ORGAN PROMS Sat 14 Oct, Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent

THE PEOPLE’S ORCHESTRA Performing live music from Harry Potter & The Prisoner of Azkaban, Games of Thrones, Lord of the Rings, Star Trek and many more... Sat 14 Oct, West Bromwich Town Hall

CWMACH MALE CHOIR Sat 14 Oct, Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire

BIRMINGHAM PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA - FANTASTIC SYMPHONY Featuring Michael Lloyd (conductor). Sun 15 Oct, Elgar Concert Hall, Birmingham

COMEDY

BARBARA NICE Sun 8 Oct, The Old Rep Theatre, Birmingham

LEE NELSON Sun 8 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

GREG DAVIES Mon 9 - Tues 10 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

LARA A. KING, KAREN BAYLEY, LINDSEY SANTORO & MAUREEN YOUNG Wed 11 Oct, Kitchen Garden Cafe, B’ham

ANDY PARSONS Wed 11 Oct, The Place, Oakengates Theatre, Telford

whatsonlive.co.uk 57
Theatre

A TALE OF TWO CHIPPIES Little Earthquake draw upon real-life stories of integration and isolation, harmony & hostility, to explore what it means for Eastern Europeans to make a home in ‘the wild West Midlands’, Mon 9 Oct, Arena Theatre, Wolverhampton

FREEMAN Play inspired by the true story of a black man put on trial in 19th century New York whose case was the first in America to use ‘insanity’ as a defence, Mon 9 - Tues 10 Oct, The REP, Birmingham

HAIRSPRAY Starring Brenda Edwards and Norman Pace, Mon 9 - Sat 14 Oct, Birmingham Hippodrome

BAD GIRLS THE MUSICAL Original British musical based on characters from the award-winning and hugely popular television drama, Tues 10 - Wed 11 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

WAIT UNTIL DARK Jack Ellis (Bad Girls/Prime Suspect) & Oliver Mellor (Coronation Street) star in a new musical featuring the greatest hits of Dusty Springfield, Man Tues 10 - Sat 14 Oct, Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent

TALES OF BIRBAL Using humour, puppets, music and the occasional fake beard, Mashi and Bhanji bring to life timeless and treasured fables from the Indian sub-continent, Sun 15 Oct, The Patrick Centre, Birmingham Hippodrome

Dance

ZERO Humanhood merge surround sound/music, intricate lights, original costume, textured set design and mesmerising movement, Tues 10 Oct, Arena Theatre, Wolverhampton

SKIN 201 Dance Company use hip-hop to explore a boy’s journey through gender transition, Wed 11 Oct, Arena Theatre, Wolverhampton

MI FLAMENCO: INOCIGNET A show with ‘the spirit of authentic, pulsating flamenco’, Thurs 12 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

THE HEAD WRAP DIARIES Uchenna Dance present an interactive show about people and their ongoing relationship with hair, Thurs 12 Oct, SpArC, Bishops Castle, Shropshire

TWO FOLD Contact Dance Company explore themes of connection and separation,..., Fri 13 Oct, Arena Theatre, Wolverhampton

58 whatsonlive.co.uk
THE HEAD WRAP DIARIES Uchenna Dance present an interactive show about people and their ongoing relationship with hair, Fri 13 Oct, Newhampton Arts Centre, Wolverhampton

5 SOLDIERS: THE BODY IS THE FRONT-LINE Award-winning portrait of army life by Rosie Kay’s dance company, Fri 13 - Sat 14 Oct, The REP, B’ham

SWAN LAKE The Russian State Ballet & Opera House presents its version of the much-loved story of Odette & Odile, Sat 14 - Sun 15 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

ROMEO & JULIET The Russian State Ballet & Opera House presents its version of ‘the world’s greatest love story’, Sun 15 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

TAP FACTORY Rhythm-based production described as ‘Tap Dogs meets Stomp’, Sun 15 Oct, Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent

GORDON BUCHANAN: ANIMAL FAMILIES & ME The BBC TV wildlife presenter and cameraman shares stories of the natural world, Mon 9 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

STORIES CROSSING BORDERS: CHINELE OKPARANTA IN CONVERSATION Join Chinelo as she discusses identity, the testing of faith and the uncovering of her characters, Mon 9 Oct, The Studio @ The REP, Birmingham

MARK RADCLIFFE - SHOULD YOU BE INTERESTED Songs and stories of middle-aged angst, Tues 10 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre

ADVENTURES IN POETRY: BRUM STANZA Roz Goddard talks to poet Wayne Holloway-Smith, Thurs 12 Oct, The New Art Gallery, Walsall, until Sun 14 January

TOLKIEN’S OLD WORCESTERSHIRE AND OXFORD Illustrated talk covering JRR Tolkien’s life, Thurs 12 Oct, Selly Manor, Bournville, Birmingham

KAMILA SHAMSIE: HOME FIRE Join the Pakistani author as she talks about her new novel, which tells the heart-breaking tale of two British Muslim families with differing ideas about loyalty to the state, Thurs 12 Oct; Stoke Film Theatre, Fri 13 - Sat 14 Oct

GOODBYE CHRISTOPHER ROBIN (PG) Biography/Family. Starring Domhnall Gleeson. Old Market Hall & Park, Telford

THE PARTY (tbc) Comedy/Drama. Starring Rolf Lassgard, Bahar Parsk. Foreign language, subtitled. Foxlowe Arts Centre, Coventry, Mon 9 & Thurs 12 Oct; Stoke Film Theatre, Tues 10 Oct

THE HANDMAIDEN (18) Crime/Mystery. Starring Min-hee Kim, Jung-woo Ha. Stafford Gatehouse Theatre, Tues 10 Oct

A MAN CALLED OVE (12a) Comedy/Drama. Starring Rolf Lassgard, Bahar Parsk. Foreign language, subtitled. Foxlowe Arts Centre, Leek, Staffs, Tues 10 Oct

THE RITUAL (15) Drama. Starring Hamp Abbass, Diamond Bou Abboud. Foreign language, subtitled. Warwick Film Theatre, Fri 13 - Sat 14 Oct

A MAN CALLED OVE (12a) Comedy/Drama. Starring Rolf Lassgard, Bahar Parsk. Foreign language, subtitled. Foxlowe Arts Centre, Leek, Staffs, Tues 10 Oct

DETOUR (15) Crime/History. Starring John Boyega, Anthony Mackie. Stoke Film Theatre, Fri 13 - Sat 14 Oct

GOODBYE CHRISTOPHER ROBIN (PG) Biography/Family. Starring Judi Dench, Adeel Akhtar. Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire, Fri 13, Mon 16 - Wed 19 Oct

NEW FILMS ON GENERAL RELEASE:

GRAND DESIGNS LIVE Wed 11 - Sun 15 Oct, NEC, Birmingham

PHOTOGRAPHY WALK Spend the morning familiarising yourself with the basics of photography, Thurs 12 Oct, Shugborough Historic Working Estate, Stafford

BEHIND THE SCENES TOURS Sat 14 Oct, Birmingham Hippodrome

DIWALI Discover the story of Diwali via traditional music, dance and craft activities, Sat 14 Oct, The Potteries Museum & Art Gallery, Hanley

CRAFT BEER FESTIVAL Sat 14 Oct, Arena Theatre, Wolverhampton

SPOOKLEY PUMPKIN FESTIVAL Family-friendly alternative to Halloween, Sat 14 - Sun 15 Oct, Apley Farm Shop, Norton

SCAREFEST Compete with spooks, frights, thrills, and remaining open until 9pm, Sat 14 - Sun 15 Oct, Alton Towers, Staffordshire

ATTINGHAM HARVEST: DEER RUT WALKS Learn about the fallow deer herd and watch the rut in progress as the deer look for mates, Sat 14 - Sun 15 Oct, Attingham Park, Shrewsbury

HISTORIC LIGHTING WEEKEND Prepare for more than just a light to electric lamps, Sat 14 - Sun 15 Oct, Black Country Living Museum, Dudley

CHARACTER WEEKEND Pose for photographs alongside Freddo, Caramel Bunny or friends as they meet and greet visitors, Sat 14 - Sun 15 Oct, Cadbury World, Birmingham

MORE TREAT THAN TRICK Prepare for some spine-tingling fun, Sat 14 - Thurs 26 Oct, Drayton Manor Theme Park, Tamworth

TUNNEL TEAS Bring along your furry friend for a day of bear-themed fun on and around the canal, Sun 15 Oct, Dudley Canal and Tunnel Trust

WEDDING OPEN DAY View the venue, speak to catering managers and chat to the registrars, Sun 15 Oct, Hinley Hall & Park, Dudley
29th Sept, 8pm
Apple Of My Eye
Tickets: £10 adv, £12 otd

30th Sept, 25 Nov
Made In The Middle Exhibition
FREE

6th Oct, 8pm
At Burton Town Hall
Rich Hall’s Hoedown
Tickets: £17

11th Oct, 7pm
Cat Weatherill
The Song of Daenerys’ Son & other fables
Tickets: £8, £6 adv

19th Oct, 8pm
Phill Jupitus: Juplicity
Tickets: £12, £10 Sat Mat

7th Nov, 7.30pm
Liz Weir: Across the Water
Tales from Ireland and Beyond
Tickets: £6 adv, £8 otd

COMING SOON...

Box office:
01283 508100
BOOK ONLINE AT www.brewhouse.co.uk
Brewhouse Arts Centre
Union Street, Burton-upon-Trent
Staffordshire DE14 1AA
Gigs

SHANE FILAN Mon 16 Oct, Birmingham Town Hall
PALE WAVES Mon 16 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham
KING OF POP – THE LEGEND CONTINUES... Mon 16 Oct, Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent
MICHAIL KIWANUKA Mon 16 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham
MELLOW GANG, NON-SUCH & CROP CIRCLES Tues 17 Oct, The Sunflower Lounge, Birmingham
THE ESKIES Tues 17 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham
MARCO ALMOND Tues 17 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham
MILES HUNT & ERICA NOCKS Tues 17 Oct, The Glee Club, Birmingham
WALTER TROUT Tues 17 Oct, The Robin, Bilston
STARSALOR Tues 17 Oct, O2 Institute, Birmingham

LUCA STRICAGLIONI Wed 18 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham
SEETHER Wed 18 Oct, O2 Institute, Bham
MATTHEW E. WHITE Wed 18 Oct, Newhampton Arts Centre, W'hampton
GREG RUSSELL & CIARRAN ALDAR Wed 18 Oct, The Red Lion Folk Club, Birmingham
STONE FOUNDATION Wed 18 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham
JOHN MAYALL Thurs 19 Oct, Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent
CLEAN CUT KID Thurs 19 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stoke-on-Trent

THE WATERBOYS Thurs 19 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham
THE NIGHTINGALES, FUZZBOX & TED CHIPSTON Thurs 19 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham
O’HOELEY AND TIDOW Thurs 19 Oct, Kitchen Garden Café, Birmingham
MAD DOG MCNEA Thurs 19 Oct, The Robin, Bilston
COLLIE BUDDZ Thurs 19 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham
ROACHFORD Fri 20 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham
BECKY HILL Fri 20 Oct, O2 Institute, Bham
DIZZEE RASCAL Fri 20 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham
LED INTO ZEPPLIN Fri 20 Oct, Eleven, Stoke-on-Trent
THE VOICES OF ABBA Fri 20 Oct, National Brewery Centre, Burton-upon-Trent
TIM AMMAN X-TET Fri 20 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham
SOULD OUT Fri 20 Oct, The Robin, Bilston
AC/DC UK Fri 20 Oct, The River Rooms, Stourbridge
W.A.S.P Fri 20 Oct, Wulfrun Hall, Wolverhampton
GABRIELLE APLIN Fri 20 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham
THE CLONE ROSES Fri 20 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stoke-on-Trent
THE BLUES BAND Fri 20 Oct, Prince Of Wales Theatre, Cannock
MAGIC Fri 20 - Sat 21 Oct, Theatre On The Steps, Bridgnorth, South Shropshire
PLACEBO Sat 21 Oct, Civic Hall, W'hampton

THE YOUNGUNS Sat 21 Oct, mac, Birmingham
THE VERY BEST OF BRITISH CONCERT Sat 21 Oct, The Robin, Bilston
JOHN MAYALL Sat 21 Oct, Birmingham Town Hall
RAINBOW RISING Sat 21 Oct, Eleven, Stoke on Trent
THE KAR-PETS Sat 21 Oct, Foxlowes Arts Centre, LEEK, Staffs
ABBA MANIA Sat 21 Oct, Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent
TRAIN Sat 21 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham
TOO MANY TS Sat 21 Oct, The Sunflower Lounge, Birmingham
HUGH CORKWELL Sat 21 Oct, Wulfrun Hall, Wolverhampton

THE SOUTHMARTINS Sat 21 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham
TIGERCUB Sat 21 Oct, The Flapper, Bham
METRONOMY Sat 21 Oct, O2 Institute, Birmingham
WHITNEY - QUEEN OF THE NIGHT Sun 22 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre
MARLEY REPRISED Sun 22 Oct, New Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham
CLEAN CUT KID Sun 22 Oct, Newhampton Arts Centre, W'hampton
THE SOUTH: EX THE BEAUTIFUL SOUTH Sun 22 Oct, The Robin, Bilston
BANKS Sun 22 Oct, O2 Institute, Birmingham
MEAT LOAF Sun 22 Oct, Lichfield Guildhall
T-REXTASY Sun 22 Oct, Prince Of Wales Theatre, Cannock

Classical Music

BEETHOVEN TRIO Featuring John Thwaites (Piano), Jonathan Martin-dale (violin), Michael Jenkins (viola), Helen Edgar (cello), Oliver James (clarinet) & Elspeth Dutch (horn). Programme includes works by Beethoven & Dohnányi, Thurs 19 Oct, CBSO Centre, Birmingham
CBSO: CLASSIC FM SMOOTH CLASSICS Featuring the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra, Michael Seal (conductor) & John Brunning (presenter). Programme includes works by Brahms & Dohnányi, Thurs 19 Oct, Bham
RICHARD JENKINSON & ALEXANDER BOYD LUNCHEONTIME CONCERT Programme comprises Kodály's Sonata Op.4 & Rachmaninov's Sonata in G minor, Fri 20 Oct, The Barber Institute, Birmingham
KARL JENKINS - THE ARMED MAN Featuring the Manchester Concert Orchestra, Sir Karl Jenkins (conductor), Manchester Chorale, Joe Yeon Sir (violin) & Kathryn Rudge (mezzo-soprano), Sat 21 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham
CBSO: MYTHS AND LEGENDS Featuring the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra; Jonathan Bloxham (conductor) & Tom Redmond (presenter). Programme includes works by John Williams, Wagner, Sibelius, Copland, John Williams & Stravinsky, Sun 22 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

Comedy

TOADALLY FREE COMEDY! Mon 16 Oct, The Blue Orange Theatre, B'ham
DANNY BOY TUES 17 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre
BRIAN GITTINS Wed 18 Oct, The Glee Club, Birmingham
JAN RAVENS Thurs 19 Oct, Henry Tudor House, Shrewsbury
DAVID TREVET, JOSH PUGH & COMEDY CAROUSEL WITH ANDY ROBINSON Thurs 19 Oct, The Glee Club, B'ham
LUISA OMILIAN Thurs 19 Oct, The Comedy Loft, Birmingham
MATT REED, DAMIAN CLARK, LED KERISE & COMIC TBC Fri 20 - Sat 21 Oct, The Comedy Loft, Birmingham
DAVID TREVET, JOSH PUGH, IAN MOORE & BRUCE DEVLIN Fri 20 - Sat 21 Oct, The Glee Club, Birmingham
SULLY OSULLIVAN & NIGE Sat 21 Oct, Jongleurs Comedy Club, B'ham
ROB ROUSE, MARK SMITH, TOM WARD & DAMION LARKIN Sat 21 Oct, Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent

ms inside wwww.theslist.co.uk 61

Theatre

DOREEN: RISE OF THE YAM YAM Join the What’s On Personality Of The Year as she sets out to challenge Darwin’s Theory of Evolution... Mon 16 Oct, Prince of Wales Centre, Cannock
SHERLOCK HOLMES & THE CRIMSON COBBLES Quirky show in which Holmes stalks Jack the Ripper, Tues 17 Oct, Tamworth Arts Centre, Staffs
OUR HOUSE A Sutton Coldfield Musical Theatre Company production, Tues 17 - Sat 21 Oct, Lichfield Garrick
SISTER ACT Amateur staging by Musical Theatre Stafford Tues 17 - Sat 21 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre
KICK IN THE BAUBLES Get set for a car-crash Christmas, Tues 17 Sat 21 Oct, Lichfield Garrick
THE ADDAMS FAMILY Samantha Womack, Les Dennis and Carrie Hope Fletcher star in this stage version of the cult TV series, Tues 17 - Sat 21 Oct, Wolverhampton Grand Theatre
OBAMA AND ME One-woman show that explores the meaning of identity, whatsonlive.co.uk 61

Monday 16 - Sunday 22 October
WHODUNNIT One-man show from comic, poet & psychiatric nurse Rob Gee, Fri 20 Oct, Clunfordon Parish Hall, Nr Craven Arms, South Shropshire

FRANKENSTEIN 1899 Don’t Go Into The Cellar present a unique reimagining of the classic Gothic horror, Fri 20 Oct, The Potteries Museum & Art Gallery, Hanley, Stoke-on-Trent

NATIVITY! The Musical Major new stage adaptation based on the film of the same name, Fri 20 Oct - Sun 12 Nov, The REP, Birmingham

NOTORIOUS The Famous Lauren Barri Holstein contemplates representations of women, Fri 20 - Sat 21 Oct, The REP, Birmingham

BEDLAM: HEARING THINGS Provocative drama exploring the dilemmas of psychiatry from the points of view of patients, relatives and staff, Sat 21 Oct, The REP, Birmingham

POPE HEAD: THE SECRET LIFE OF FRANCIS BACON A dark, comedic drama exploring the life, art, sexuality, psyche and philosophies of artist Francis Bacon, Sat 21 Oct, Old Joint Stock Theatre, Birmingham

CLAPPER BOX Quirky adaptations of favourite movies using puppetry and the imagination, Sat 21 Oct, Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire

LORE OF AVERAGES Treefrog Theatre Company take a light-hearted look at what happens when stories from the distant past are brought into the present day, Sat 21 Oct, mac, B’ham

FORGET ME NOT - THE ALZHEIMER’S WHODUNNIT One-man show from comic, poet & psychiatric nurse Rob Gee, Sat 21 Oct, Clunfordon Parish Hall, Nr Craven Arms, South Shropshire dancing, chocolate cake and an epic car chase! For ages seven-plus. Sat 21 - Sun 22 Oct, Roundabout, Hanley, Stoke-on-Trent

MULTIVERSE UK premiere in which Louis Vanhaverbeke is a multifunctional disc-jockey with a set of odd props. Forms part of the Fierce Festival 2017, Sat 21 - Sun 22 Oct, mac, Birmingham

OUT OF LOVE A tale of friendship, love and rivalry over 30 years, Sun 22 Oct, Roundabout, Hanley, Stoke-on-Trent

DOREEN: RISE OF THE YAM YAM Join The What’s On Personality Of The Year as she sets out to challenge Darwin’s Theory of Evolution... Sun 22 Oct, Wolverhampton Grand Theatre

DISCOVERY DAY: BEDLAM SHOWCASE Innovative local companies showcase groundbreaking work, Sun 22 Oct, The REP, Birmingham

PATHS OF POWER GP presents its production of Bellini’s masterful opera, Salome, Sat 21 Oct, The Potteries Museum & Art Gallery, Hanley, Stoke-on-Trent

HERS am highly original recontextualisation of the story of two doctors, one a man, the other a woman, Thu 19 Oct, Stourbridge Town Hall, Stourbridge

RUTH SNYDER, Wed 18 - Sat 21 Oct, Birmingham School of Acting, Birmingham

THE CAKE A SING-SONG PARTY How will the tourists react when they experience Christmas in an English village? Sat 21 Oct, The Potteries Museum & Art Gallery, Hanley, Stoke-on-Trent

THE INVISIBLE CITY by international choreographers taking inspiration from their native countries, Wed 18 - Sat 21 Oct, Birmingham Hippodrome

I RIDE IN COLOUR AND SOFT FOCUS, NO LONGER ANYWHERE Choreography that prioritises density over going anywhere, noise over silence, now over yesterday and pleasure over doing it right. Presented as part of Fierce Festival, Thurs 19 Oct, mac, Birmingham

PILGRIM A physical journey through the mystical sound scores created by electronic musician James Holden. Presented as part of Fierce Festival, Fri 20 Oct, The Patrick Centre, Birmingham Hippodrome

HIGHER Michele Rizzo explores the cathartic power of dance, as a form of prayer and celebration of existence. UK premiere presented as part of Fierce Festival, Sat 21 Oct, The Patrick Centre, Birmingham Hippodrome

Headz 2 Stories High offer an insight into the lives of Liverpool’s young people through a series of contemporary urban monologues, Thurs 19 Oct, mac, Birmingham

MEL NICHOLLS: PARALYMPIAN & ADVENTURE STORYTELLER Join Mel as she talks about her ambitions for her sporting future, her love of adventure and her desire to push boundaries, Thurs 19 Oct, The Roses, Kidderminster

The Life of May Morris Join the House Steward for a relaxed talk followed by a walking tour of the collection, Sat 21 Oct, Wightwick Manor, Wolverhampton

An Evening with Aggers & Bumble Cricket commentators Jonathan Agnew and David ‘Bumble’ Lloyd team up, Sun 22 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

ARELENE! THE GLITZ. THE GLAMOUR. THE Gossip Join Arlene Phillips as she talks about her lifetime in dance, Sun 22 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

Talks

FRIENDS’ TALK: LORD BYRON IN LONDON Wed 18 Oct, Coalbrookdale Museum of Iron, Ironbridge, Shropshire

Headz 2 Stories High offer an insight into the lives of Liverpool’s young people through a series of contemporary urban monologues, Thurs 19 Oct, mac, Birmingham

MEL NICHOLLS: PARALYMPIAN & ADVENTURE STORYTELLER Join Mel as she talks about her ambitions for her sporting future, her love of adventure and her desire to push boundaries, Thurs 19 Oct, The Roses, Kidderminster

The Life of May Morris Join the House Steward for a relaxed talk followed by a walking tour of the collection, Sat 21 Oct, Wightwick Manor, Wolverhampton

An Evening with Aggers & Bumble Cricket commentators Jonathan Agnew and David ‘Bumble’ Lloyd team up, Sun 22 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

ARELENE! THE GLITZ. THE GLAMOUR. THE Gossip Join Arlene Phillips as she talks about her lifetime in dance, Sun 22 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

Kids shows

AWFUL AUNTIE Staging of David Walliams’ tale of frights, fights and friendship, Wed 18 - Sat 21 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

DISNEY ON ICE: PASSPORT TO ADVENTURE Journey to the timeless worlds of The Lion King, The Little Mermaid, Peter Pan and Frozen, Wed 18 - Sun 29 Oct, Arena Birmingham

THE WIND IN THE WILLOWS Box Tale Soup present a new version of Kenneth Grahame’s much-loved classic, Fri 20 Oct, Wern Town Hall, North Shropshire

Dance

A POSITIVE LIFE An immersive theatre experience featuring dance, physical theatre and spoken word, Tues 17 Oct, mac, Birmingham

ACOSTA DANZA Featuring new and existing pieces by Cuban choreographers and newly commissioned work by international choreographers taking inspiration from their native countries, Wed 18 - Sat 21 Oct, Birmingham Hippodrome

Rudence: Who’s The Boss? Meet the girls of Fierce Festival, Thurs 19 Oct, mac, Birmingham

Film

INDEPENDENT LISTINGS:

VICEROY’S HOUSE (PG) Biography/Drama. Starring Gillian Anderson, Michael Gambon, Hugh Bonneville. Stourbridge Town Hall, Mon 16 Oct

20TH CENTURY WOMEN (15) Comedy/Drama. Starring Annette Bening, Elle Fanning. Edge Arts Centre, Much Wenlock, South Shropshire
shire, Mon 16 Oct

LOVING (12A) Biography/Drama. Starring Ruth Negga, Joel Edgerton. Foxlowe Arts Centre, Leek, Staffs, Tues 17 Oct

EARTH: ONE AMAZING DAY (U) Documentary. Old Market Hall, Shrewsbury, Fri 20 Oct

BRIMSTONE (18) Thriller/Western. Starring Carice van Houten, Kit Harington. Old Market Hall, Shrewsbury, Fri 20 - Thurs 26 Oct

NEW FILMS ON GENERAL RELEASE:

Released from Fri 20 Oct, showing at selected cinemas

EARTH: ONE AMAZING DAY (U)

GEOSTORM (12a)

HAPPY DEATH DAY (tbc)

JUNGLE (15)

MARSHALL (15)

MY LITTLE PONY, THE MOVIE (tbc)

THE DEATH OF STALIN (15)

Events

THE MOTORHOME AND CARAVAN SHOW
Snap up the most up-to-date accessories and gadgets, Tues 17 - Sun 22 Oct, NEC, Birmingham

GIN JAMBOREE Craft distillers and expert bartenders mix amongst the crowds, offering samples and explaining why their gin or mix is so special, Fri 20 Oct, Shrewsbury School

CHOCOLATE FESTIVAL Featuring music, entertainment, and food stalls selling a range of indulgent and unusual treats, Fri 20 - Sat 21 Oct, Brindleyplace, Birmingham

A WEEKEND OF WORDS Featuring an eclectic array of authors, musicians, actors & comedians - including Shappi Khorsandi, Julian Glover, Peter Snow and Andy Hamilton, Fri 20 - Sun 22 Oct, Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire

SCAREFEST Complete with spooks, frights, thrills, and remaining open until 9pm, Fri 20 - Tues 31 Oct, Atton Towers, Staffs

MURDER-MYSTERY EVENING Sat 21 Oct, The Lion Hotel, Shrewsbury

DIVE 2017 The UK’s biggest event for scuba divers, Sat 21 - Sun 22 Oct, NEC, Birmingham

VICTORIAN HALLOWEEN The residents of Blists Hill Victorian Town celebrate Halloween in traditional style, Sat 21 - Sun 29 Oct, Blists Hill, Ironbridge

SPOOKLEY PUMPKIN FESTIVAL Family-friendly alternative to Halloween, Sat 21 - Sun 29 Oct, Apley Farm Shop, Norton, Nr Shifnal, Shropshire

SPooky CREATures Of attingHam WOOD Trail Explore the grounds via a spooky family trail, Sat 21 - Sun 29 Oct, Attingham Park, Shrewsbury

HALLOWEEN SPOOKTACULAR Help Witchy Woo Woo and Wolfman beat cheating villain Franky Frankenstar, Sat 21 - Sun 29 Oct, Cadbury World, Birmingham

October half-term Explore the estate on the pumpkin trails and sample a seasonal recipe in one of the tea rooms, Sat 21 - Sun 29 Oct, Shugborough Historic Working Estate, Staffordshire

FOUL FOODS - half-term activities Become a Victorian food detective and help separate foul foods from tasty treats, Sat 21 - Sun 29 Oct, Black Country Living Museum, Dudley

NIMROD TOURS Step on board the Nimrod and learn about its intelligence-gathering role in the Royal Air Force, Sat 21 - Sun 29 Oct, RAF Cosford, Shifnal
Gigs

STRANGE BONES Mon 23 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stoke-on-Trent
IRIT Mon 23 Oct, The Glee Club, Birmingham
LONDON GRAMMAR Mon 23 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham
MARMOSETS Mon 23 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham
SKINNY MOLLY Mon 23 Oct, The Robin, Bilston
CHARLOTTE CARPENTER WITH AUTUMN EVANS Mon 23 Oct, The Sunflower Lounge, B’ham

Tues 24 Oct, Prince Of Wales Theatre, Cannock
RAYMOND FROGGATT Tues 24, Prince Of Wales Theatre, Cannock
Ralph McTell Tues 24 Oct, The Sunflower Lounge, B’ham

Thurs 26 Oct, The Cathedral Church, Shrewsbury
FAIRPORT CONVENTION Thurs 26 Oct, Ludlow Assembly Rooms, Ludlow, South Shropshire
SLEAFORD MODS Thurs 26 Oct, O2 Institute, Birmingham
ULRICH SCHNAUSS Thurs 26 Oct, Mama Roux’s, Birmingham

LOUIS BERRY Wed 25 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stoke-on-Trent

LULU Wed 25 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury
THE ILLEGAL EAGLES Wed 25 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre, Shrewsbury

EMELI SANDÉ Wed 25 Oct, Genting Arena, Birmingham

LOUIS BERRY Wed 25 Oct, The Sugarmill, Stoke-on-Trent

THE SENSATIONAL 60S EXPERIENCE Thurs 26 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

LIAM FRAY Thurs 26 Oct, The Slade Rooms, Wolverhampton

LES MCKEOWN'S BAY CITY ROLLERS Thurs 26 Oct, O2 Academy, Birmingham

Y&T Sat 28 Oct, The Robin, Bilston
DR HOOK FEATURING DENNIS LOCO RICER Sat 28 Oct, Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent
ERIC BENÉT Sat 28 Oct, O2 Institute, B’ham
SAX IN THE CITY Sat 28 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham
JEAN GENE - TRIBUTE TO DAVID BOWIE Sat 28, The Roadhouse, Birmingham

O’HODLEY AND TIDOW Sat 28 Oct, Birch meadow Centre, Broseley, Shropshire
BUGZY MALONE Sat 28 Oct, O2 Institute, B’ham
DECLAN MCKENNA Sat 28 Oct, O2 Institute, Birmingham

Bilston
LULU Sun 29 Oct, Wolverhampton Grand Theatre
BLAIR DUNLOP & SPECIAL GUEST BROOKE SHARKEY Sun 29 Oct, Henry Tudor House, Shrewsbury
JUDIE TZUKE Sun 29 Oct, The Robin, Bilston

Birmingham
SKINNY MOLLY Sun 29 Oct, The Roadhouse, Birmingham
JOSE JAMES Sun 29 Oct, Lichfield Guildhall

KIOKO Mon 30 Oct, The Glee Club, Birmingham

METALLICA Mon 30 Oct, Genting Arena, B’ham
BLAIR DUNLOP & SPECIAL GUEST BROOKE SHARKEY Mon 30 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre

TOURS: BEN PARADISE Mon 30 Oct, New Vic Theatre, Newcastle-under-Lyme, Staffordshire

AABHE REDDY Mon 30 Oct, Henry Tudor House, Shrewsbury
AKON WITH CONVICT KARTEL Mon 30 Oct, O2 Institute, Birmingham

ELECTUS Mon 30 Oct, The Robin, Bilston
JASON ISBELL AND THE 400 UNIT Tues 31 Oct, Symphony Hall, B’ham

GHOSTPOET Tues 31 Oct, Mama Roux’s, Birmingham

HARRY MANX Tues 31 Oct, The Robin, Bilston
DJ FORMAT & ABDOMINAL Tues 31 Oct, Hare & Hounds, Birmingham

Classical Music

LUNCHTIME ORGAN CONCERT WITH ANTONIUS BORELLI PROGRAMME includes works by Borelli. Featuring soloist from the orchestra, Edward Gardner (conductor) & the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra.

CBSO: VERDI’S REQUIEM Featuring the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra, Edward Gardner (conductor) & the CBSO Chorus. Programme includes works by Rossini, The Barber Of Seville (Overture), Webber’s Clarinet Concerto and CBSO Chorus, Wed 25 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

ORCHESTRA OF THE SWAN Featuring David Curtis (conductor) & Julian Bliss (clarinet). Programme includes Rossini’s The Barber Of Seville (Overture), Webber’s Clarinet Concerto and CBSO Chorus

Harpsichord; Mozart’s Divertimento in F; JS Bach’s Harpsichord concerto in D minor & Telemann’s Polish Concerto, Sat 28 Oct, The Barber Institute, Birmingham

CBSO YOUTH ORCHESTRA: SPANISH FIESTA Featuring Mirga Gražinyt-Tyla (conductor) & the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra. Programme includes works by Debussy, Bizet & Falla, Sun 29 Oct, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

DAME MITSUKO UCHIDA: SCHUBERT SONATAS Dame Mitsuko Uchida plays the piano sonatas of Schubert including Sonata in B major D 785, 25″; Sonata in A minor DB845, 30” & Sonata in D major D 850, 39”, Mon 30 Oct, Birmingham Town Hall

HALLOWEEN SILENT MOVIE SPECIAL Nigel Ogden performs a double-bill of classics on the organ comprising the score from Frankenstein & Nosferatu, Tues 31 Oct, Birmingham Town Hall

Comedy

ED GAMBLE Thurs 26 Oct, Henry Tudor House, Shrewsbury
TOM STAGE THURS 26 Oct, Wulfrun Hall, Wolverhampton

MARC JENNINGS, THOMAS RACKHAM & ABIGAILIAN SCHEMAU Wed 26 Oct, Crescent, Theatre, Birmingham

LARRY DEAN, NIGEL NG & COMEDY CAROUSEL WITH ANDY ROBINSON Thurs 26 Oct, The Glee Club, Birmingham

RUBY WAX Fri 27 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre

BRIGIT CLARK, DAVID WARD Fri 27 Oct, Jongleurs Comedy Club, B’ham

ADAM BLOOM, IAN BOLDSTOW, ANDREW RYAN & COMIC TBC Fri 27 - Sat 28 Oct, The Comedy Loft, B’ham

ANDY ROBINSON, LARRY DEAN, MICHAEL LEGGE & GORDON SOUTHERN Fri 27 - Sat 28 Oct, The Glee Club, B’ham

ALI COOK Sat 28 Oct, mac, B’ham

DAMIAN CLARK, DAVID WARD Sat 28 Oct, Jongleurs Comedy Club, B’ham

ROFL! COMEDY CLUB Sat 28 Oct, The Old Post Office, Burton-upon-Trent

COMEDY IN THE MET Sat 28 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre

PATRICK MONAHAN, PRINCE ABDI, KAE KURD & THAT INDIAN GUY Sun 29 Oct, The Glee Club, Birmingham

BRIGHT CLUB Mon 30 Oct, Arena Theatre, Wolverhampton
The List

Monday 23 - Tuesday 31 October

Theatre

MAD ABOUT THE MUSICALS Whistle-stop tour of the shows, from the heart of London’s theatrical to the glitz of Broadway, Mon 23 Oct, Lichfield Garrick

THE MAGIC FLUTE OperaUpClose perform a brand new take on Mozart’s classic, Mon 23 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

THERE AND BACK AGAIN - AN ODYSSEY Patrick Lynch launches Ulysses and his companions on a fantastic voyage, Mon 23 Oct, Stafford Gatehouse Theatre

ALL IN Atresbandes Theatre Company’s darkly playful exploration of the millennial condition, Mon 23 Oct, mac, Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM IMPROV FESTIVAL Featuring completely improvised plays, musicals, sketches, songs, drama, cabaret and workshops, Mon 23 - Sun 29 Oct, The Blue Orange Theatre, Birmingham

DIRTY DUSTING Heartwarming comedy starring Crissy Rock, Dolores Porretta, Leah Bell & Lee Brannigan, Tues 24 Oct, Lichfield Garrick

THE CARPENTERS STORY Homage to one of the most successful pop duos in history, Tues 24 Oct, New Alexandra Theatre, Wolverhampton

JOSEPH AND THE AMAZING TECHNICOLOR DREAMCOAT X Factor winner Joe McElderry dons the coveted coat in Tim Rice and Andrew Lloyd Webber’s sparkling family musical, Tues 24 - Sat 28 Oct, Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent

CRAZY FOR YOU Caroline Flack, Charlotte Wakefield and Tom Chambers star in George Gershwin’s popular musical, Tues 24 - Sat 28 Oct, Birmingham Hippodrome

LET’S TWIST AGAIN Nostalgia show reliving the fun, laughter and music of the rock’n’roll era, Wed 25 Oct, Lichfield Garrick

5 A DAY - MOMENTS OF LOVE AND DEATH Play about our search for ‘a good death’ - an end without pain, loneliness or fear, Wed 25 Oct, The Hive, Shrewsbury

SINGALONGA ROCKY HORROR SHOW The camp cult classic gets the sing-along-treatment it’s been screaming for! Sat 28 Oct, Wolverhampton Grand Theatre

DOOREN: RISE OF THE YAM YAM Join the What’s On Personality Of The Year as she sets out to challenge Darwin’s Theory of Evolution... Fri 27 Oct, For est Centre, Walsall

5 A DAY: MOMENTS OF LOVE AND DEATH Play about our search for ‘a good death’ - an end without pain, loneliness or fear, Fri 27 Oct, The Hive, Shrewsbury

SINGALONGA ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW The camp cult classic gets the sing-along-treatment it’s been screaming for! Sat 28 Oct, Wolverhampton Grand Theatre

DOOREN: RISE OF THE YAM YAM Join the What’s On Personality Of The Year as she sets out to challenge Darwin’s Theory of Evolution... Sat 28 Oct, The Place, Oakengates Theatre, Telford

AUSTEN/TATIOUS Improvised comedy play, Sat 28 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

THAT’S LIFE - THE FRANK SINATRA STORY Celebrating the life and music of Ol’ Blue Eyes, Sat 28 Oct, Lichfield Garrick

HELLOWORLD Immersive four-hour event, Sat 28 - Sun 29 Oct, Genting Arena, Birmingham

classic ghost story, Thurs 26 Oct, The Rose Theatre, Kidderminster

PANOPTIC CIRCUS THEATRE: PAN'G ON! Featuring comedy, audience participation and improvisation, Thurs 26 Oct, Brewhouse Arts Centre, Burton-upon-Trent

DOUBLE DICKENS... Featuring The Trial Of Pickwick, from The Pickwick Papers and Doctor Marigold’s Prescriptions - a colourful Dickens tale, Thurs 26 Oct, Arena Theatre, Wolverhampton

WHERE DO ALL THE DEAD PIGEONS GO? A story of friendship, love and loneliness, set on the dark side of the moon, Thurs 26 Oct, mac, Birmingham

FINDING JOY Masked theatrical company Vamos explore the subject of dementia ‘through humour and humanity’, Thurs 26 - Sat 28 Oct, Lichfield Garrick

OH WHAT A NIGHT! A Night Drayton Amanda presents a tribute to the American jukebox, Thurs 26 - Sat 28 Oct, Festival Drayton Centre, Market Drayton, North Shropshire

DELIGHTFUL Exploration of love, grief and how the state of our minds can affect how we remember our past, Thurs 26 - Sat 28 Oct, The REP, Birmingham

DOOREN: RISE OF THE YAM YAM Join the What’s On Personality Of The Year as she sets out to challenge Darwin’s Theory of Evolution... Fri 27 Oct, For est Centre, Walsall

MACBETH The Crescent Theatre Company presents its version of Shakespeare’s famous tragedy, Sat 28 Oct - Sat 4 Nov, Crescent Theatre, Birmingham

WUTHERING HEIGHTS Hotbookle presents Emily Bronte’s Gothic classic, Sun 29 - Mon 30 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

LOOK BACK IN ANGER Rumpus Theatre Company presents John Osborne’s kitchen-sink drama, Mon 30 Oct - Sat 4 Nov, The Rose Theatre, Kidderminster

KHOVANSHCHINA Mussorgsky’s epic opera, addressing themes of politics, madness and death, Tues 31 Oct, Birmingham Hippodrome

WE ARE THE LIONS, MR MANAGER! The remarkable story of Jayaben Desai, the inspirational leader of the 1976-78 Grunwick Strike, Tues 31 Oct, Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury

THE ELVIS DEAD Cult classic horror movie Evil Dead 2, reinterpreted through the songs of Elvis, Tues 31 Oct, Arena Theatre, Wolverhampton

CHARLES DICKENS’ GHOST STORIES Featuring two of Dickens’ most chilling supernatural tales - The Signalman and The Haunted Man, Tues 31 Oct - Sat 11 Nov, The Blue Orange Theatre, Birmingham

Kids shows

THE NEW ADVENTURES OF PUSS IN BOOTS Starring Julie Patton from Cats and Grand Theatre pantomime dame Ian Adams, Mon 23 Oct, Wolverhampton Grand Theatre

DICK AND DOM LIVE The BAFTA-winning stars, live on stage, Mon 23 Oct, Prince Of Wales Centre, Cannock

DOIRS THE DRAGON ‘Fun-packed’ show for children, Tues 24 Oct, Stourbridge Town Hall

THE GIRL AND THE GIRAFFE Half Moon Theatre story about wellbeing and friendship, told from a child’s perspective, Tues 24 - Thurs 26 Oct, mac, Birmingham

64 ZOO LANE Family-friendly musical based on the award-winning children’s series of the same name, Wed 25 - Sun 29 Oct, Old Rep Theatre, Birmingham

THE CHRISS AND PUI SHOW New stage show with toys and characters from the hit TV programme, Thurs 26 Oct, The Place, Oakengates Theatre, Telford

SIGNOR BAFFO Interactive children’s show, Thurs 26 Oct, Newhall Manor Hall, Kidderminster

whatsonlive.co.uk 65
Dance

INTER_RUPTED Brand new creation by Aditi Mangaldas Dance Company - a high-octane work based on disintegration, fragility, vulnerability, age and transience, Mon 23 Oct, Birmingham Hippodrome

THE NUTCRACKER Seasonal favourite featuring the music of Tchaikovsky, Wed 25 Oct, The Place, Oakengates Theatre, Telford

INFUSION EMPIRUM Boundary-pushing displays of bellydancing, Fri 27 Oct, Crescent Theatre, Birmingham

Film

INDEPENDENT LISTINGS:

THE JUNGLE BUNCH (U) Animation/Adventure. With the voices of Paul Borne, Philippe Bozo. Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire, Mon 23 - Tues 24 Oct; Old Market Hall, Shrewsbury, Mon 23 - Sat 28 Oct

THE BOSS BABY (U) Animation/Musical. Starring Emma Watson, Dan Stevens, Edge Arts Centre, Much Wenlock, South Shropshire, Mon 30 Oct

THE NUT JOB 2 (U) Animation/Adventure. With the voices of Will Arnett, Katherine Heigl. Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire, Tues 24 - Wed 25 Oct; Festival Drayton Centre, Market Drayton, South Shropshire, Thurs 26 Oct

VIGEROY’S HOUSE (PG) Biography/Drama. Starring Gillian Anderson, Michael Gambon, Hugh Bonneville. Forest Arts Centre, Walsall, Thurs 26 Oct

MY LIFE AS A COURGETTE (PG) Animation/Comedy. With the voices of Gaspard Schlattner, Sixtine Murat. Foxlowe Arts Centre, Leek, Staffs, Thurs 26 Oct

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST (PG) Fantasy/Musical. Starring Emma Watson, Dan Stevens, Edge Arts Centre, Much Wenlock, South Shropshire, Mon 30 Oct

DENIAL (12a) Biography/Drama. Starring Rachel Weisz, Tom Wilkinson. Foxlowe Arts Centre, Leek, Staffs, Tues 31 Oct

A MAN CALLED OVE (12a) Comedy/Drama. Starring Rolf Lassgård, Bahar Parsi. Foreign language, subtitled. Stafford Gatehouse Theatre, Tues 31 Oct

NEW FILMS ON GENERAL RELEASE:

Released from Tues 24 Oct, showing at selected cinemas

THOR: RAGNAROK (PG) BREATHE (12a) CALL ME BY YOUR NAME (15) JIGSAW (18)

Events

MAD SCIENCE Hands-on indoor Halloween-themed experiments involving vampire blood and Frankenstein snot, Mon 23 - Wed 25 Oct, Trentham Gardens, Stoke-on-Trent

AIRFIX MAKE AND TAKE Suitable for seasoned model makers or those new to Airfix, Mon 23 - Fri 27 Oct, RAF Cosford, Shifnal

HAUNTED CASTLE Encounter a series of spooky characters and activities as you tour the castle, Mon 23 - Fri 27 Oct, Tamworth Castle, Staffordshire

CHILLS AND THRILLS Visit the Deadly Dungeon for some half-term Halloween fun, including fierce face painting, freaky fancy dress, game and a creepy colouring competition, Mon 23 - Sun 29 Oct, Trentham Monkey Forest, Stoke-on-Trent

HALLOWEEN HUNT The ghouls and ghosts of Himley Hall have escaped onto the park. Find them all and claim your spooky certificate, Tues 24 Oct, Himley Hall & Park, Dudley

PUMPKIN CARVING Try your hand at making a traditional Halloween decoration, Tues 24 - Wed 25 Oct, Attingham Park, Shrewsbury

BEHIND THE SCENES AT THE GRAND Wed 25 Oct, Wolverhampton Grand Theatre

MURDER BY GASLIGHT A ghastly audience with two of the most infamous poisoners in British history - William Palmer and Harvey Crippen, Wed 25 Oc, Lightwoods Park, Birmingham

THE GHOST WALK Explore the ghostly avenues and alleyways of ancient Bridgnorth, where lurking in the shadows are 10 ghosts who left their earthly bodies behind, Wed 25 - Thurs 26 Oct, Various locations in Bridgnorth, South Shropshire

HALLOWEEN NIGHTS Trick-or-treat along the gaslit cobbled streets and enjoy street entertainment from circus performers, fire-jugglers and magicians, Wed 25 - Sat 28 Oct, Black Country Living Museum, Dudley

HALLOWEEN HOCUS FOCUS Visit the candi’d pumpkin patch, enjoy creepy crafts & colouring, take a spooky selfie with Lou the Bat and enjoy Dippy’s Halloween show & disco, Thurs 26 - Sat 28 Oct, Dudley Zoological Gardens

BRICK LIVE Celebrating all things Lego, Thurs 26 - Sun 29 Oct, NEC, Birmingham

BLACKOUT - LOCK IN Event offering after-dark access to all areas - with only a torch to guide you, Fri 27 Oct, New Alexandra Theatre, Birmingham

HALLOWEEN SPOOKTACULAR Fri 27 Oct, The British Ironwork Centre, Oswestry, North Shropshire

PARANORMAL EVENING Featuring a history/ghost tour, vigils, use of paranormal equipment and more, Fri 27 - Sat 28 Oct, Dudley Zoological Gardens

HALLOWEEN ADULT ONLY GHOST TOURS Fri 27 - Sat 28 Oct, National Brewery Centre, Burton-upon-Trent

THE MURDEROUS MANSION Meet the master of the mansion, hear his spooky tale and take on his tricky task, Fri 27 - Sat 28 Oct, Attingham Park, Shrewsbury

CHILDREN’S HALLOWEEN Enjoy special children’s boat trips through Dudley’s fantastic underground caverns, Fri 27 - Sun 29 Oct, Dudley Canal and Tunnel Trust

SKY-FI FIREWORKS SPECTACULAR A ‘galactic gathering’ which sees fire works set to music from popular classics, including Doctor Who, Star Trek, Star Wars and Guardians Of The Galaxy and many more, Fri 27 - Sun 29 Oct, Drayton Manor Theme Park, Tamworth

GCCF SUPREME CAT SHOW Sat 28 Oct, NEC, Birmingham

CHILDREN’S HALLOWEEN EVENING Get dressed up in your spookiest costume and enjoy the ghostly goings on around the castle, Sat 28 Oct, Tamworth Castle

HORRIBLE WILLENHALL HISTORIES Featuring a spooky trail and family-friendly ghost stories, Sat 28 Oct, Black Country Living Museum, Dudley

WEST MIDLANDS VEGAN FESTIVAL Sat 28 - Sun 29 Oct, Civic Hall, Wolverhampton

GHOST SEARCH Ghost walk around the castle, with vigils conducted in reputedly haunted rooms, Tues 31 Oct, Tamworth Castle
Birmingham Comedy Festival
6-15 Oct 2017

Matt Lucas • Greg Davies
Joe Lycett • Spamanot!
Henning Wehn • Simon Day
Simon Amstell • Barbara Nice

2x Free Half-Dayers
Breaking Talent Award
Impractical Jokers
Laurel & Hardy • Mark Watson
Scummy Mummies • Robin Ince
Woody Allen[ish] • Over the Fence Films

Stand-up, plus theatre, improv, sketches, films, and much more...

For more information & full listings see:
bhamcomfest.co.uk
Wellbeing Festival
NEC, Birmingham
3 - 5 November 2017

Live Music  Spa
Yoga  Meditation
Nutrition  Health
150 + Exhibitors  27 Workshops
100 Hours of Free Content!

It's much more than a feeling
It's a way of being!

www.mindbodyspirit.co.uk

Tickets now on sale