Comic Chris McCausland promises plenty of Waffle

BAFTA-winning comedian Chris McCausland will visit various West Midlands venues when he takes brand-new show Waffle on tour in 2027/28.
Commenting on the news, Chris said: "I'll be starting this tour three months after turning 50, so if I was you, I'd get your tickets early to avoid having to stare at the top of my balding head from up in the gods for the duration of the show. It's not going to be a pleasant sight from up there. You have been warned!..." To find out where and when Chris is visiting a venue near you, head to his website at chrismccausland.com

Pentabus searching for local young playwrights

Applications are now open for the Pentabus Local Young Writers initiative.
The transformative six-month scriptwriting course, designed for aspiring playwrights between the ages of 18 and 30, runs from February to July next year.
The part-time programme offers a blend of online and in-person sessions at Ludlow Assembly Rooms in South Shropshire, ensuring accessibility for participants across the region.
Applicants don't need to have any playwriting experience; just a curiosity about writing for the stage.
Full application details are available at pentabus.co.uk. The deadline to apply is 10am on Monday 4 January.

The Entitled Sons

LOOP, Shrewsbury, Fri 11 December

Somerset five-piece The Entitled Sons is a real family affair, bringing together four siblings - Billy, Charlie, Rafferty and Laurie - with their dad and bassist, Graham Swift.
Formed in 2022, the boys serve up a winning blend of contemporary electronic synths, classic guitar riffs and thought-provoking lyrics, all wrapped up in songs that "audiences can sing back on first listen".

Royal Blood

The Civic at The Halls, Wolverhampton, Wed 2 December

"No-one saw the years of us playing in loads of bands to no-one," says Mike Kerr, one half of rock duo Royal Blood (the other member being Ben Thatcher). "That all gets swept under the carpet because the other story is magical and much more wondrous.
"Luck is where passion meets opportunity. We got our golden ticket and walked out victorious. We were in the right place at the right time, and we have to remember to give ourselves the credit that we didn't get into this position by winning a quiz show; we put in a serious amount of work. We're good, and we're committed to this."

Beans On Toast

The Rigger, Newcastle-under-Lyme, Sun 6 December

Self-confessed hippie drunkard Beans On Toast (aka Jay McAllister) selected his stage name because he wanted to be called something basic and simple - to reflect his music!
"I'm not the greatest guitarist in the world," he once admitted to Listen Up Manchester. "I play simple three-chord folk songs, but if I see something that interests me, something that intrigues or angers me, I pick up my guitar and I write a song."
Emerging from the London folk scene two decades ago and mainly singing about sex, drugs and politics, Beans On Toast is a surefire bet for an entertaining evening out.

Sweet

KK's Steel Mill, Wolverhampton, Fri 11 December

Glam-rock royalty Sweet hit Wolverhampton with their Blitz Of Hitz tour and the brilliant John Otway in tow.
Formed in 1968, the band enjoyed plenty of chart-busting success in the 1970s, along the way providing inspiration for later groups like KISS, Mötley Crüe and Def Leppard.
Their KK's gig forms part of a short UK tour.

The Wedding Present

The Buttermarket, Shrewsbury, Wed 9 December

British indie rock group The Wedding Present have been gigging since 1985, when they formed following the demise of the Lost Pandas. With influences including The Fall and Buzzcocks, the band is best known for playing fast-paced indie rock. There have been numerous line-up changes down the years, with vocalist & guitarist David Gedge being the band's only constant member...
Their Shrewsbury gig sees them performing 1991 album Seamonsters in its entirety, along with a selection of songs from across their glittering 41-year career.

Shed Seven

Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent, Tues 8 December

"It's funny because we've been going for so long and we were big in the 1990s," says Shed Seven singer Rick Witter. "But now we just seem to be going up again!
"We were kind of also-rans in the Britpop scene - it was basically Pulp, Blur and Oasis, then lots of also-rans like us, The Bluetones, Cast... lots of Championship teams!
"It's weird to be back and doing so well. I'm really enjoying the process, and long may it continue; I am the pilot of the good ship Shed Seven!"

Ex Cathedra: Christmas Music by Candlelight

Lichfield Cathedral, Fri 4 December; St Chad's Church, Shrewsbury, Tues 8 December; St Peter's Church, Wolverhampton, Thurs 10 December; The Great Hall, University of Birmingham, Fri 18 December; St Paul's Church, Birmingham, Sat 19 - Tues 22 December

What better way to get into the Christmas spirit than by enjoying an evening with one of the country's most critically acclaimed choral music ensembles?
Under the directorship - this year for the final time - of its founder, Jeffrey Skidmore, Ex Cathedra's atmospheric and much-loved Christmas Music By Candlelight event features festive favourites from around the globe and across the centuries.
The music is interspersed with a variety of seasonal readings, all selected to 'reveal the quiet magic of Christmas'.
The concert lasts for two hours and 10 minutes, including an interval.

CBSO: Double Nutcracker!

Birmingham Town Hall, Thurs 10 December; Victoria Hall, Hanley, Stoke-on-Trent, Fri 11 December

If you go nuts for The Nutcracker at this time of year, then grab yourself a ticket for one of these two sure-to-be-memorable evenings in the company of the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra.
The CBSO's acclaimed music director, Kazuki Yamada, takes to the podium to direct proceedings, as the orchestra perform a festive selection from the beloved Tchaikovsky ballet, presented alongside Duke Ellington's very individual take on the piece. Leonard Bernstein's Prelude, Fugue And Riffs also features.
The CBSO's Oliver Janes takes the solo clarinet part, which was originally written for jazz supremo Benny Goodman.

Halesowen Orchestra: Winter Concert

Halesowen Town Hall, Sat 12 December

The Halesowen Orchestra has been described as one of the town's hidden jewels - and it's a description with which the ensemble's many supporters would no doubt wholeheartedly agree.
This year celebrating their 40th birthday, the amateur group of musicians meet once a week to practise a wide and varied repertoire of works by some of the world's greatest classical composers.
This month's concert sees them performing works by Verdi and Moniuszko as well as two compositions by Jean Sibelius; his Spring Song and his Second Symphony.

Ludlow Choral Society

St Laurence Church, Ludlow, South Shropshire, Sat 5 December

Just a couple of years short of celebrating their 170th anniversary, Ludlow Choral Society here perform the second of their 2026 concerts. An imaginative programme sees works by contemporary composers, including Reena Esmail, Steven Mann and John Leavitt, sitting alongside Benjamin Britten's A Ceremony Of Carols and Sarah Quartel's A Winter Day.

Telford Orchestra: Myth & Magick

The Anstice, Madeley, Telford, Sat 5 December

John Williams' Harry Potter And The Philosopher's Stone and Tchaikovsky's Swan Lake Suite are among the works being performed by Telford Orchestra when they stage their latest concert early this month.
Their programme also includes Mozart's Magic Flute Overture and Beethoven's Creatures Of Prometheus.
The afternoon concert is brought to a close with a performance of The Finale from Stravinsky's Firebird.

CBSO Choral Christmas

Symphony Hall, Birmingham, Fri 18 December

Brilliant saxophonist Jess Gillam (pictured) joins the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra, its Chorus, Youth Chorus, Children's Chorus and SO Vocal for a concert designed to leave the audience brimful of festive cheer.
The programme includes Hark! The Herald Angels Sing, In The Bleak Midwinter, O Holy Night and Once In Royal David's City, plus plenty more seasonal favourites. Michael Seal is the conductor.

FUNNY FOLK

Get ready to giggle! It's pantomime season (oh yes it is!), and that means the finest laughter-merchants Pantoland has to offer are donning daft costumes, trying out brand-new material - and telling some very old jokes!... What's On chats to some of the family-friendly comedians who are tasked with tickling funny bones at this very special time of year...

Richard Blackwood

Richard Blackwood plays Long John Silver in Treasure Island, which runs at Wolverhampton Grand Theatre throughout December and until Sunday 3 January

You're no stranger to a live crowd, Richard, but do you enjoy interacting with a panto audience?

I love it, but it can sometimes throw you, because you've still got lines. You don't want to come too far off the script, because you can't then find your way back. Even though you're having fun with the audience, you have to 'contain the beast', because otherwise you might let go and truly lose it.

What were your first impressions when you stepped on stage at the Wolverhampton Grand?

When I first visited the Grand, as a stand-up comedian, I already knew what the room would be like. I can see the energy, the acoustics, everything - the way it's laid out, especially if it's full... It's the difference between watching something on the TV at home and going to the cinema. When you have a big, wide [cinema] screen, you're 'taken in', you're in the moment - and it's the same thing with the Grand. The Grand has that 'I'm at the wide-screen IMAX' kind of vibe.

Matt Slack

Matt Slack plays Lester the Jester in Sleeping Beauty, which runs at Birmingham Hippodrome from Saturday 19 December to Sunday 31 January

How long does it take you to get in the zone before a show?

I'm very, very fortunate. I can walk onto the stage, and whatever's going on in my life - we still have lives going on, there are still personal things going on, we're human beings - I can leave that in the wings. I just walk on! People have paid good money, and I want to give them the best Matt Slack that I can offer.

With audiences returning year after year, do you feel that you have a special relationship with them?

It's brilliant. What's really nice, coming back year after year, is that I've seen kids grow up. I've had them on stage, and I remember seeing them and thinking 'You got on stage two years ago...' You see adults who were mums and dads and are now grandparents. It's like I'm growing older with the audience and vice versa!

DID YOU KNOW?

There ain't nothin' like a dame - but that's not the only drag act featured in a traditional panto. Less commonly seen in modern pantomime, the male hero, or 'principal boy', was traditionally played by a woman, with the actress dressed in conventionally male garments. This is known as a 'breeches role'.

Brad Fitt & Tommy J

Brad Fitt and Tommy J play Dame Dolly and Charlie respectively in Aladdin, which runs at Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury, throughout December and until Sunday 3 January

Do you get recognised on the streets of Shrewsbury?

Brad: Tommy gets recognised all the time, because Tommy looks like Tommy on stage and off stage, whereas I look different off stage. We'll be stopped, and someone will say 'Can I take a picture with you, Tommy?' Then, eventually, he'll say 'You know who that is, don't you...'

Brad, you're celebrating 15 years at Theatre Severn. And it's five years for you, Tommy. What makes your partnership work so well?

Tommy: It's great, but it's a hard thing for a dame and a comic. Usually, you don't just immediately gel - it takes a while for that to happen - but me and Brad got on instantly. We sort of know what each other is going to say. I'm the complete opposite to Brad. He walks onto the stage and doesn't run around much, and I just keep running around him! It's great to work with a mate for so long.

Brad: Tommy and I have a great rapport. We get on very well, both on stage and off stage. I'm always amazed at how young Tommy is, because we both know the same comedy references. He's a great one for old comedy and really knows his stuff.

Ben Stock

Ben Stock plays Nurse Nelly in Robin Hood, which runs at Lichfield Garrick Theatre throughout December and until Sunday 10 January

It's your first appearance in the Lichfield panto. How are you getting along with your fellow 'Ben' - Mr Thornton?

He's absolutely adorable. I feel very, very lucky. He's guiding me through it. I mean, he's just brilliant, isn't he? I'd never seen Ben in panto, but within two minutes of meeting him, I could tell that his energy is amazing. And he's very, very funny off stage as well as on.

Do you have a favourite classic panto routine?

I'm so excited to be doing - I believe it's very famous in Lichfield - the ghost bench! We live in a world where everything happens on people's phones, so there's something quite magical about a live audience just screaming at a person dressed as a ghost, as though their very lives depended on it! I think those simple, classic routines are even more important today - those good old 'variety' things. I think the 'ghost gag' is my favourite, so I'm thrilled to be doing it this year.

DID YOU KNOW?

No pantomime is complete without some good old-fashioned slapstick humour, but the original 'slap stick' is actually a percussion instrument - two pieces of wood which make a loud sound when hit together.

The slap stick was used to create live sound effects, just like the funny flourishes made by the band and sound technicians in modern pantomime.

Jonathan Wilkes & Kai Owen

Jonathan Wilkes and Kai Owen play Muddles and The Man In The Mirror respectively in Snow White, which runs at the Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent, from Friday 11 December to Sunday 3 January

You've become the Regent's regular double act, but who are the acts that inspired you when you were starting out?

Johnny: I've always been the biggest Laurel & Hardy fan. I love Laurel & Hardy. I don't think they ever did a panto, but I think they would have been amazing in one. I loved the Three Stooges too; all that slapstick sort of thing. They were amazing...
And do you know what? When I look at me and Kai on stage, there's a bit of Cannon & Ball about us.

Kai: Yeah, I think Cannon & Ball's a really good reference point. I grew up with that variety of performer. You can't beat them. I'll still watch reruns from The Two Ronnies, Cannon & Ball, Tommy Cooper, Morecambe & Wise and Laurel & Hardy. But I've got to say, when I first came to Stoke 11 or 12 years ago, watching Johnny and Christian [Patterson, frequent Regent dame], they taught me how it all works. Every year, seeing Johnny lead the ship... I'm going to give Johnny his dues as well - I've learned from the best.

DID YOU KNOW?

When you're getting ready to boo the baddie this year, check from which side of the stage they make their entrance - the goodie will always enter from 'Stage Right', and the baddie from 'Stage Left'.
This is an old theatrical tradition dating back to medieval mystery plays, when Stage Right and Left (which are reversed from the audience's point of view) represented Heaven and Hell...

Carl Dutfield

Carl Dutfield plays Carl The Cow in Jack And The Beanstalk, which runs at Telford International Centre from Thursday 17 December to Saturday 2 January

How has Telford's favourite comic become the cow this year?!
I like to say it was my choice, but it wasn't! Nah, I'm only joking. Me and Ian [Smith, Telford's longstanding dame], we randomly chat during the Christmas pantos, and Ian just turned around and went 'You'd be funny as a cow...' And that was that!

Do you have a favourite classic panto routine?
I like getting messy. Anything where I can get a little bit messy and not get told off for getting messy, I'm happy with. They're my favourite bits, especially the slips, the trips and the falls. Oh, I just made that sound like it was for health & safety!

What keeps you coming back to Pantoland?
I just love the audiences. I was just out in Telford town centre a minute ago, and as soon as I stepped out, a passer-by went 'Oh, that's the guy who's in the pantos!' I'd only been there two minutes!

DID YOU KNOW?

Panto is often the very first time a child takes their seat in an auditorium - and for many, it sparks a lifelong love of theatre.
Pantomime also gives young people the opportunity to step on stage in a professional production for the first time. This year, you might well spot a troupe of talented youngsters from local dance schools making their stage debut!

Kae Kurd

Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry, Sat 12 December

British-Kurdish stand-up Kae Kurd didn't have the easiest start in life. Even before he was one year old, he'd become a refugee, as his resistance-fighter parents fled Iraq and the brutality of Saddam Hussein's regime. In Iraq, Kae observes, 'activism' means risking death; in sharp contrast (he further notes), here in the UK, all you have to do to be an activist is tweet with the right hashtag!.. His mid-month show at Warwick Arts Centre comes complete with interactive games, chaotic crowd moments, and special guest appearances.

Barbara Nice's Christmas Cracker

Midlands Arts Centre (MAC), Birmingham, Thurs 17 & Fri 18 December

Everybody's favourite Kings Heath housewife, the incomparable Barbara Nice, makes a welcome return to MAC to light up the season of good will with her annual Christmas Cracker show.
As well as containing more jokes than you'd find in an oversized holiday gag-bag (does such a thing even exist?!), Barbara's fabulous festive favourite usually features a tombola and raffle, no shortage of mince pies, and most excitingly of all, a surprise special guest or two.

Live At Christmas

Birmingham Town Hall, Wed 9 December

Feminism and existential despair are among the subjects which Fern Brady contemplates during her stand-up shows.
Along the way, she deploys her acerbic wit to recount highly personal stories about her mental-health issues, her sexuality - and even her niche interest in Scottish amateur pornography! Original, challenging and - most importantly of all, of course - extremely funny, Fern is joined for this seasonal Town Hall gig by fellow comics Bridget Christie, Jen Nolan, John Kearns, Ivo Graham and Elis James.

Comedy Crackers

Birmingham Town Hall, Mon 21 December

Tom Davis and Suzi Ruffell (pictured) are among the comics lined up for this pre-Christmas laughter fest, a show described by its publicity as 'a perfectly wrapped night of comedy' delivering 'sled-loads of good cheer'.

Upfront Christmas Special

The Rep, Birmingham, Wed 23 December

Birmingham-born actor and comedian Jo Enright admits she's happiest when she's hiding behind a character. "I like anonymity," says Jo, whose CV includes Phoenix Nights, Life's Too Short, Trollied and The Job Lot. "That's the great thing about being an actor; you can be in things without anybody recognising you!"
Joining Jo in the Rep's Upfront Christmas Special is Marlon Davies, Ali Woods and Aurie Styla (pictured), the latter of whom is hosting proceedings.

Chuckl. Comedy Club

The Wulfrun at The Halls Wolverhampton, Fri 11 December

Now just a handful of years short of a half-century in comedy, American funnyman Rich Hall is perhaps best known for his creation of Otis Lee Crenshaw, a bourbon-swilling redneck jailbird from Tennessee whose many wives have all been named Brenda... Rich is joined on the bill for this Wolverhampton show by Tal Davies, John Robertson and Jay Neale.

Fitz of Laughter

Katie Fitzgerald's, Stourbridge, Sun 6 December

Katie Fitzgerald's Christmas comedy special sees headliner Marcus Brigstocke being joined by Oliver Bowler, Masai Graham and host Wayne Beese. Shows take place in both the afternoon (3pm) and the evening (7pm)

Kevin Bridges

Utilita Arena Birmingham, Wed 2 December

Kevin Bridges was launched into the comedy stratosphere at the still-tender age of 18, when he reached the finals of the So You Think You're Funny? talent contest at the Edinburgh Fringe.

Since then, the Scottish-born stand-up has been making comedy look like the easiest gig in the world, engaging his audience with a laid-back style of delivery and bags and bags of high-quality wit.

Jokes include: "Americans go up to Edinburgh Castle and think it's a high school - every lunchtime they hear gunfire."

Tom Stade

The Wulfrun at The Halls Wolverhampton, Fri 4 December

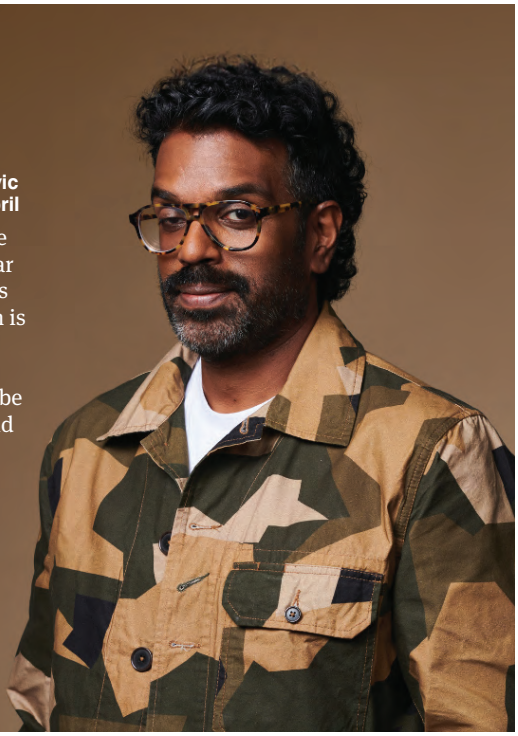

Clever, controversial and Canadian pretty much sums up Tom Stade, a familiar face on UK television programmes such as Michael McIntyre's Comedy Roadshow and Mock The Week. Tom has headlined gigs in comedy hotspots across the globe, not to mention far-flung war zones such as Afghanistan and Iraq, where he regularly entertained British troops... He visits Wolverhampton this month with brand-new offering Tom Stade Rules, a show in which he takes aim at the absurdities of modern times.

Romesh Ranganathan

Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry, Fri 4 December; Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent, Sun 7 February; Utilita Arena Birmingham, Fri 2 & Sat 3 April; The Civic at The Halls, Wolverhampton, Wed 7 April

Romesh Ranganathan is a familiar face on television nowadays, with credits far too numerous to list. Most recently he's been seen on Celebrity Traitors - which is certainly a far cry from his previous career teaching maths in a Crawley classroom. "In the early days, I would be performing to eight people in a pub and my sixth formers would turn up," Romesh recalled in an interview with Crawley News. "I couldn't help but think 'Oh God, this isn't going to end well!' It undermined my authority to tell the students off the next day, because it must've been hilarious for them to see me die on stage and think "I'm just going to heckle him now!'"

Milton Jones

The Brewhouse Arts Centre, Burton upon Trent, Sat 19 December

With a style of humour that's mainly based around puns and one-liners, Milton Jones has established himself as one of Britain's most in-demand funnymen. "If my comedy is working well, I put a cartoon in people's heads that surprises them," explains Milton. "So you start off and they're thinking one thing, then you surprise them by changing the ending as you go along. It's not political or particularly edgy, it's just daft."

Gags include: "Militant feminists - I take my hat off to them. They don't like that," and, "Recently on a flight to America, all the way across, my wife was going, 'Why don't you get an upgrade, why don't you get an upgrade?' It took a bit of time, but in the end I got a better wife."

An Evening With Clinton Baptiste

Huntingdon Hall, Worcester, Wed 2 December; The Benn Hall, Rugby, Thurs 3 December; Halesowen Town Hall, Thurs 17 December; Walsall Arena, Thurs 28 January

Actor Alex Lowe enjoyed big success with comic creation Clinton Baptiste when the character first appeared in Peter Kay's award-winning television series, Phoenix Nights. A tacky and inept clairvoyant, medium and psychic, Baptiste was Kay's brainchild but has since been fleshed-out further by the man who plays him. Despite the serious amount of work he's put into developing the character, Alex remains appreciative of Clinton's origin: "The fact that he's from Phoenix Nights is great. It's like having a head start, because I already feel four-nil up before I even get on stage!"

BACK ON THE SCENE

Birmingham's Britpop favourites, Ocean Colour Scene, celebrate the 30th anniversary of Moseley Shoals...

By Steve Adams

Formed in the Birmingham suburb of Moseley almost four decades ago, Britpop favourites Ocean Colour Scene are back on the road and playing some of the biggest shows of their career. Singer Simon Fowler recalls the band's halcyon days, as well as celebrating the 30th anniversary of seminal album Moseley Shoals...

Thirty years ago, Ocean Colour Scene were one of the biggest bands in the UK. Breakthrough album Moseley Shoals shot up the charts, spurred by a succession of hit singles, including You've Got It Bad, The Day We Caught The Train and The Riverboat Song. Live gigs became the stuff of legend, and the band even opened for Oasis at Knebworth.

Heady days, but three decades later the group are embarking on their biggest tour since then, following an upturn in fortunes that singer Simon Fowler is at something of a loss to explain.

"I've got no idea [how it happened]... it just seems like a certain sort of momentum has picked up. Two years ago, we played the NIA [aka Birmingham's Utilita Arena] and sold it out - I didn't think we'd be doing that again. Maybe it's the Oasis factor - everyone's got their bucket hats out again."

His explanation potentially holds water, given that the band are now managed by Alan McGee, the co-founder of Creation Records, who signed Oasis and became one of the faces of Britpop - almost as much as the musicians themselves.

It's a period in time which the legendary music-industry executive remains enraptured with, and is keen to recreate with his new charges.

"Ocean Colour Scene released Moseley Shoals at the epicentre of an incredible time for music: 1996," says Alan. "When I was asked to manage them four years ago, we set out on a journey to celebrate their unique sound and deliver it back to the masses. This tour is their biggest in 30 years and puts them in their rightful place as one of the truly great bands of their generation."

But if Alan is effusive, then Simon is rather more laidback about the whole affair. If he's excited, then the genial band leader hides it well behind a laconic, self-deprecating and largely deadpan manner.

He claims he's just as happy playing acoustic shows in smaller venues as he is playing arena gigs - he's been touring as a double act with drummer Oscar Harrison "for probably 25 years". And he no longer moves in rock & roll circles, preferring to live a quiet life on the outskirts of Stratford-upon-Avon.

"I'm sort of divorced from the music scene now," he admits. "I live in a village and just go to the pub. I don't know how to stream. I've never used a computer."

Thankfully he can work a calendar, and is as bemused as anyone at how much time has passed since the band's heyday, when their best-known album, whose title is a pun on legendary Alabama music city Muscle Shoals, was a chart fixture.

"It's hard to believe that Moseley Shoals has turned 30 in 2026. We owe so much to that album."

They do indeed. Released in April 1996, the LP reached number two in the UK charts, spawned four hit singles and kickstarted a career that saw the band go on a run of 17 Top 40 hits, including nine successive Top 20 singles.

"It was incredible," says Simon. "At one point, Moseley Shoals was at number two and our B-sides album [B-sides, Seasides And Freerides] was number four."

The band's follow-up LP, Marchin' Already, did even better, going straight in at number one and knocking Oasis' Be Here Now off the top spot, prompting a typically droll response from the elder Gallagher brother.

"Noel sent us a plaque saying 'congratulations to the second-best band in Britain'," laughs Simon.

Ocean Colour Scene is very much a family affair these days, with Harrison's son Leon playing percussion and guitarist Steve Cradock's son Cass on keyboards and guitar. "He's the pin-up of the band," quips Simon, acutely aware that he's known both of the 'kids' for most, if not all, of their lives.

He almost shudders when he realises that Leon "is in his 40s now", and accepts that the 30th anniversary tour will naturally be a reminder of how big the band became at the height of their fame. The final show of the 21-date trek is a hometown gig at Birmingham's bp pulse LIVE arena, a venue that holds a particularly personal memory from back in the day: "I remember the first time we played there. It was really weird because the Evening Mail, who I used to work for, sent a special truck out to the venue to sell papers that had a wraparound cover with us on it. It definitely felt like we'd made it."

Mention of his former career as a journalist ("I wanted to be a sports reporter like John Motson, but after a while realised I wanted to be like John Lennon") briefly takes our conversation down a rabbit hole about the decline of journalism, particularly local, and how few people read newspapers in 2026. The reason? Simon reckons it's got a lot to do with society's addiction to video clips on mobile phones. "One minute they're watching rioters in Dover and the next it's a dog doing tricks," he laments.

It's a far cry from when he swapped writing news stories for song lyrics in the late 80s and early 90s - including the tunes that would define the band's career after their eponymous debut LP flopped.

"I remember that time vividly," he recalls fondly. "We started off at Bob Lamb's studio in King's Heath because [Steve and I] both lived within walking distance.

"I'd write a couple of songs every night after we got back from the Jug of Ale, Snobs nightclub, the Institute or wherever. I couldn't go to sleep without having something to work on in the studio the following day."

The hard work might have been for nothing if not for a few well-known, and well-connected, supporters who helped advance the band's cause. Gigs with Paul Weller paid for recording sessions (Cradock became a regular member of his backing band), Noel Gallagher gave the band a support slot on an Oasis tour after hearing some of their demos, which in turn prompted a record deal with MCA, and Chris Evans played The Day We Caught The Train to death on the Radio One breakfast show.

With Evans, Weller and Oasis all still going strong 30 years later, it's tempting to think a Britpop revival might be on the cards, and with it maybe a little of the optimism that it brought to a beleaguered Britain in 1996. Simon's not so sure. Attending gigs is largely a chance to escape from the troubles of the world rather than debate them, and there's no harm in that.

"It seems like everyone's completely wrapped up with everything that's going on at the moment, and there's not a way [forward]," he sighs. "We're all going to be murdered by machines anyway, so get along to a gig while you can."

Ocean Colour Scene play bp pulse LIVE in Birmingham on Saturday 12 December. The band then play Loopfest at The Quarry in Shrewsbury on Friday 30 April. Simon Fowlers' The Ocean Colour Scene Songbook Tour visits The Wulfrun at The Halls Wolverhampton, on Saturday 6 March, Bilston Town Hall on 24 February 2028, Redditch Palace Theatre on 25 February 2028, Keele University on 20 April 2028, Stourbridge Town Hall on 22 April 2028 and Coventry hmv Empire on 29 April 2028.

Peter Pan
The Rep, Birmingham, until Sun 17 January

Fly away to Neverland with the boy who wouldn't grow up, meet a real fairy, marvellous mermaids, wonderful Wendy and the down-on-their-luck Lost Boys. Oh, and beware the ever-so-wicked Captain Hook and a very hungry crocodile who goes tick-tock (he swallowed a clock!).
The Rep's artistic director, Joe Murphy, takes the helm for this faithful retelling of JM Barrie's much-loved children's story.
"We want to try and offer quite a definitive or iconic Peter Pan," says Joe. "One that de-pantos it, that de-Disneyfies it, and that takes us back to that original source material, celebrating all the wonderful parts of that story which make it funny, exciting, moving, and for all ages. Our roots as a producing drama house mean we always want to engage with the story and the characters as much as we can. Panto is fantastic and I love a panto, but it's a very specific form and doesn't lend itself to our Christmas show."

A Shoddy Nativity

Lichfield Garrick,
Fri 4 December - Sun 3 January

Having previously served up a fun-filled version of A Christmas Carol, Shoddy Theatre here get their teeth into the greatest Christmas story ever told. It's the opening night of the school Nativity, but the kids haven't turned up. What are a frazzled teacher, an overconfident deputy head, and a well-meaning but wildly misguided TA supposed to do - except maybe step into the breach and perform the show themselves?! Expect frantic costume changes, ill-advised accents, accidental theology, and carols that spiral spectacularly out of control.

Mean Girls

The Alexandra, Birmingham,
Mon 14 December -
Sat 2 January

West End favourite and familiar television face Jennifer Ellison takes on the roles of Ms Heron, Mrs George and Ms Norbury when hit stage musical Mean Girls stops off in Birmingham for the festive season. Based on the 2004 Lindsay Lohan film of the same name, the show focuses on The Plastics - Regina, Gretchen and Karen, the mean girls of the title - who not only rule their school, North Shore High, but will also burn anyone that gets in their way. It's a reality which home-schooled Cady Heron would do well to recognise. Instead, she devises a plan to bring Regina's reign to an end - and learns the hard way that you can't cross a queen bee without getting stung...

Sleeping Beauty

Birmingham Hippodrome, Sat 19 December - Sun 31 January

The tragic tale of a young princess who's tricked by an evil fairy and pricks her finger on a spinning wheel, causing her to fall asleep for 100 years, offers a great story around which to build a pantomime production of real quality...

And Christmas 2026 sees Birmingham Hippodrome doing just that!

As usual, the nowadays-near-legendary Matt Slack will be keeping the laughter count high... And also as usual, the show's humour will be aimed at both children and adults.

"You've got to know where to draw the line and when to push the boundaries," explains Matt. "We are aimed towards a family audience, but we also want to entertain the adults. It's all about double entendre and disguising it - as long as it goes over the kids' heads and the adults are laughing, job done!"

Matt is joined in this year's panto by Rylan, Zoe Birkett and - returning for a 10th season - 'Birmingham's favourite dame', Andrew Ryan.

Aladdin

Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury, until Sun 3 January

If you're a dyed-in-the-wool fan of the Theatre Severn panto experience, you'll be delighted to know that this year's offering is following the usual recipe for success.

What does that mean in practice? Well, to put some meat on the bone, it means Telford-born Paul Hendy is writing it, Evolution is producing it, and Brad Fitt is both starring in it and taking the directorial reins.

"There are pantos out there that go a bit near the knuckle - but I don't think ours does," says Brad, who is this year appearing as Dame Dolly in what will be his 15th Theatre Severn pantomime. "I would never tell a joke that was offensive or rude. Sometimes, you can use a double entendre - but then that's in your mind; that's not me. You have to blame yourself!"

Cinderella

Royal Spa Centre, Leamington Spa, Fri 4 December - Sun 3 January; Palace Theatre, Redditch, Sat 12 December - Sat 2 January

With its comical Ugly Sisters, matchmaking fairy godmother, drop-dead-gorgeous Prince Charming, super-cute mice, and fits-one-foot-only glass slipper, Cinderella can justifiably lay claim to being the nation's favourite pantomime story...

The Royal Spa Centre's version (image left) sees AJ & Curtis Pritchard making a welcome return to pantoland for what will be their sixth appearance in Cinderella with Imagine Theatre. The siblings will play Prince Charming and Dandini respectively...

Meanwhile, over in Redditch (image right), the Palace Theatre version is promising side-splitting comedy, sensational songs, sparkling sets and dazzling dance routines.

Beauty And The Beast

The Old Rep, Birmingham, until Thurs 31 December; Walsall Arena, Sat 5 - Sun 20 December

Beauty And The Beast seems to be all the rage in pantoland this month.

Polka Dot Pantomimes are the ensemble bringing the ever-popular fairytale to life at The Old Rep this Christmas (complete with real live panto pooches), while over in Walsall, there's the promise of 'showstopping songs, awesome audience participation and groanworthy gags'.

Beauty And The Beast is also this year's pantomime of choice at the Coventry Belgrade, but you'll have to turn the page to read about that one...

Robin Hood

Swan Theatre, Worcester, until Sun 3 January; Lichfield Garrick, until Sun 10 January

As if Robin Hood didn't already have enough on his plate dealing with the dastardly Sheriff of Nottingham and wooing the beautiful Maid Marion, the festive season also finds Sherwood Forest's most famous resident getting tangled up in all manner of pantomime traditions (custard pie in the boat-race, anyone?)...

There's a new dame in town at Lichfield Garrick this year, with Ben Stock taking on the role of Nurse Nellie, while another Ben - Thornton - (pictured below) stars as the eponymous hero.

Treasure Island

Wolverhampton Grand Theatre,
Sat 28 November - Sun 3 January

Robert Louis Stevenson's high-seas caper here gets the pantomime treatment, as young Jim Hawkins heads off on the adventure of a lifetime - one which will see him not only setting sail in search of buried treasure, but also spending time in the company of a one-legged pirate with misdeeds in mind...
The production stars comedian Richard Blackwood as Long John Silver. Solomon Davy, Tam Ryan and Ian Adams - the latter celebrating his 10th year as Wolverhampton's dame - all make a welcome return.
Last year's Grand Theatre panto production of Sleeping Beauty took the top accolade at the prestigious UK Pantomime Awards - so be sure to check out this latest festive-season offering.

Snow White

Regent Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent,
Fri 11 December - Sun 3 January

Modern pantomime versions of Snow White don't always include her 'magnificent seven' mining pals - but whether the fellas are present-and-correct or missing in action, there's always plenty to enjoy in the much-loved fairytale.
And that's certainly the case in Stoke-on-Trent, where Regent Theatre pantomime legend Jonathan Wilkes top-bills with another Potteries panto stalwart, Kai Owen.

Beauty And The Beast

Belgrade Theatre, Coventry,
until Sat 2 January

When a young woman is captured by a hideous beast, she finds herself facing a life of isolation in his mysterious palace.
The Beast, too, is trapped - seemingly forever - inside the grotesquery of his physical appearance, the consequence of a spell cast upon him by an evil witch. Only Beauty's ability to look beyond his ugliness and see the person within can save him...
So, that's the basic storyline. Now, what about the Belgrade's festive-season panto version? Well, as usual, Coventry's favourite dame, Iain Lauchlan, has both written and stars in the show. And also as usual, Iain is promising a production that's replete with breathtaking sets, crazy costumes and seasonal silliness. Festive fun is a guarantee.

Jack And The Beanstalk

Telford International Centre,
Tues 15 December - Sat 2 January

Telford is definitely the Midlands town to head for this festive season if you like your Christmas pantomime fun to be of the beanstalk-clambering, ogre-grappling variety. Coronation Street's Scott Wright gets wicked as Fleshcreep in a show that's also boasting a 3D giant and the return of Telford favourites Ian Smith (as Dame Trott) and Carl Dutfield (as Carl the Cow).

Peter Pan

The Core Theatre, Solihull,
Fri 4 December - Sun 3 January

If your youngsters can't get enough of the magical tale of Peter Pan, then you might find yourself purchasing tickets for not one but two Birmingham productions this festive season. As well as the show at the Rep (see page 24), there's also this Solihull swashbuckler from the award-winning Little Wolf Entertainment. The team are promising 'loopy Lost Boys, musical mermaids and some seriously potty pirates', not to mention 'barrel-loads of laughs and more than a sprinkling of fairy dust'.

Sleeping Beauty

Ludlow Assembly Rooms, South Shropshire,
Wed 9 December - Sat 2 January

'Dazzling costumes, laugh-out-loud comedy, boos, hisses, and show-stopping songs' are all on the menu when professional actors and a cast of young local talent bring popular pantomime The Sleeping Beauty to the Assembly Rooms stage this month.
The production marks a fifth collaboration between the venue and local company Ludwig Theatre Arts.

WARWICK ARTS CENTRE

The Borrowers

New Vic Theatre, Newcastle-under-Lyme, until Sat 23 January

The New Vic is this Christmas once again turning its attention to Mary Norton's 1952 children's fantasy - a dozen years after the show was first staged by the theatre to great critical acclaim.
Living happily beneath the floorboards of a quiet old house, The Borrowers suddenly find their way of life compromised when a young girl gets itchy feet and goes exploring...
The New Vic team is here promising a yuletide package of 'magical storytelling, original music and thrilling live-on-stage effects'.
So if you're on the lookout for a Christmas show that's free of custard pies, rouged-up Dames and cries of "He's behind you!", this could well be the production for you.

The Three Musketeers

Royal Shakespeare Theatre, Stratford-upon-Avon, until Sat 9 January

Get set for some serious swashing of bucklers as three of literature's finest rapier-thrusting heroes comically cavort in Stratford-upon-Avon this festive season.
In an imaginative collaboration between the Royal Shakespeare Company and the ever-brilliant Told By An Idiot, the legendary trio of fabulous fictional fighters are here all played by women.
"Alexandre Dumas' story is one of the great adventures, full of friendship, courage, romance and reckless abandon," says the show's director, Paul Hunter. "With Told By An Idiot's trademark blend of visual invention, physical comedy and joyful anarchy, we're creating a version that celebrates the sheer pleasure of live theatre."

It's A Wonderful Life

Stoke Rep Theatre, Stoke-on-Trent, Tues 1 - Sat 5 December

Almost as much of a seasonal staple as mince pies and mulled wine, Frank Capra's classic Christmas movie, It's A Wonderful Life, is 80 years old in 2026. And the ever-inventive Stoke Rep Players are marking the occasion by bringing the story to the stage. The heartwarming tale of hope and second chances follows the fortunes of George Bailey, a decent family man whose propensity for putting the needs of others ahead of his own leads him to a Christmas Eve crossroads - and a remarkable encounter with an angel who's desperate to earn its wings...

A Christmas Carol

Birmingham Ormiston Academy, until Tues 15 December

BOA Stage & Screen Production Academy and BOA Creative, Digital & Performing Arts Academy come together to present a new musical version of Charles Dickens' festive short story. Described as a playful twist on a classic tale - combining 'sparkling' songs and 'spectacular' dance numbers - the musical is BOA's 11th home-produced Christmas show.

Twelve Days Of Christmas

Bridge House Theatre, Warwick, Mon 21 December

Operation Moonlight take to the stage with a festive farce which they promise will be an endlessly chaotic, breakneck, madcap theatrical experience.
"The hapless Sir Edward is head over heels for the beautiful Miss Elizabeth," the Cardiff-based company explain. "But how to show his affection? Why, through gifts, of course! And as the presents stack up, so too does the mayhem!"
Sounds as though an evening of splendid (and certainly seasonal) fun could well be on the cards...

The Ugly Duckling

The Rep, Birmingham, Thurs 3 December - Sun 10 January

Hans Christian Andersen's The Ugly Duckling tells the tale of an odd-looking baby duck who's evicted from the farmyard and finds itself all alone in a scary and hostile world. Thankfully, the story has a happy ending, to ensure your youngsters head for home in fine spirits!... The show is directed by Caroline Wilkes, who's helmed two previous Rep productions: Jack And The Magic Beanstalk and Little Red Riding Hoody.

Father Christmas

Belgrade Theatre, Coventry, Thurs 3 - Sun 27 December

Raymond Briggs is best known for his story about a little boy who makes friends with a snowman, but talented theatre company Pins And Needles are doing plenty to promote one of the author's other less-famous tales.
Suitable for very little ones aged under six, Father Christmas features songs, live music, playful puppetry and plenty of trademark Briggs humour. Expect your children to be suitably enchanted.

Tales From Acorn Wood At Christmas

Midlands Arts Centre (MAC), Birmingham, Tues 1 - Sun 27 December

Originally based on the charming lift-the-flap book series, Midlands Arts Centre's (MAC) festive production, Tales From Acorn Wood At Christmas, brings the work of picture-book powerhouses Julia Donaldson and Axel Scheffler to the stage.

Packed with puppetry, toe-tapping tunes and interactive moments, the hour-long show is performed by five actors, who between them operate 17 animal puppets...

"We tell five main stories in this production," explains the play's director, Grace Goulding. "Fox's Socks, Hide-And-Seek Pig, Rabbit's Nap, Postman Bear - and then we'll finish with Squirrel's Snowman, which should make everyone feel Christmassy!"

The Gruffalo's Child

Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry, until Sun 27 December

With millions of copies having been sold in double-quick time after it was published in 1999, it's fair to say that Julia Donaldson & Axel Scheffler's picture book The Gruffalo captured the hearts and minds of children everywhere. So it was no surprise when the dynamic duo then produced this sequel story five years later...

Despite her dad's warning to stay away from the deep, dark wood, the Gruffalo's child decides it's time to go and explore, caring not a jot about the legend of the Big Bad Mouse...

Award-winning theatre company Tall Stories, who certainly know a thing or two about adapting Donaldson/Scheffler books for the stage, here present an hour-long production that brings together 'songs, laughs and scary fun for everyone aged three to 103'.

Santa's New Sleigh

The Albany Theatre, Coventry, Sat 5 - Tues 8 December; Theatre Severn, Shrewsbury, Wed 9 - Thurs 24 December

When Theatre Severn regular Brad Fitt isn't busy playing pantomime Dames, he enjoys nothing more than replacing the panto wig with his playwright's hat.

Brad's Santa's New Sleigh comes complete with festive-show favourites, including audience participation, singalong opportunities and a special Christmas present from Santa Claus himself. And as an extra-special treat, audience members can also have their photo taken with the traditionally portly giver of gifts - so be sure to bring along your cameras and smart phones.

The Bear And The Piano

The Other Place, Stratford-upon-Avon, Fri 11 December - Sun 10 January

Author & illustrator David Litchfield's The Bear And The Piano has been translated into 37 languages and sold more than 800,000 copies worldwide. So this brand-new stage adaptation of the beloved book should have no trouble whatsoever finding an audience (it's suitable for youngsters aged three and older). A collaboration between the Royal Shakespeare Company and Regent's Park Open Air Theatre, the wordless show tells a heartwarming tale of curiosity, creativity and courage, in the process bringing together 'captivating' puppetry and 'breathtaking' music.

One Tiny Penguin

Patrick Studio, Birmingham Hippodrome, Sat 5 December - Sun 3 January

A brand-new musical adventure for brand-new theatregoers slides into Birmingham Hippodrome's Patrick Studio this month.

Co-written by Julie Tsang and Jordan Li-Smith, One Tiny Penguin features a puppet penguin on a journey of self-discovery. Aimed at audiences aged three upwards, the show is supported by the Hippodrome's My First Musical scheme, an initiative which previously produced festive-season children's musicals The Jingleclaw and No Such Thing As Wolves.

Jack And The Beanstalk (Sort Of!)

Wolverhampton Arts Centre, Sun 6 December

Hailed in its publicity as 'loud, silly and completely off its beanstalk', Half Moon theatre company's Black Country Touring-supported show sees rock-star legend Kid Carpet making a welcome return.

"This is Jack And The Beanstalk like it's been thrown in a blender with a drum machine and dodgy celebrity lookalikes," explain Half Moon. "Part air-guitar workshop, part magical mess, this lo-fi, hi-tech, big-beat bonkers show is stuffed with songs, silliness and surprise grannies. Perfect for families, party monsters and fans of noisy nonsense!"

The Overtones

Birmingham Town Hall, Fri 4 December; Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent, Wed 9 December

Vocal harmony group The Overtones were working together as painters & decorators when they were discovered by a Warner Bros Records talent scout, who heard them singing during their tea break.
A multi-album deal was subsequently secured with the record label. Numerous TV appearances followed, with slots on shows such as Dancing On Ice and Britain's Got More Talent ensuring they remained firmly in the spotlight.
The boys are visiting Birmingham and Stoke-on-Trent this month with their seasonal offering Jivin' Home For Christmas.

James B Partridge: The Big Christmas Assembly

The Alexandra, Birmingham, Sat 12 December

From classroom teacher to viral TikTok sensation, James B Partridge has cornered the market in school-assembly nostalgia and is here turning his attention to the festive season - surely the most wonderful time of the whole school year when you're under the age of 10. With James promising an evening of holiday favourites and throwback mashups 'that will have everyone singing', expect to head for home well and truly in the Christmas spirit.

The Snowman Film With Live Orchestra

Birmingham Town Hall, Sun 20 December

Concerts in which a classic film is shown while an orchestra plays its score - live and in-sync with the screening - are all the rage right now, so it's no surprise that Carrot Productions' presentation of The Snowman has become such a popular festive-season attraction.
As well as a screening of the much-loved 1982 animation - based, of course, on Raymond Briggs' bestselling picture-book of the same name - the show also includes a short Christmas film featuring Shaun the Sheep, the soundtrack of which will also be performed live.
The fun continues with a joyful festive medley, an introduction to the orchestra by CBeebies Musical Storyland composer Daniel Whibley, a special visit from The Snowman himself, and the chance for everyone to sing Walking In The Air at the end of the show.

The Lord Of The Rings: The Fellowship Of The Ring In Concert

bp pulse LIVE, Birmingham, Sat 19 December

A concert celebrating the 25th anniversary of Academy Award-winning film The Lord Of The Rings: The Fellowship Of The Ring is pretty much guaranteed a large and hugely enthusiastic audience, such is the ongoing popularity of Peter Jackson's cinematic interpretation of Tolkien's legendary novel. Featuring Howard Shore's original score, performed live by the City of Birmingham Symphony Orchestra to a screening of the epic movie, the film will be shown twice on the 19th - once at 1pm and then again at 7pm.

The Rat Pack At Christmas

Symphony Hall, Birmingham, Mon 7 December

The warm and authentic friendship between Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jr - particularly during its heyday in the late 1950s and early 1960s - continues to be the stuff of legend.
The three superstar singers, affectionately known as The Rat Pack, were fun-loving guys who brought entertainment to millions with a nice'n'easy style it was hard to dislike...
This seriously impressive touring show, paying loving tribute to Frank, Dean and Sammy, is packed to its yuletide rafters with memorable tunes, including a host of festive favourites.

Swing Into Christmas

Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry, Wed 16 December

Highly regarded vintage ensemble The Down For The Count Swing Orchestra are promising to leave their audience 'in the warm glow of the holiday spirit' when they visit Coventry in the middle of the month.
Their seasonal show sees them presenting fresh arrangements of a host of iconic songs, including Let It Snow, The Most Wonderful Time Of The Year and New York, New York, all of which will be performed in the orchestra's authentic big-band-with-strings style.

Toyah's Christmas Party

Birmingham Town Hall, Sun 13 December

Grab yourself a ticket for an evening of festive fun with the Midlands' very own Toyah Willcox.
Toyah famously found fame in the late 1970s when she earned herself the mantle of 'princess of punk', enjoying chart hits with It's A Mystery, Thunder In The Mountains and I Want To Be Free. She's since done a brilliant job of 'adapting to survive', her later career embracing such diverse theatrical challenges as performing in pantomime and starring in Shakespeare. In recent times, she's reached a whole new audience thanks to the runaway YouTube success of Toyah & Robert's Sunday Lunch, a series she makes with husband Robert Fripp from their Worcestershire home.

Birmingham Royal Ballet: The Nutcracker

Birmingham Hippodrome, until Sat 12 December

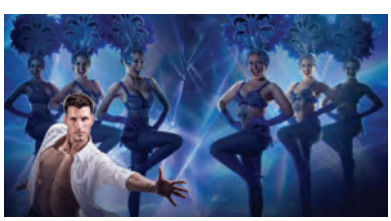

A gift to the people of Birmingham - from then-Artistic Director Sir Peter Wright - when the company transferred to the city from London's Sadler's Wells in 1990, Birmingham Royal Ballet's (BRB) spectacular production of The Nutcracker is once again lighting up the Hippodrome stage this month.

A lavish Christmas fantasy - underscored by the beloved music of Tchaikovsky - the story follows Clara's Christmas Eve adventure with her toy Nutcracker, which has come to life.

"It's always very difficult for me to say 'this is the best Nutcracker in the world', because it's very subjective," says Paul James, chief executive of BRB. "And also, we're slightly biased! It's the scale of the storytelling, the scale of the sets, the growing tree, the snow goose, the snow, a full company of musicians [the Royal Ballet Symphonia] - it's all just mind-blowing!"

Xmas On The Dancefloor

Victoria Hall, Stoke-on-Trent, Sun 20 December; Symphony Hall, Birmingham, Mon 21 December

This is Christmas - turned all the way up.

So says the publicity for a show that 'brings iconic festive hits to life with breathtaking choreography, powerhouse vocals and non-stop energy'.

Former Strictly Come Dancing professional Gorka Márquez leads a cast of talented performers, including the Rockettes-inspired dance troupe Xmas Dolls.

Mariah Carey, Slade, the Spice Girls, Whitney Houston, Elton John and Michael Bublé are among the star names whose festive hits are given Christmas-week outings in Stoke and Birmingham.

Anton At Christmas

The Civic at The Halls Wolverhampton, Wed 16 December

A regular visitor to the West Midlands, Anton Du Beke is once again making a stop-off in the region, on this occasion liberally sprinkling on-stage proceedings with a healthy dose of yuletide cheer.

He's joined for the occasion by critically acclaimed vocalist Lance Ellington, a live band and a troupe of professional dancers.

Avengers: Doomsday

CERT tbc (265 mins)

Starring Robert Downey Jr, Pedro Pascal, Chris Hemsworth, Vanessa Kirby, Anthony Mackie, Sebastian Stan Directed by Anthony Russo and Joe Russo

Avengers assemble! The clarion call to all manner of cape, cowl and spandex-wearing superheroes rings out once more, as the Marvel Cinematic Universe's (MCU) most successful franchise makes a yuletide return.
Robert Downey Jr - whose performances as Tony Stark/Ironman in three standalone movies really established the MCU as a place worth visiting - is also back. This time, however, he's crossed over to the dark side, taking on the role of mysterious and hugely menacing supervillain Victor von Doom...
After a spell of wretched filmmaking, Marvel Studios has reinvigorated its fanbase in recent times with a successful Fantastic Four reboot and a critically acclaimed Spider-Man movie.
There's little question, though, that it will be the success or otherwise of this latest Avengers outing which defines MCU's fortunes in the years ahead.

Released Wed 16 December

Behemoth! CERT tbc (124 mins)

Starring Pedro Pascal, Olivia Wilde, Eva Victor, Alexa Swinton, Kaya Ralls, Erik Griffin Directed by Tony Gilroy

Gifted and nomadic, orchestra cellist Alex Serian decides it's time to put down some roots back in Los Angeles, two decades after leaving the city and his family behind him. Returning so that he can reconnect with his family - his mother is in declining health - he gets work writing music for movies and television shows. He also finds himself not only recalling memories of a passionate relationship with a now-deceased prima violinist, but wondering whether her musical prodigy daughter might actually be his...
The first film directed by Tony Gilroy since he helmed 2012 actioner The Bourne Legacy, Behemoth! hasn't faired well with the critics. The general concensus has been that a ponderous and aimlessly wandering storyline has been further compromised by the film's non-linear and chapter-based structure.

Released Fri 4 December

The Cat In The Hat

CERT PG (107 mins)

With the voices of Bill Hader, Xochitl Gomez, Tiago Martinez, Quinta Brunson, America Ferrera, Matt Berry Directed by Alessandro Carloni and Erica Rivinoja

Loosely based on Theodor 'Dr Seuss' Geisel's classic picture book of the same title, which celebrates its 70th anniversary next year, this animated adventure finds the much-loved titular character - an anthropomorphic cat who wears a magical red-and-white striped top-hat - working as an agent for the I.I.I.I. (Institute for the Institution of Imagination and Inspiration, LLC). His mission? To cheer up relocating siblings Gabby and Sebastian. And the stakes are certainly high: failure to do so could well see him losing his magical hat... The movie is Warner Bros Pictures Animation's first full-length feature film.

Released Fri 4 December

I See Buildings Fall Like Lightning CERT 15 (109 mins)

Starring Anthony Boyle, Joe Cole, Jay Lycurgo, Daryl McCormack, Lola Petticrew, Lucie Shorthouse Directed by Clio Barnard

Now here's a rarity - a film set in the Midlands! Based on the book of the same name by Brummie Keiran Goddard, and adapted by screenwriter Enda Walsh, I See Buildings Fall Like Lightning focuses on five friends from a working-class Birmingham council estate.
Following the characters as adults heading into their 30s, the film explores the numerous challenges they face, from addiction and class struggles, to the impact of inequality, housing and cost-of-living crises.
As is often the case with any social-realist drama worth its salt, director Clio Barnard's absorbing tale has made a significant splash with critics, winning a best-film prize at the Rome Film Fest, the Golden Hitchcock at the Dinard British & Irish Film Festival and the Directors' Fortnight Audience Award at Cannes.

Released Fri 4 December

Dune: Part Three CERT 15 (140 mins)

Starring Timothée Chalamet, Zendaya, Florence Pugh, Anya Taylor-Joy, Robert Pattinson, Rebecca Ferguson Directed by Denis Villeneuve

Two decades after seizing control of the Imperium, and now a ruthless Emperor, Paul Atreides must face the consequences of his reign of terror, as old allies return, new threats emerge, and betrayal lurks in every shadow... As rebellion brews and enemies close in, Paul must confront the true cost of power and the fate of those he loves the most...

That's the official synopsis for the new Dune movie, the film that brings to a close director Denis Villeneuve's epic space-opera trilogy, based on the novels of the late Frank Herbert. "We are back with the same characters, but this time the world has totally changed," Villeneuve told Empire. "Their psyches, their perspective on reality, has totally changed, and Paul is living with the burden of what he created, trying to find a way out of this spiral of violence."

Released Fri 18 December

Violent Night 2 CERT tbc (110 mins)

Starring David Harbour, Kristen Bell, Jared Harris, Joe Pantoliano, Daniela Melchior, Andrew Bachelor Directed by Tommy Wirkola

Bring together the much-loved character of Santa Claus, a gritty action-hero vibe and some serious kick-ass combat choreography and what do you get?... Surprising holiday hit Violent Night, that's what.

Four years after that imaginative spin on a Santa story landed in multiplexes, its sequel is aiming to deliver a similarly enjoyable Christmas gift to festive-season cinemagoers. The film sees Stranger Things actor David Harbour returning in the role of St Nicholas and finding himself caught up in a shopping-mall battle with a ruthless criminal gang.

"Aside from this obviously being a Christmas action-movie first and foremost," explains director Tommy Wirkola, "it also has a very strong Western vibe, where Santa is our lone hero riding into town - the mall - and helping the villagers - the shop owners - in need."

Released Fri 4 December

Jumanji: Open World CERT tbc

Starring Dwayne Johnson, Karen Gillan, Madison Iseman, Jack Black, Kevin Hart, Danny DeVito Directed by Jake Kasdan

Jumanji fans' excitement at the arrival of this latest entry in the hit series is bound to be somewhat tempered by the fact that it will also be the last.

Inspired by the 1995 original starring Robin Williams, the franchise rebooted in 2017 with Welcome To The Jungle. Sequel offering The Next Level followed two years later...

This latest adventure finds teens Spencer, Fridge, Bethany and Martha having to deal with the fact that Jumanji is out of the console, with their avatars, Bravestone, Mouse, Shelly and Ruby respectively, roaming around in demo mode.

The film sees Dwayne Johnson paying touching tribute to Williams' character in the original movie. "It was my idea to honour him in some way, but I didn't know how to do it," Johnson told People. "Then our costume designer goes, 'What if I got the original dice [from the first film]?' So that's what happened."

Released Wed 23 December

The Angry Birds Movie 3

CERT PG

With the voices of Lily James, Jason Sudeikis, Sam Richardson, Keke Palmer, Emma Myers, Danny McBride Directed by John Rice

Ted Lasso star Jason Sudeikis once again lends his voice to the character of short-tempered and irritable Red, as the popular physics-based puzzle video game's cast of anthropomorphic flightless birds make a welcome return to the big screen. The new movie finds Red torn in two directions and facing probably his greatest challenge yet: navigating full-time parenthood while simultaneously doing his best to try and save the world.

Released Wed 23 December

Permindar Kaur: Dread Naught

Wolverhampton Art Gallery, until Sun 11 April

Dread Naught features both recent commissions and examples of early-career work by leading sculptor & installation artist Permindar Kaur.
"I always want people to have some sort of emotional response to my work," says Permindar. "I use such basic and generic forms. And because I do that, it's quite open for people to have a response to. Or for them to imagine what they think the figures are and what they represent.
"I don't want the work to be closed off and didactic and say it's about this or that. But also the work has complexity, so it can be read in different ways.
"I'm always trying to create this balance in my art, where you don't know how to feel...
"There are boundaries, and you don't know which side to be on."

Emmy Bridgwater And Birmingham Surrealists

Midlands Arts Centre (MAC), Birmingham, until Sun 10 January

"Emmy Bridgwater brought a new purity of outlook to British Surrealism," said French writer & poet André Breton, "returning to the early days of the movement, to its 'automatic' beginnings in France. The swirling lines, plant forms and vaguely suggestive forms seem to have been exorcised from the deep recesses of the mind."

Breton, a principal theorist and co-founder of surrealism, made his measured assessment in the 1940s... and he was by no means a voice in the wilderness when it came to enthusing about the talent and influence of the Birmingham-born artist - Emmy was a pivotal figure in both the British Surrealism movement and the Birmingham Surrealist Group...

This new exhibition brings together paintings, drawings, collages and poetry spanning more than six decades of her life, with her artworks being presented alongside work by contemporary creatives Laura Footes and Paloma Proudfoot. Their inclusion in the show offers fresh perspectives on Emmy's pioneering legacy and the distinct role of women's voices within surrealist expression.

British Art Show 10

Warwick Arts Centre, Coventry; Herbert Art Gallery & Museum, Coventry; Coventry University, until Sun 10 January

Painting, sculpture, photography, film and installation all feature in British Art Show 10.

The Southbank Centre Hayward Gallery touring exhibition - taking the title A Chorus Of Strangers - comprises works by more than 30 artists and shows across three Coventry venues.

Alex Margo Arden, Accounts, 2025. © the artist. Arts Council Collection, Southbank Centre London

Providing an overview of the most exciting art produced in the UK in the past five years, the landmark exhibition explores the ways in which people are relating to one another - and to the planet - during a period of 'profound social, cultural and environmental change'.

Commenting on the exhibition, Brian Cass, Head of Hayward Gallery Touring, said: "This 10th edition of the British Art Show is an invitation to shift perspective and see the world from multiple positions at once. As it travels to five UK cities, A Chorus Of Strangers will illuminate the power of art to transform uncertainty into a shared journey of kinship and possibility."

Illustrating Birmingham

Birmingham Museum & Art Gallery

The changing face of Birmingham, as reflected through the eyes and work of father and son artists, is the subject of this brand-new exhibition. Recording a place in flux from the 1920s through to the 2010s, Frank and Arthur Lockwood's paintings capture a sense of Birmingham's streets, buildings and people, as well as the demolition and redevelopment which has been so much a part of the city's story across the decades.

The Unhomely

Brampton Museum, Newcastle-under-Lyme, until Sun 13 December

Rooted in psychoanalyst Sigmund Freud's concept of 'the uncanny' - the familiar suddenly feeling strange - The Unhomely is a thought-provoking exploration of the diasporic experience of migration, cultural displacement and unbelonging. The programme and exhibition brings together stories, objects and creative commissions to contemplate the question: what does it mean to feel at home - and what happens when home becomes unhomely?

Winter Funland

NEC, Birmingham, Fri 4 December - Sun 3 January

Get into the Christmas spirit at Winter Funland, this month returning to the NEC with a packed programme of festive entertainment for all the family to enjoy.
Described as the UK's largest indoor Christmas funfair, the event offers four hours of unlimited rides, a gigantic ice rink, a spectacular festival circus and an extreme motorbike show.
Younger visitors can meet Santa, enjoy a photo opportunity, and keep an eye open for mischievous elves bringing some extra festive magic to the occasion.
There's plenty of food & drink available too, as vendors create the atmosphere of a traditional Christmas market. With all rides and attractions included in the admission price, families can enjoy a full day of indoor festive fun whatever the weather.
Plus, children under three go free!

Winter Light Experience

The Belfry Hotel & Resort, Sutton Coldfield, until Sat 2 January

A brand-new Christmas-season attraction, Winter Light Experience features more than 30 illuminated installations and takes visitors on a magical journey across part of the iconic Brabazon golf course.
The after-dark trail follows a festive storyline in which Santa has made an unexpected landing. Visitors can follow the lights, uncover clues and help restore Christmas magic as they travel the route.
Festive food & drink, fire pits for toasting marshmallows and a fully licensed après bar within a free-to-access Christmas courtyard are also available to enjoy.
Sensory-friendly and dog-friendly sessions take place on selected dates.

The Elf Express

Severn Valley Railway, Bewdley, Nr Kidderminster, Sat 5 & Sun 6, Sat 12 & Sun 13, Sat 19 & Sun 20, Wed 23 & Thurs 24 December

All aboard for a magical Christmas adventure as The Elf Express returns to the Severn Valley Railway for 2026.
Departing from Bridgnorth, this festive steam-train journey invites families to step into a world of Christmas storytelling, mischief and surprises. Passengers will meet Santa and his merry team of helpers, including Gingersnap the Gingerbread Man, Poppy the Post Elf and Trixie the Trickster Elf, with interactive performances and puppetry bringing the experience to life.
Santa will also visit each family to deliver a special present for every child. Passengers can enjoy a gingerbread biscuit, while adults receive a bespoke wooden Christmas tree decoration. The 75-minute return journey travels to Highley and back, with private compartments available for four or six passengers.

Spectacle Of Light

Sudeley Castle, Winchcombe, until Wed 30 December

Spectacle Of Light, one of the Cotswolds' most popular Christmas attractions, makes a welcome return this month, transforming the grounds of Sudeley Castle into a magical Alice In Wonderland-inspired adventure.
Now in its 11th year, the illuminated trail features dazzling displays, immersive storytelling and a host of new installations designed to bring Lewis Carroll's much-loved story to life.
Visitors will follow the White Rabbit through the gardens, along the way encountering familiar characters including the Mad Hatter, Cheshire Cat, Tweedledum & Tweedledee, and the Queen of Hearts.
Spectacular projections onto the castle façade, a giant chessboard and the mysterious Smoking Keyhole also feature.
Festive food & drink is available throughout the experience.

THE WINTER LIGHT EXPERIENCE

Make this Christmas one to remember.

Follow a trail of light and mystery at the Winter Light Experience, taking place at The Belfry Hotel and Resort. Explore over a mile of illuminated landscapes filled with live characters, interactive games and more!

There's a festive mystery waiting to be unravelled... After an unexpected landing, Santa's presents, reindeer and Christmas magic are scattered along the trail. Follow the clues, explore the installations and see if you can help set things right before the night is through.

What to expect:

- ✦ 60–90 minute illuminated journey, over a mile long
- ✦ 30+ brand-new light installations & interactive games
- ✦ Festive food & a fully licensed Après Bar
- ✦ Live actors throughout the experience
- ✦ Dedicated dog-friendly & sensory nights
- ✦ Free-to-access Christmas Courtyard

THE POLAR EXPRESS Train Ride

Birmingham Moor Street Station, Sat 5 & Sun 6, Sat 12 & Sun 13, Fri 18 - Wed 23 December

THE POLAR EXPRESS Train Ride is back in Birmingham, inviting families to step into the magic of the much-loved festive story. Departing from Birmingham Moor Street Station, the immersive theatrical experience brings to life the world of the 2004 film aboard a heritage steam train.

Passengers can enjoy live performances, festive music and storytelling, as familiar characters help recreate the enchanting adventure.

Guests are encouraged to wear their favourite pyjamas and dressing gowns as they settle in for a journey that comes complete with singing chefs, hot chocolate and a cookie. Santa Claus will also make a special appearance, presenting every guest with the treasured First Gift of Christmas - a silver sleigh bell.

Visit Santa: Vintage Sleigh Ride Experience

Coventry Transport Museum, Sat 5 & Sun 6, Fri 11 - Sun 13, Fri 18 - Wed 23 December

Step back in time as the Visit Santa: Vintage Sleigh Ride Experience returns to Coventry Transport Museum, celebrating the 70th anniversary of the venue's much-loved vintage sleigh. This year's event takes inspiration from the 1950s, with a Driving Home For Christmas theme, vintage cars and nostalgic festive decorations all in evidence.

Families can enjoy a ride on Santa's sleigh before meeting the man himself to share their Christmas wishes.

Little ones can also explore the Elves' Toy Shop, where every child gets to choose a Christmas present and take home a festive goody bag... Tickets also include an annual museum pass for two adults and one child, allowing visitors to return to the venue and enjoy the collection on another occasion.

Christmas Tree Festival

Worcester Cathedral, until Tues 5 January

Worcester Cathedral's historic cloisters and Chapter House are once again playing host to hundreds of individually decorated Christmas trees created by local schools, charities, businesses and community groups.

Visitors can explore the displays and discover the stories behind the decorations, while special Dedication Trees offer an opportunity to remember loved ones.

This year's festival also features new Community Trees - wooden trees made by Men's Shed Worcester - which have been decorated by individuals, families, schools and other groups.

The Christmas Light Show

Lichfield Cathedral,
Tues 15 - Mon 21 December

Lichfield Cathedral's much-loved Christmas Light Show returns mid-month with an all-new theme inspired by the Nativity story. Created by renowned animation team Illuminos, Follow The Star features stunning displays on the Bishop's Palace and the Cathedral's famous West Front, as well as, for the first time, projections inside the cathedral itself.

Alongside the illuminations, guests can check out the Christmas Tree Festival and crib, enjoy performances by local choirs, browse the gift shop, and keep themselves warm with seasonal refreshments in the recently opened SALT café.

Proceeds from ticket sales will support the ongoing work of Lichfield Cathedral.

VINTAGE SLEIGH EXPERIENCE

5 - 23 DECEMBER 2026

COVENTRY TRANSPORT MUSEUM

This year is extra special as we celebrate the Vintage Sleigh's 70th anniversary, with a 1950s "Driving home for a Coventry Christmas" theme. The experience will feature 1950s-inspired Christmas décor, vintage cars and plenty of festive touches throughout.

Book your tickets in advance at transport-museum.com
Tickets are non-refundable and non-transferable.

Telford Festive Gardens

Chelsea & Maxell Gardens, Telford Town Park, Shropshire, Fri 11 - Sun 13 and Thurs 17 - Mon 21 December

Step into a winter wonderland as the Chelsea and Maxell Gardens are once again transformed by a dazzling festive light trail. Visitors can follow the illuminated route through a series of seasonal scenes. Music, storytelling and plenty of Christmas cheer all add to the experience.

Along the way, keep an eye open for mischievous elves, frosty characters and even Santa himself!

The family fun continues beyond the trail too, courtesy of seasonal entertainment, a selection of food and the chance to enjoy a warming mug of hot chocolate.

Elf Cadet Training

The Royal Air Force Museum Midlands, Cosford, Sat 5 & Sun 6, Sat 12 & Sun 13 December

Children get to take on a special festive mission at RAF Museum Midlands in Cosford this month.

Young recruits are invited to join Santa's team and complete four special challenges to help prepare for the biggest delivery mission of the year.

Taking place inside the National Cold War Exhibition, the 30-minute experience gives youngsters the chance to go behind the scenes and discover how the RAF is assisting Santa in getting ready for Christmas.

The activities will see children practising radio communications, parachuting presents onto a target, sorting festive post and creating a personalised shipping label. Once all four challenges have been completed, each child can add their label to a collective display celebrating the museum's new Elf Cadets.

Illuminated

The Royal British Legion National Remembrance Gardens, Staffordshire, Fri 4 - Tues 22 December

Discover a magical winter wonderland at Illuminated, the festive light trail at the National Remembrance Gardens.

As darkness descends, the gardens will be magically transformed by dazzling installations, colourful illuminations and immersive soundscapes, with visitors invited to explore a series of stories celebrating the site's first 25 years.

Various interactive displays and hands-on elements also feature, offering plenty of opportunities for families to get involved...

The experience is designed to be enjoyed at your own pace - visitors are welcome to spend as long as they like exploring the trail. Festive food & drink will also be available, including hot refreshments and seasonal treats

Christmas at The Commandery

The Commandery, Worcester, Sat 12 & Sun 13 December

Celebrate the festive season with this special event at The Commandery, where families can enjoy a day of Christmas crafts and yuletide activities.

Visitors can follow a family trail around the beautifully decorated building before heading to the craft room to make their own elf to take home...

Mother Christmas will be sharing a heartwarming festive story beneath the Christmas tree in the Great Hall (sessions take place at midday and 1.30pm)...

The availability of seasonal refreshments - including mulled wine, mince pies and hot chocolate - further add to the experience, while children can enjoy an exclusive 10-minute visit to Santa and his Head Elf in the cosy Victorian Kitchen (there will be a special present for every child!).

Santa's Grotto must be booked separately, with general admission also required.

Festive Fun at Kenilworth Castle

Kenilworth Castle, Warwickshire, Sat 5 & Sun 6, Sat 12 & Sun 13 and Sat 19 & Sun 20 December

Celebrate the festive season at Kenilworth Castle and Elizabethan Garden, where families can enjoy a magical Christmas experience. Running across the first three weekends of the month, Festive Fun invites visitors to follow a Christmas Quest trail around the historic grounds, get creative with Christmas card-making and decorate their own wooden baubles to take home... Families can also say a big hello to Father Christmas, who will be sharing some of his favourite festive stories, posing for pics and providing each child with a traditional Christmas gift to take home.

Christmas at Alderford Lake

Alderford Lake, Whitchurch, Shropshire, until Thurs 24 December

Make Christmas extra special with a festive visit to Alderford Lake. Families can set sail for the magical Santa Island Experience, where little ones can meet Father Christmas, explore his toy workshop, enjoy toasting marshmallows and listen to a festive story. Other attractions include a real ice rink, themed skating sessions and the chilly Woodland Ice Bar, complete with hand-carved ice sculptures.
Visitors can also meet the reindeer, enjoy seasonal food & drink around fire pits, and settle in for a Christmas Drive-In Cinema screening (The Holiday shows on Friday the 11th and Home Alone on Sunday the 13th).

North Pole Adventure

National Forest Adventure Farm, Burton-upon-Trent, Sat 5 & Sun 6, Sat 12 & Sun 13 and Sat 19 - Thurs 24 December

Step into a world of festive magic at the National Forest Adventure Farm, where families can enjoy an immersive Christmas experience packed with seasonal surprises. Highlights include the chance for children to have personalised encounters with both a talking polar bear and Father Christmas, and a brand-new interactive show that runs regularly throughout the day.
The enchanting Victorian Village has been given a makeover and expanded for this year. Groups will be smaller, creating a more intimate adventure, while the main North Pole experience lasts for just over an hour.

Christmas at Staffordshire History Centre

Staffordshire History Centre, Stafford, throughout December

Make history part of your Christmas with a festive visit to the free-to-enter Staffordshire History Centre. The venue offers families the chance to explore more than 1,000 years of local history through fascinating objects, hands-on interactives and family trails. There's also a packed programme of seasonal activities to enjoy, including Elves And The Shoemaker Storytime (Saturday the 19th), Victorian Papercrafts (Tuesday the 22nd), Toy Time Travellers Storytime and A Very Stafford Christmas spotlight talk (Wednesday the 23rd) and an Illustrated Beast creative workshop (Wednesday the 30th).
Older visitors, meanwhile, can try their hand at Mindful Bookbinding on Saturday the 19th.
